100 CAST ON ICE AS BLAST SINKS SHIP

BOTH PARTIES GET WARNINGS OF 1932 ISSUES

Johnson Tells Republicans to Take Stock Before Entering Fight.

LEADERS ARE SCORED ON PROGRESSIVE WAR

Ayers Begs Democrats to Avoid Either Dry or Wet Campaign Planks.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

With Senator Hiram Johnson (Republican), of California, and Representative William A. Ayres (Democrat), of Kansas, serving as political meteorologists, warnings went out to both of the old parties from Capitol Hill yesterday.

Senator Johnson, who was Theodore Roosevelt's running mate on the Bull Moose ticket of 1912, criticized the Republican leaders for jeering at the Progressives who recently met here, and he warned that they had better "take stock of the Republican party."

Pointing to the reverses the party suffered in the last election, Senator Johnson said that "something is radically wrong somewhere" and that "somebody should ascertain what it is."

Democrats Get Warnings.

Representative Ayres, one of the leading Democrats in the House, admonished his party to steer clear of prohibition in its 1932 platform; to write in neither a wet plank nor a dry plank.

Either one, he said, would cause a cleavage in the party that would be fatal to its success. Urging that economic issues be stressed, he declared that Democrats should "repudiate" leaders who would try and write a wet plank into the platform.

The Progressives, it developed yesterday, are going ahead with plans to set up a permanent organization for carrying on the work started at last week's conference.

Speaking Tours Planned.

Some of the senators who took part in the conference expect to go on speaking tours and advocate the reforms that were outlined at the conference.

Not only will the policies of President Hoover be attacked, but the ideas of Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee, as well.

Four of those who took part in the Progressive meeting had a luncheon conference at the Capitol yesterday—former Senator Jonathan Bourne, of Oregon; Senator George Norris (Republican), of Nebraska; Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat), of Montana, and Senator Edward T. Costigan (Democrat), of Colorado.

Progressives Are Praised.

Senator Johnson was not at the Progressive conference last week, and, in his statement yesterday, he said that he could not give wholehearted approval to all the conclusions adopted there. Nevertheless, he added, the Progressives deserved praise for undertaking a discussion and study of important questions.

"Can anyone," he asked, "imagine the standpat wing of either party meeting together with earnest and able experts, and publicly discussing economic problems?"

Then the Californian took what

Calvin Coolidge Says:

The seventeenth day of March will be celebrated all over the world by those who cherish the Emerald Isle as the place of their ancestral origin. Millions of devoted men and women will wear some green emblem in honor of St. Patrick, the patron Saint of Ireland. If his life is shrouded somewhat in mystery that only makes him the more fascinating. He is the personification of the Christian influence that came into the life of the Irish people.

Considering the large contributions that the Irish race has made to the freedom and progress of so many foreign lands it must be a great satisfaction to see Ireland, after a long struggle, at last peaceful and self-governing. The effort and energy that had been expended in generations of political agitation and strife have been turned into constructive purposes. The country is being restored. Education is fostered, industries are coming into existence. The River Shannon has been harnessed to furnish light and power for the whole Irish Free State. The railroad system has been unified. While there still remain economic problems and domestic differences Ireland, no longer a prey to despair, is a land of hope and progress.

Widow May Survive Suicide Mate's Shot

Mrs. Grete Von Bayer, left, who was shot and seriously wounded by her husband, William Hector Von Bayer, who then killed himself shortly after noon yesterday in their apartment near Chevy Chase Circle.

Mrs. Grete von Bayer Has Chance; Tragedy Laid to Ill Health.

With attending physicians holding that she has an even chance to recover, Mrs. Greta von Bayer lay on a bed in Emergency Hospital last night, her back and right arm pierced by a bullet fired by her husband, William Hector von Bayer, associate forester in the Indian Service, who then shot himself to death.

Her survival will mean the semi-fulfillment of a homicide-suicide pact into which Mrs. von Bayer, 45-year-old society matron and teacher of piano, entered with her husband when she was unable to dissuade him in his determination to commit suicide because of ill health. He was 52 years old.

The tragedy was conceived and executed yesterday in the couple's suite in the fashionable Chevy Chase Apartments, near Chevy Chase Circle. Mr. von Bayer, well-known attache of the Department of the Interior, used an old-fashioned .44-caliber frontier revolver, which it is

CHAPLAIN ACCUSED AFTER JOLIET RIOT

Second Victim Dies and New Wave of Rebellion Hits Penitentiary.

Joliet, Ill., Mar. 16 (A.P.)—A tumult of accusation against an ousted chaplain rose above the rumbling of rebellion in the old State prison today.

Turning from his announcement that a second prisoner had died of wounds suffered in Saturday's riot, Warden Henry C. Hill charged that the Rev. George Whitmeyer had fomented discontent, carried messages for convicts and, knowingly or not, had been a messenger in a jail delivery plot.

"My conscience is clear, and I am not afraid of an honest investigation," replied the clergyman, former pastor of an Episcopal parish at Herrin. He had tendered the requested resignation February 25, terming the killing of three escaping prisoners three days previously "murder."

A crescendo of rebellion rose today as the "grapevine" carried word of the death of George Jakowanis, shot by a guard during the uprising Saturday. His was the sixth death among the convicts in a month—three ran into waiting gunners as they lowered themselves from the stone walls February 22; Joseph Coakley's death from a clot on the heart while in solitary confinement last week precipitated a legislative investigation, and two were killed and two wounded in the riot.

A reversion to normal routine seemed no nearer tonight, and National Guard companies in Northern Illinois were under orders to be ready for service on an instant's call. Tomorrow a legislative committee will resume its inquiry at Springfield while a coroner's jury here sits in judgment over the death of the two convicts.

Mr. Whitmeyer denied every charge against him and said he knew he was to be "framed." He said he

ROCKVILLE RESIDENT ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

Eugene Cissel, 40, Member of Montgomery County Family, Despondent.

Eugene Cissel, 40 years old, member of a prominent Montgomery County family, last night shot and killed himself at his home in Rockville. A certificate of suicide was issued by Dr. G. V. Hartley after a consultation with State's Attorney Stedman Prescott and Policeman Harry Merson, who investigated the death.

Mr. Cissel had been despondent for more than a year, friends said, and his wife had taken unusual precautions to prevent his shooting himself while in a fit of despondency. She had removed the magazine from the pistol but the fatal bullet in the chamber had been overlooked.

The husband had gone into his room to dress and his wife was in the bedroom next to his when she heard a shot. She ran into the room and saw Mr. Cissel stretched out, half clad, on the bed with blood streaming from a bullet wound in his forehead. She called neighbors who summoned Dr. Hartley and Policeman Merson.

Mr. Cissel had held the pistol in his right hand and pointed it at the center of his forehead. He is believed to have died almost instantly. Dr. Hartley issued a certificate of death by suicide and then turned his attention to Mrs. Cissel who was hysterical. The body was removed to the Colonial Funeral Home at Rockville.

Mr. Cissel was born near Darnestown, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Cissel. His father served two terms as a member of the Montgomery County Commissioners, and the son later became a clerk in the office of the county commissioners at Rockville. He left nearly ten years ago to engage in the real estate business under the firm name of Cissel & Offut. Several years ago the firm dissolved partnership and he became an em-

ESSAY CONTEST OPENED TO ALL HIGH SCHOOLS

Students of Private and Public Institutions Made Eligible.

THE POST BESIEGED BY BOYS AND GIRLS

Large List of Competitors Is Assured; Entry Blanks Ready Thursday.

Flag Contest Scope Enlarged by Donor

Any student of any senior or junior Washington high school, public or private, who is between the ages of 14 and 18, is eligible to compete for selection as a Washington "Envoy of Friendship" for the forthcoming European trip sponsored by the United States Flag Association.

This was made clear yesterday by Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, patroness for the two Washington winners and who will defray all their expenses on this trip. Mrs. Loose explained that she intended from the first that any high school student of the required age should be eligible, and failure to mention the private high schools was merely an oversight, due to the haste, because of lack of time, with which the preliminary announcement was prepared.

Younger Washington, especially that portion that attends the senior and junior high schools of the city, has a new topic of conversation—the free trip to London and Paris to be given two Washington students by Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, through the United States Flag Association, with the cooperation of The Washington Post.

Interest in the essay contest which is to determine the selection of the fortunate boy and girl, is already city-wide, and wherever high school students meet, copies of The Post are being eagerly read and speculation as to possibilities of winning the trip is rife.

Stormed with inquiries from the moment of first announcement of the plan in The Washington Post, the United States Flag Association officials have referred every inquiry to The Post, declaring that all plans for the trip will be fully disclosed in this publication. Applications can be made only on the proper blanks, and these are being prepared in time to be placed in the hands of all high school teachers by Thursday.

School Officials Cooperate.

This arrangement has been made with the consent and cooperation of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia, Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, and Dr. George Johnson, director of the National Catholic Education Association, all of whom have heartily indorsed the plan to send "Envoys of Friendship" to England and France with the idea of building for future peace among nations.

Rational patriotism is the keynote of the idea back of the trip, according to Col. James A. Moss, president general of the Flag Association. Col. Moss, a West Point graduate, who has fought in three wars and who has written 37 military books,

LABOR REGIME MEETS DEFEAT BY FOUR VOTES

Wild Scenes in Commons as MacDonald Refuses to Resign.

SPLIT ON BILL IS LED BY SIR JOHN SIMON

Ballot Adds Complexity to Already Chaotic Politics of Great Britain.

London, March 16 (A.P.).—Sir John Simon, icy calm in a wildly excited House, tonight led ten other Liberals into the opposition lobby at a division on a clause of the electoral reform bill, and Ramsay MacDonald's government was defeated by four votes.

Sir John is the man who warned the government not long ago he would vote as his conscience dictated, regardless of party tactics. He and the ten men who followed him were enough to defeat a clause abolishing university constituencies by 246 to 242.

When the result was announced thunderous shouts of "Resign, resign" came from the Conservative benches, but Ramsay MacDonald did not resign.

Situation Muddled Ahew.

It never had been seriously suggested that the government would step out if it were defeated on this issue, and any immediate sensational developments appeared unlikely although the defeat adds a new complexity to the already chaotic political situation and its ultimate effects may be of considerable importance.

On the heels of the vote Stanley Baldwin demanded of the prime minister a statement as to the course the government intends to take regarding this measure, and Mr. MacDonald said he would consider that before the bill was presented for discussion again.

His immediate problem is to decide whether he will proceed with the bill at all. The Conservatives regard the measure, the chief provisions of which is creation of the alternative vote system, as a bid by the Laborites for Liberal support in the trades disputes bill.

Whole Bill May Be Dropped.

But now that the Liberals have virtually killed the trades disputes measure in committee, and since eleven of them voted against the government tonight, it was thought probable the whole electoral reforms bill would be dropped.

David Lloyd George and the main body of the Liberals were with the government in tonight's division.

The defeat is the sixth the Labor government has suffered since it took office. The largest majority against the administration was 32 on the education bill in January. All of the others have been very small.

Several Are Dead In Wreck of Train

Ambulances Are Summoned as Four Cars Jump Track in Pennsylvania.

Bristol, Pa., March 16 (A.P.).—Several persons were reported killed when four cars of Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train, No. 230, bound from Philadelphia to New York, left the track and rolled down an embankment here tonight.

Ambulances were called from all hospitals within 15 miles, including the St. Francis Hospital in Trenton.

Missing Girl, 7, Slain; Suspect Held in Cell

Battered Body of Child, Skull Crushed, Found in Attic of Neighbor's Home; Prisoner Moved as Mob Threat Grows.

Conemaugh, Pa., March 16 (A.P.).—The battered body of Betty Mowry, 7, who had been missing from her home here since last Friday, was found late today under the attic floor of the home of Harry Starchok.

The skull of the child had been crushed. Mrs. Matthew Swab, coroner of Cambria County, said the child had been assaulted.

The girl's hands were tied behind her, and her body, badly beaten and bruised, was partly wrapped in old burlap bags.

Starchok, who is 28 years old and married, was arrested a short time later and taken to the village police station.

A large crowd gathered about the jail as the report of the finding of the body was circulated about town, and police rushed him out the back door to the Cambria County Jail, in Johnstown, 2 miles away, when threats against him were heard from men in the crowd.

Starchok's wife, Margaret, 22, was taken into custody a short time after the arrest of Starchok. She is being held without bail.

An intensive search has been carried on since the disappearance of the child, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mowry, believing she had wandered from home and drowned in the Conemaugh River. Search in the stream ceased only this afternoon when police, acting on an anonymous "tip," went to the Starchok place, located only a short distance from the Mowry home.

Signal Lights Urged as Aid In Apprehending Criminals

Improvement Suggested to Supplement Radio on Police Scout and Patrol Cars; Installation Must Await Appropriation From Congress.

Extension of the Police Department communication system is under study by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, and other District officials.

The radio system of communication with scout and patrol cars cruising about the city has justified its inauguration, Maj. Pratt believes. He cited one example of the efficiency of the system: A woman, unable to sleep, saw a man vainly trying to start an automobile parked in front of her apartment. She became suspicious when he raised the hood and got the engine started and telephoned the police. The radio-equipped scout car arrived on the scene before the thief had got the automobile away from the curb.

The only defect with the radio system of communication, Maj. Pratt believes, is that it eliminates secrecy of communications broadcast.

This defect he proposed to eliminate by installation of signal lights on police patrol boxes throughout the

Ghastly Sea Disaster Viewed by Islanders

Detonation From Viking's Powder Magazine and Ensuing Fire Described by Dwellers of Settlement 30 Miles Distant.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, March 16 (U.P.).—The first eyewitness accounts of the disaster which resulted in the destruction of the sealing ship Viking came from residents of Horse Island this evening.

The following is a compilation of stories told by persons who saw the explosion and the desperate efforts of the 150 men on board to reach safety over the drifting, treacherous ice-floes.

An explosion was heard about 9 p. m. Sunday. Soon afterward a ship was seen in flames. Residents in fishing villages 30 miles distant saw the glare.

The explosion split the after part of the vessel. It blew the greater portion of the deck and most of the upper structure several feet into the air. Debris was scattered for yards around on the bleak ice. In the debris were many dead, dying and maimed men.

Twenty minutes after the explosion the forepart of the ship was also aflame. It was kept from sinking by the closely packed ice barrier, and the residents stood and watched it burn almost to the water before the charred embers disappeared beneath the ice floe.

The first survivors reached the island early this forenoon. They reported that the Viking was blown up as a result of an explosion in her magazine. The terrific force of the explosion nearly broke the vessel in two amidships. The stern, from the engine room aft, was shattered into splinters and sank quickly, they said. Only a few occupying berths aft escaped, and most of them were seriously injured.

Members of the crew in the forward section of the ship made a hurried escape. They scrambled onto the ice dressed as they were when they leaped from their berths, taking neither clothing nor food with them.

All the crew were aboard, most of

T. G. JOSLIN NAMED HOOVER SECRETARY

Capital Correspondent for Boston Newspaper to Succeed Akerson.

An appointment with a Horatio Alger aspect was announced at the White House yesterday, that of Theodore G. (Ted) Joslin as secretary to President Hoover.

Mr. Joslin, for 15 years a Washington correspondent for the Boston Transcript, began his career as an office boy, according to the White House announcement.

He succeeds George Akerson, another newspaper man, who recently resigned to accept a $30,000-a-year position with the Paramount-Publix Corporation.

Mr. Joslin, who is 41 years old, is regarded as a keen political analyist. For many years he has toured the country during political campaigns, and is credited with "calling the turn" on numerous occasions. He was one of the first newspaper men to predict that Massachusetts would vote for Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

He was born in Leominster, Mass., on February 28, 1890, the son of Frederick A. and Hannah G. Joslin. He was educated in the public schools of Leominster. Upon graduating from high school in 1908 he became an office boy in the Boston Bureau of the Associated Press.

He remained with the "A. P." until 1913, serving successively as office boy, telephone operator, manifolder, pony editor and Rhode Island correspondent with headquarters in Providence.

On September 1, 1913, Mr. Joslin joined the staff of the Boston Evening Transcript, and in 1916 he was sent to the Washington Bureau of that newspaper. In 1924 he was made chief of the bureau. He is a member of the Gridiron Club and the National Press Club.

Mr. Joslin married Rowena A. Hawes, of Reading, Mass., and they have two sons, Richard Hawes Joslin and Robert Edward Joslin. The Joslin home is at 202 Raymond street, Chevy Chase, Md.

Like President Hoover, Mr. Joslin has a reputation for being a "glutton for work." In addition to his regular newspaper stories he has written a great many articles for magazines. He also has the same hobby as the President—fishing.

He will assume his new post when the President returns from his Caribbean trip.

3 VIKING RESCUERS PLOW THROUGH ICE

Ships Battle Floes to Save Survivors of Blast on Horse Island.

New York, March 16 (A.P.).—Three steamers tonight were plowing through the ice floes off the northern Newfoundland coast toward Horse Island, where the sealing ship Viking was blown up yesterday with reported heavy losses in killed and injured. Among the 150 persons who were aboard the Viking were Varick Frissell, Harry Sargent and A. E. Penrod, members of a talking picture expedition.

Bowring Brothers, Ltd., owners of the craft, tonight received a telegram from their agents at St. Johns stating that 60 members of the ship's company had landed at Horse Island. Earlier in the day the company had been advised twenty persons had been killed and many injured.

C. W. Bowring made public the telegram received from the line's agents, as follows:

"Very difficult to get details about those men. About 60 have landed at Horse Island. Others making fair progress toward the island.

"Later crowds making their way across the ice bring disabled men with them.

"No word of Frissell, Penrod and Sargent.

"Their names not mentioned by the men who have landed, either as dead, injured or missing.

"Weather clear, temperature moderately cold."

The message bore the signature of the St. Johns office.

It was the second direct communication reaching the company's officers since the mishap.

Frissell was the promoter of the talking picture outfit bent upon filming Northern "shots" with sound. Harry Sargent was an explorer and A. E. Penrod a camera man.

Captain Missing.

Bowring Brothers had no news of their captain, Abram Kean, jr., but other advices indicated he had been seriously injured.

Messages from Harbor Grace told of the captain's fate and added that a cook, a steward, navigator and the ship's doctor were missing.

The three ships trying to reach the scene were the Imogene, of the same company as the Viking, a steel vessel; the Government tug Sagona and the salvage steamer Foundation Franklin. They were believed to be

Jobless to Get Sweaters Knitted by President's Wife

Mrs. Hoover Presents Five Garments to Red Cross; Capital Women's Unit of Society Devotes Meeting to Sewing for Unemployed and Families.

(Associated Press.)

Five sweaters knitted by Mrs. Herbert Hoover brightened the meeting yesterday of the Red Cross Unit organized by Mrs. Edward Everett Gann to make garments for the unemployed and their families. The sweaters varied in color and size, some being for children and others for adults. They were presented by the First Lady on the eve of her departure for Asheville, N. C., to visit her son, Herbert Hoover, jr.

Work on garments has been sandwiched between social engagements, care of her grandchildren and other activities. Mrs. Hoover likes to knit. She dressed two dolls in imitation of her little grandchildren last Christmas to sell at the local Thrift Shop. Little knitted sweaters of pink and blue which she made was part of their outfits.

A year ago her needles were busily flying as she spent many hours on a couch recovering from a sprained back. While knitting she received a

FATE OF THREE AMERICANS ON BOAT IN DOUBT

NEPHEW OF PINCHOT REPORTED AT SCENE

Steamers Pushing to Site of Sunken Viking Near Newfoundland.

WIND AND SNOW ADD TO RESCUE DANGERS

Survivors, Suffering From Burns, Without Food and Medical Aid.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, March 16 (U.P.).—A poignant drama of the Far North was being enacted tonight on ice floes and on the little Newfoundland Horse Island, following an explosion which shattered the sealing ship Viking and left it, a flaming hulk, to burn to the water's edge.

The disaster occurred at 9 p. m. Sunday. It was not until this afternoon that word of the wreck reached the outside world, and with news of the wreck came the threat of additional tragedy.

More than 100 of the ship's crew of between 140 and 150 were reported drifting helplessly on ice floes which were being driven offshore by a northwest wind.

Two Reported Saved.

There was grave fear here and at Horse Island that many of them must perish unless steamships picked them up.

Three Americans were among the ship's crew. It was typical of the scattered news from the scene that while two of them were reported saved, no one knew which two.

One of the Americans is Varick Frissell, a Yale graduate and scientist thrill-seeker, of New York. He had been making a motion picture of winter sealing and was determined that it's Far Northern scenes should be authentic.

The others are Harry Sargeant, recent Harvard graduate, of Boston, and fellow explorer, and A. E. Penrod, of New York, and Frissell's camera man and close friend.

Occupied Cabin Berths.

There were conflicting reports all evening as to the Americans. After the first report that two were saved, came a second that all were saved and that one was injured slightly. Then there followed a report from Horse Island that all three Americans were missing and were feared dead. There was no confirmation of any of these reports.

The Americans occupied cabin berths, and the ship aft of the engine room, where they were, was blown to pieces.

Capt. Abram Kean, master, was injured but was reported saved. The navigator, wireless operator, ship's doctor and cabin cook were listed as missing.

Here is one picture of the situation at dusk as it was radioed here at 5 p. m. from Horse Island:

Watchers on Shore.

Watchers on the shore at the south headland can see small groups of the shipwrecked men struggling over loose, drifting ice toward shore.

Occasionally a man falls as if exhausted and disappears on the surface of the ice or into the water.

The islanders were helpless, as their frail boats are unable to contend with the drifting ice.

The weather is cold, but not freezing as the sun sinks. A more hopeful picture is drawn here than the bare facts of the Horse Island reports would indicate. Of two rescue ships which left today for the scene, the Franklin should reach Horse Island tomorrow forenoon, if the ice does not bar it. The Sagona may reach there at 3 p. m. tomorrow. Both ships will search for drifting men as they approach the island, and, it is hoped here, with fair weather many may be picked up.

NEWS of SUBURBAN Washington and the Surrounding States

Appears on Pages 3, 4 and 5 Today

Many Horribly Injured.

There was no authentic report as to the tabulation of saved, wounded and missing.

The radio station at Horse Island reported 34 men were believed to have been killed in the original explosion, that many were horribly injured and that others were afloat on the ice, drifting fast from hope of help from shore.

Rescue work was proceeding tonight by all available means. Fishermen went out over the 4 miles of pack ice off shore in boats and the efficient little Labrador komatiks, or sleds, which can be used to shove over ice floes and to bridge leads between them.

The steamship Foundation Franklin, of the Montreal Salvage Co., left St. Johns at noon to go to the rescue. The government steamship Sagona left at 5 p. m.

Drifting Without Food.

The situation generally was one to rate among the epics of this ice-bound land.

Aside from the men drifting without food on the ice floes, amid snow flurries which began this afternoon, the injured were burned, some were without arms or legs, some had broken spines—and all were without medical treatment. Not until the Sagona arrives at Horse Island, 225 miles northwest of St. Johns by air line—a day's steaming—will there be doctors or nurses or medical supplies.

The radio station at Horse Island reported that some of the most terribly injured were left, perforce, to die on the ice floe while the brave fishermen rescuers devoted themselves to those who had a chance to live if they reached shore. They were pictured as drifting out with the uninjured, to die, it was feared, during the night.

Ships Rushing Help.

The situation on Horse Island was not much better. The survivors landed exhausted and without food. There was not sufficient food on the island to take care of more than the bare requirements of the little populace.

Two hundred and twenty-five miles, by the route it must take around Cape St. John and across White Bay, separated the government's ship Sagona and the island this evening. The ship must fight ice and wind, and may be held up by the strong ice barrier. It was feared here that there will be a serious food shortage unless the ship can make good time.

From Lascie, a fishing hamlet, between Cape St. John and Partridge Point, 10 miles south of the scene of the wreck, came reports tonight of a strong northwest wind. The 4-mile ice barrier was packed hard offshore, it was said. Fishermen were unable to sight the wreck of the Viking or the survivors or its crew. The fishermen had komatiks and boats ready to put out over the ice with food in the event survivors were sighted.

Northwest Wind Blowing.

The fishermen said the northwest wind was carrying the loose ice offshore and southward around Cape St. John. After that, they reported the survivors probably would have to depend for their lives on clinging to the drifting sheets of ice in the open water until steamships located them.

Reports reaching here from Horse Island at 5:30 p. m., Eastern standard time, were grave. Those of the survivors who had been landed, it was said, reported that some members of the crew went down with the ship. Others, wounded, died on the ice, and some, assisted ashore, were found to be in a dying condition.

It was hoped here that these reports might refer to a comparatively small number, and that a check-up would show most of the crew saved, or with hope of succor.

Snow Begins Falling.

The Horse Island reports, however, were that there was little prospect of the men on the ice getting ashore, and that they must await the chance, slenderer each hour, that a ship would pick them up as they drifted further and further from land in the swirling snow.

The work of rescue went on all day today, and at 4 p. m., those on Horse Island reported, survivors in twos and threes still were making their way to land.

There was no authentic report as to the cause of the disaster to the Viking. Two conjectures were made—first that the powder magazine had exploded, second that it was a boiler. Sealing ships such as the Viking carry powder in 25-pound kegs to blast themselves free of packing ice. That was the story as it was available here as night overtook day.

Crew of 140 to 150.

With his crew of from 140 to 150, Capt. Abram Keen, master of the Viking, set out into the icefields on March 9, heading into White Bay. A message sent to friends of the three Americans was the last word. It was dispatched to New York and said that the Viking was frozen in the ice. It added that sealing would begin March 15.

The Americans of its crew—Frissell, Sargent and Penrod are gentlemen adventurers. Frissell himself was fired with enthusiasm for the frozen North when he read the book "Vikings of the Ice Fields," in 1928. He shipped before the mast to try to live the book himself. A year ago he financed and managed a cruise to the sealing fields with Capt. Bob Bartlett, Peary's North Pole skipper. He is a nephew of Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, and is said to be related to the late Andrew Carnegie. He is 26.

Horse Island, where the disaster occurred and tonight's tragedy was enacted, is known also as St. Barbe Island. Little more than a dot on the maps. It lies perhaps 16 miles off the mainland of Newfoundland, on the North side. There is a tiny intervening island between it and the mainland. The German crew who made the first westward airplane flight across the Atlantic to Greenly Island must have passed almost over it, if not over it.

HOOVER CLEANS UP DESK FOR SEA TRIP

Party Will Leave Capital Tomorrow Evening on 10-Day Southern Tour.

(Associated Press.)

Snow tearing by the White House windows provided a reminder for President Hoover yesterday that he soon will be away from chill weather on a tropical sea trip.

From his desk, he kept in touch with associates perfecting plans for the small party to be aboard the battleship Arizona when it casts off Thursday from Norfolk, Va.

Secretaries Hurley and Wilbur, under whose respective jurisdictions come the governing of Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, will be with the President to make the visits to those possessions.

Beginning tomorrow night with departure from here, the ten day trip contemplates only the two stops by the newly modernized battlecraft.

First Vacation in Year.

It will be the first vacation President Hoover has taken in more than a year.

He will leave Washington by train late tomorrow night, probably arriving at Old Point Comfort in time to go aboard the ship for breakfast.

Others who will make the trip include: Lawrence Richey, one of the President's secretaries, Capt. Joel Boone, White House physician, Col. Campbell Hodges, military aid, and Capt. Russell Train naval aid.

Mrs. Hoover will forego the trip to the Caribbean and go to Asheville, N. C., to visit her son, Herbert Hoover, jr., who is recovering from illness. Two of her grandchildren, who have spent the winter in the White House, left Washington last night for Asheville. Peggy Ann, the eldest, will celebrate her sixth birthday with her father today and Herbert Hoover 3d, will take part in the ceremonies. Joan, the baby, will remain at the White House.

Two Days in Porto Rico.

Present plans for the President's trip call for a two-day stop in Porto Rico. He will confer with Gov. Theodore Roosevelt on administrative problems and take a motor trip across the island to the little town of Ponce.

It has not been decided whether the President will stay ashore at San Juan or sleep aboard the Arizona. If he decides to stay with the Roosevelts in the governor's palace he will sleep in one of the historic palaces of the Western Hemisphere. It was built by Ponce de Leon before he went on his search for the fountain of youth and found Florida.

The 80-mile run from Porto Rico to the Virgin Islands probably will be made at night and the following day will be devoted to study of affairs there and conferences with Paul M. Pearson, the newly appointed civil governor.

Except for the conferences with the two governors, the trip will be devoted exclusively to rest and recreation.

Immediately upon his return to the Capital the President will begin work preparing eight speeches to be delivered in four States and the District of Columbia between April 13 and July 17.

EYEWITNESSES TELL OF BLAST AND FIRE

them in their berths. The ship was fast in the ice and only the deck watch was astir.

The engine room was amidships and the magazine a little further aft and lower down. Hence it was located so as to be underneath most of the sleeping and living quarters of the officers, engineers, firemen and the master.

Survivors remained at the scene until daylight today endeavoring to save the lives of the wounded. The ice was moving southward and out to sea, taking them farther from the island. At dawn they started for shore in gangs, helping as many of the injured as they could take over the treacherous rough ice cakes.

The survivors were about 8 miles from Horse Island when they started their trek across the ice. Moving ice broke away from the shore and separated the main body from land before they could reach the island. Only about fifteen arrived.

Upward of 100 men were carried south on the ice-floe. Capt. Abram Kean, jr., master of the Viking, a nephew of the veteran sealing skipper, Capt. Abram Kean, was seriously injured.

William Kennedy, the wireless operator; Steve Mullett, a cabin steward, and Dr. John Roche, ship's surgeon, all of St. Johns, were reported missing. All had berths in the aft section of the Viking. It was feared they were killed in the explosion.

The survivors who reached the island were exhausted. They could give no coherent account of the tragedy or the fate of their comrades.

crushing their way through the ice which, at this time of year is heavy in that region.

St. Barbe (Horse) Island is in the midst of the thick ice accumulation, all but impossible of access at this time of the year. C. W. Bowring, head of the owning line, said tonight he felt the sealer Imogene, because of her power and special equipment, might be able to reach the Viking before the other craft.

Canadian government official at St. Johns received two dispatches from Horse Island, the first being made public, the second causing adjournment of the Newfoundland Assembly. The contents of the second message were not divulged.

Going is Slow.

The relief ships were dispatched almost immediately thereafter, but the distances are many hundreds of miles and the going is slow and laborious.

Meanwhile efforts were being made to obtain information from Lewisport, Newfoundland, at the end of the government rail line and the beginning of a 200-mile cable-telegraph line to St. Barbe Island. This slender service was the only means by which rapid transmission of news might be hoped for since attempts to obtain aircraft to fly to the scene failed late in the day.

The Viking was equipped with wireless, but this probably had been put out of commission by the blast which Mr. Bowring said "undoubtedly was caused by ignition of powder in the hold."

The Bowring firm has five sealers in the field. The others, besides the Imogene, are the Eagle, the Ranger and Terre Nova.

The Ranger is in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the others are in the vicinity of White Bay or Straits of Belle Isle.

teaching soldiers how to slay other soldiers, knows so much of the horrors and sufferings of war that he has devoted his life to the high purpose of striving for permanent peace among nations, and to this end has arranged this trip for "Envoys of Friendship"—high school boys and girls of the highest American type—to bring before the children of Europe the desire of the youth of the United States for future peace among the nations of the world.

Patriotism Is Noble Virtue.

"Patriotism is a noble virtue," said Col. Moss, "but it is just as well that the children of America be taught that in other countries there are other children equally patriotic, to whom the flags of their various countries are just as sacred as are the stars and stripes to Americans, and that they have rights which should be respected.

"Carrying in their hearts the friendliness, sincerity and conciliation of youth, they are going to England, our mother country, and to France, America's traditional friend, to extend greetings of goodwill to the children of these two countries and invite them to join hands with the boys and girls of the United States in a movement for creation among the children of today in whose hands will be the world of tomorrow a lasting friendship that will make them repair to the conference table instead of the battlefield for the adjustment of any differences which may come up between their countries when they are in control of the governments of the world."

In order to obtain the highest type of childhood for this forthcoming trip to the "Envoys of Friendship," the United States Flag Association has laid down rigid rules as to the character, intelligence and personality of the delegates, the plan being to pick the highest type boys and girls for the trip. Some of the private schools in various parts of the country are adopting their own methods of selection.

Mrs. Loose Is Patroness.

In other sections the children are picked from the public high schools, some wealthy and generous man or woman acting as patron or patroness and paying all expenses for the boy and girl selected to make the trip. In Washington Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose has assumed the post of patroness and will defray the expenses of the boy and girl selected, and she has asked The Washington Post to cooperate with the United States Flag Association in making the selections.

After the blanks are distributed Thursday, the boys and girls between 14 and 18 years of age, who attend either a junior or snior high school here, public or private, can enter the competition by submitting an essay on "The Typical American Boy," by the boys and "The Typical American Girl," by the girls. These essays must not exceed 200 words and must be in the hands of the school authorities not later than March 31.

One boy and one girl from each school will be selected by this means, and additional tests will be held April 11 and April 18 which will result in the final selection of one boy and one girl to represent Washington as "Envoys." Each of the boys and girls who pass the first test will receive the "Old Glory Medal" of the United States Flag Association, with life membership in the "Order of the Flag" and the two "Envoys" chosen will receive the "Cross of Honor" of the Flag Association, also carrying life membership and additional honors in the "Order of the Flag."

Watch Post for Details.

Prospective applicants are earnestly requested to watch The Washington Post for all details. Officials of the United States Flag Association are under heavy pressure as a result of preparing for this contest and can not take time to furnish details. The Washington Post will have every new detail as soon as it is effected and the students, by keeping closely in touch with this publication, can get every particle of information needed.

One boy and one girl will win this wonderful trip. Every cent of expense will be borne by Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, who is patroness for the boy and girl selected. The "envoys" will meet the King of England or the Prince of Wales, and will also be presented to the President of France. They will have opportunity to visit historic spots near London and Paris. They will meet thousands of children of their own ages in both these European capitals and will take part in good will mass meetings at which the speakers will be children and which will be broadcast across the Atlantic and to all parts of the United States. The trip promises to be notable in the history of delegations sent abroad, and every boy and girl who goes makes it without one penny of expense.

Peggy Hoover, 6, Departs For Birthday at Father's

(Associated Press.)

Peggy Ann Hoover, the eldest of President and Mrs. Hoover's grandchildren, left Washington last night for Asheville, N. C., to celebrate her sixth birthday today with her father, Herbert Hoover, jr.

She was accompanied by her brother, Herbert Hoover 3d, who will take part in the birthday celebration.

Peggy Ann and Herbert, who is called "Peter" by his grandparents, have not seen their father for more than six months, although they have talked with him over long distance telephone several times since coming to spend the winter in the White House. He is recuperating from illness.

Joan, the baby, who is less than a year old, will remain at the executive mansion with her nurse.

Mrs. Hoover will go to Asheville some time this week to spend a large part of the ten days President Hoover expects to be away on a trip to the Caribbean.

After all, a birthday party in the White House would have been merely another birthday party in the White House for Peggy Ann.

Two years ago, 13 days after the inauguration, Peggy Ann's birthday was the first family festival under the Hoover administration. As gracious and dignified of manner as any grown-up hostess, Peggy Ann was feted at 4 o'clock tea, in the oval room on the second floor, now Mrs. Hoover's private sitting room.

The tiny table in the center of the room, spread for Peggy Ann and Herbert 3d, with milk instead of tea and children's cookies instead of rich cakes, was the only juvenile note.

The pink roses, the silver service, the embroidered linens were exactly the same as for any distinguished guests on any adult occasion—much to Peggy Ann's delight.

MONTGOMERY HELD CRIMELESS COUNTY

Judge Robert B. Peter Is Pleased With Scarcity of Vice, Gambling.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone, Wisconsin 4200.

Conditions in Montgomery County are most excellent as regards vice and gambling, Judge Robert B. Peter told the March term grand jury for Montgomery County yesterday in circuit court at Rockville. The March term began yesterday.

Worthington Talbott, of Rockville, was selected as foreman of the inquisitorial body by Judge Peter. The judge charged the grand jury to maintain secrecy regarding all of its work and to pay special attention to certain forms of crime, which must be called to the attention of the grand jury at each term. He told the jurors that Montgomery apparently has enjoyed a special freedom from crime in the past six months, despite its closeness to Washington, and especially from gamblers and bootleggers.

The grand jury immediately went into session and began examining witnesses. It is expected that it will complete its investigations within the week, there being a very light docket. Trial of civil cases will begin tomorrow and criminal cases are expected to be reached by March 26.

Gaithersburg was deeply surprised yesterday to hear that Miss Mary Evelyn Mullican, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Vinsom M. Mullican, of near Gaithersburg, and who has been an employe of the Waters drug store, has been married for a year to Wendell L. German, of Gaithersburg, son of Mrs. Elsie German Martines, of Gaithersburg.

The young couple was married secretly April 8, 1930, by the Rev. Charles J. Gardner, at Hagerstown, it was announced yesterday. Even their friends had not been informed of the wedding, the bride continuing her work as if nothing had happened.

Mrs. B. T. Lipscomb, of Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce from Andrew Adgate Lipscomb, also of Chevy Chase, Md., in circuit court at Rockville. Through Attorney Harry L. Smith, of Towson, Md., the wife alleges desertion. The couple was married November 12, 1912, and has two children.

FEDERATION HEARS AIRPORT DISCUSSED

Nearby Groups Confer on Developments Under U. S. Control.

The development of a municipal airport with its relation to the future of the metropolitan area, and the gas situation in the same territory formed the basis of discussion at a meeting of the Inter-Federation Conference held last night in the United States Chamber of Commerce Building.

The possibility of Washington Airport and Hoover Field being taken over and developed by the Government was discussed, and a report of a subcommittee dealing with the situation was received, revealing that very little work was being done by the private companies now operating the fields toward improvement because of the uncertainty now existing. Considerable fear was felt by the conference that the flying needs around Washington would soon necessitate public action. The matter will be further investigated by the existing committee.

Members of the Arlington County delegation expressed dissatisfaction with the current prices of gas in that county and revealed that a thorough investigation of the situation is now going on. While the delegation from Montgomery County were not charged the high rate that the Virginians complained of, the opinion was unanimous that the situation needed improving, and at the suggestion of a member of the District group, a subcommittee was appointed to keep in touch with developments now under way in the price inquiry.

Those appointed on the committee by Col. A. B. Barber, the president of the conference, who presided last night, were E. S. Hage, representing the Federation of Citizens Associations; Robert E. Plymale, from the Civic Federation of Arlington County, and C. A. Korbley, representing the Civic Federation of Montgomery County. A mere complete discussion of both these topics, with possible action, will be taken at the next regular meeting.

Woman Sues Film Firm for $150,000

Former Warner Bros. Aid Charges False Arrest in Alleged Plot.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 16 (A.P.).—Edith Higgins, a former stenographer at a film studio, filed suit today against Warner Bros.-First National Studios, asking damages of $150,000 for alleged false arrest and imprisonment.

Miss Higgins claimed she was arrested last August on orders of studio officials and charged with a conspiracy to steal the film scenario of "The Dawn Patrol," a war picture of the air, starring Richard Barthelmess.

She said she was held in jail four days, then released, and the charges later were dropped. At the time of the arrest studio officials claimed the woman was employed by another studio to steal the scenario.

INSURANCE BY MAIL ORDER.

A MAIL order company announces a plan to sell insurance by mail. It will soon be possible to sit up through the long winter evenings and study the catalogue offerings to determine whether you want a cardigan jacket, a racing bicycle, a set of harness or a handsome Model D life insurance policy, completely equipped.

* * * *

The mail order house thinks insurance can be sold by mail for less money and with greater profit than through insurance agents. It believes the idea will be popular with the public. If you don't like mail order solicitation you can destroy it, but there is no way to tear up a persistent insurance agent.

* * * *

Those behind the plan say that insurance is no longer a novelty, but is generally regarded as a necessity. The public has been sold on the idea of protection and will be glad, they think, to buy policies through a mail order catalogue if the illustrations are interesting enough.

* * * *

Then, too, if an insurance prospect is bored by the insurance ads he can get rid of them at once by turning the pages to the offerings of magic lanterns, hunting rifles, hip boots, trout rods, motorcycles, outboard motors and Shetland ponies. This should appeal to the public, which long ago discovered that getting rid of an insurance agent in the flesh sometimes takes the best years of a man's life.

* * * *

UNDER the mail order system it will all be quite simple:

"I think you ought to take out some more insurance," Mrs. Artemus Blodgett will say to her husband.

"Mebbe you're right," Artemus will reply. "Fetch me the mail order catalogue."

"I was looking through it this afternoon," Mrs. Blodgett will say, "and it has the finest line of insurance policies I've ever seen from any chain store and wholesale merchandising corporation."

"How are the pictures?" Artemus will ask.

"Splendid. There's one on page 362 showing how the liver is apt to look after 40 that's most interesting."

* * * *

THEN Artemus will take the catalogue, settle back in an easy chair, light his pipe and go literary for an hour or so in the good old-fashioned way.

"This certainly is a swell catalogue," he will muse after a while. "The way this company pictures insurance makes a feller feel he oughter inclose stamps and order a batch while the supply holds out."

"What policy do you like, Artemus?" Mrs. Blodgett will inquire.

"This one here looks nifty," Artemus will reply, pointing to page 875. "Look at the picture! Ain't that thrilling? Look at the colors and the action! It's almost worth cutting out and framing."

"Artemus," Mrs. Blodgett will rebuke, "you're looking at the wrong ad. That's for fire insurance!"

* * * *

It'll be good, clean fun and no flashily dressed pro golfer, turned life insurance agent, to bust into the party and shout questions like "Ever been any rickets in the family?" "What was the name of the doctor you say gave you a spring tonic in 1912?" "Do you realize that I am helping you to create an estate," &c.

All in all the idea looks pretty good. Please send the catalogue.

Mayor Walker of New York, in Texas, says, "Well, I intend to keep laughing. We need more laughing." He might revise it this way:

Oh, it's easy enough to be pleasant
When life flows along like a song
But the man worth while is the man who can smile
When every one else is dead wrong.

Ring Lardner, kidding on what the storm did to his cottage on Long Island, says he has changed its name from "Iona Dune" to "The Flotsam." People who have observed the place since the sea invaded the property say they can remember it when it was considered away uptown.

Possibly the Beauty Contest bride slew her husband after some remarks as, "Honey, fix your face up a little. I want you to look attractive as other women."

delegation of mountaineers, who had brought her a homespun frock.

Sewing machines whirred almost unceasingly yesterday in the luxurious vice presidential suit in the Mayflower Hotel. Wives of Cabinet members and representatives worked all day to raise the total of garments made for families of the unemployed to nearly 400. The women have been sewing every Monday for several months at the home of Mrs. Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis.

Into the cozy atmosphere of the ten-room suite, with its red roses, soft rugs and easy chairs, the energetic women lugged sewing machines. Mrs. Gann, who has kept the housewifely instincts of her Topeka home in the midst of heavy social demands here, already owned one. Several Cabinet wives had theirs moved to the hotel. Mrs. Alice Smoot, wife of Senator Smoot, of Utah used a small portable one.

Boys' blouses, girls' dresses, socks and sweaters, even large, heavy ones for men, were included in the hundreds of garments made. Mrs. Gann organized the unit early in the year after helping serve food from the hotel kitchen to a long line of hungry men. Back of the drab, drooping line she envisioned families waiting at home. She called up officialdom's women and met with prompt response.

Knitting has been a favorite pastime with other presidents' wives. Mrs. Coolidge fashioned many gay scarfs, sweaters and socks when she was in the White House.

CURRENT EVENTS IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND

POTOMAC FISHING BAN IS RESCINDED

Game Commission Changes Ruling After Protests From Fairfax.

The Virginia State Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, at its meeting held yesterday in the Alexandria corporation court room, rescinded its recent ruling abolishing commercial fishing in the bays, creeks and inlets of the Potomac River from Hallowing Point to Washington, and will permit such fishing during the period from September 15 to May 1, closing the fishing with nets in these waters during the remaining months. Fishing with haul seines will not be permitted at any time.

The meeting held yesterday was for the purpose of hearing protests from the commercial fishermen of Fairfax County in regard to the ruling of the commission.

A. Willis Robertson, chairman of the commission, presided, and the fishermen were represented by Representative Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria.

The original petition as presented for the fishermen urged the commission to permit fishing in the waters mentioned from March to November, inclusive. The measure passed at the last session of the Legislature, giving the game commission power to make a ruling on this point, was explained to the commission by Delegates J. Fred Birrell, L. L. Freeman and Hugh Reid.

Mr. Leach, of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, stated that the use of haul seines during the bass spawning season in May and June would result seriously in regard to fish supply.

Chairman Robertson, in announcing the ruling of the commission, urged that all those engaged in commercial fishing cooperate with the commission in the observance of the laws.

Smith Is Indicted In Police Shooting

Judge McCarthy Sets Trial of Treasury Draftsman for April 1.

W. E. Smith, a Treasury Department draftsman of Columbia road, near Fifteenth stret northwest, who was arrested and charged with shooting at Fairfax County Policeman Carl McIntosh on Chain Bridge Hill early Sunday morning, was indicted yesterday by a grand jury of the Fairfax County Circuit Court on a charge of attempt to murder.

His trial on the indictment was set by Judge Walter T. McCarthy for April 1. Attorney Harry A. Schockey, of Falls Church, will represent Smith.

The Fairfax County police had been instructed to break up "petting parties," and to enforce the antiparking laws along the highways of the county. McIntosh saw the car parked along the road at the top of Chain Bridge Hill and stopped to investigate. As he stepped alongside of the car, he said, he was fired on twice without warning, and dodged back of the car as a third shot was fired at him, piercing his coat collar. Drawing his own gun, he says, he disarmed Smith and placed him under arerst. Smith stated at the Fairfax County Jail that he thought he was being held up.

CHAPLAIN ACCUSED AFTER JOLIET RIOT

would not testify before the legislators, but would demand an inquiry into the "framed" charges. He blamed the rebellious spirit on "high-handed treatment of the prisoners by Deputy Warden Erickson and Capt. B. A. Davenport" for infraction of prison regulations. Capt. Davenport was the guard captain attacked and beaten by convicts Saturday.

Guard Is Blamed.

"If Capt. Davenport had not been on duty Saturday," said Mr. Whitmeyer, "I feel sure the riot would not have occurred. Else, why would they let the other 25 guards go and attack him alone?"

The chaplain said he read letters written to and from the convicts and delivered some, and added he had told Deputy Erickson of the practice. Of the ambush of the fugitives February 22, he said: "When asked what I thought of the Washington's Birthday episode I stated that I felt the guards were hired to keep men from climbing the walls and escaping and not to watch them climb the walls and when they were in between squads of machine guns to be shot down."

Warden Hill said a convict had reported the chaplain told prisoners, "What this prison needs is a good riot." Investigators for the "secret six" crime committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, seeking testimony from convicts concerning recent bank robberies, complained to the warden that Chaplain Whitmeyer told the convicts not to talk.

Plot Concealed in Story.

The warden said a prison-delivery plot was thwarted recently, and it was found the plans, carefully concealed in code in a short story written by James Gentile, a Chicago prisoner, were carried to Mrs. Gentile by Mr. Whitmeyer.

Strother, possession of a still, $50 and costs fine and one month in jail, and Joseph Taylor, possession of liquor, $50 fine and costs and one month in jail. The other cases were set for hearing during the term, which continues for three weeks.

The executive committee of the Arlington-Fairfax Board of Religious Education will hold a meeting this evening at the home of E. T. Fenwick at Falls Church. A general meeting of the board will be held next Tuesday in the form of a supper in the Arlington Methodist Episcopal Church in the interests of religious education program in Arlington and Fairfax Counties. The principal speaker of the evening will be Dr. Minor C. Miller, secretary of the Virginia Council of Religious Education. The Rev. George Conner, of the Crossman Methodist Church, at Falls Church, and the Rev. Walter F. Woolf, of the Arlington Presbyterian Church, have been named as the committee on arrangements.

The 4-H Club, of McLean, is planning to hold a community party on the evening of April 9 in the auditorium of the Franklin-Sherman School at McLean. The committees in charge have been selected as follows: Committee for the play, Hilda Millard, Irene Cambell, Elsie Money, Annabell Warfield and Rosa Allen; recreation committee, Louisia Arnold, Elouise Faidley, Frances Faidley, Elsie Hale, Narcissa Jenkins, Janice Jarrett, Margaret Grubb and Mary Saunders; refreshments, Mable Carole, Margaret Edwards, Marie Free, Catherine Norris, Thelma Curtice and Helen McGuffin; decorations, Gladys Henderson, Ruby Herring, Virginia Cardley, Rebecca Enawiller, Patsy Johns, Charlotte Rowe, Louisa Miller, Lena Williams, Virginia Thompson, Florence Money and Alice Fitzhugh.

The Franconia School and Community League will hold its meeting this evening in the Franconia schoolhouse.

While attempting to pass another car on the Washington-Richmond highway just south of Woodbridge, Va., an automobile driven by Mrs. George Hall, wife of Capt. Hall, of the Marine Corps at Quantico, Va., with her 6-year-old son as a passenger, left the highway, crossed a two-foot ditch and ran into a small bridge. Mrs. Hall sustained two broken ribs and internal injuries. Her son received a broken leg and severe scalp wounds. They were rushed to the Fort Humphreys Hospital and given first-aid treatment, after which they were taken to the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. The accident was investigated by State Motor Vehicle Inspector John W. Clarke and Fairfax County Policeman A. W. Mills.

Robert R. Buckley, prominent Fairfax County real estate dealer, has been notified by the Alexandria, Arlington and Fairfax Real Estate Board that he has been appointed to the following committees: Fairfax appraisal committee, Fairfax membership committee and the Fairfax park and planning committee of that organization.

Miss Janet Cameron, State food specialist from Blacksburg, Va., will be in Fairfax County next Saturday to address the 4-H Club leaders' training meeting, which will be held in the 4-H Club rooms of the Fairfax School, all day Saturday.

The "Little Aid" Society of the Crossman Methodist Church at Falls Church, will give a St. Patrick's Day card party this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Paxton. Mrs. Olin Snyder will assist Mrs. Paxton as hostess.

St. Patrick's Day will be celebrated this evening in many of the communities of Fairfax by social gatherings and civic meetings. At Chesterbrook, the Epworth League will hold a social in the Chesterbrook Schoolhouse; Henry Beall is chairman of arrangements. At Oakton the members of the Oakton Methodist Church will be entertained at a St. Patrick's party at the home of Mrs. Will Hite. Mrs. Norman Speer and Miss Mary Bell will assist Mrs. Hite with the program.

The Woodlawn School League will give a baked ham dinner this evening in the community house. Mrs. Charles Nixon is chairman of the dinner arrangements. Following the business meeting of the Pioneer Grange at Annandale, a St. Patrick's Day program has been arranged by the entertainment committee of the Grange.

The Washington-Virginia-Maryland Coach Co., which is now operating bus service through Fairfax and Arlington Counties, has acquired the franchise for bus service along the Alexandria-Leesburg pike between Leesburg and Washington. This franchise was originally granted the Hall-Shry Co., of Leesburg, Va., but service was deferred until after the pike had been hard surfaced. The service along this highway will probably start some time within the next two weeks.

The women's auxiliary and the ladies' circle of the Presbyterian Church at Floris will hold a joint meeting this afternoon in the church house.

The 4-H Club at Floris will meet this morning. Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax home demonstration agent, assisted by Mrs. Mark Turner, the local club leader, will give a demonstration on the cooking of the inexpensive meat cuts.

ADDITION TO SCHOOL IS NEAR COMPLETION

Washington-Lee High Work to Be Entirely Finished in Two Weeks.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With the additions to the Washington-Lee High School, the largest in the entire State, rapidly nearing completion, plans are now under way for the opening of one of the two new sections next Monday morning at 9 o'clock, County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp announced yesterday. He stated that within the next ten days the entire building will have been completed and all classes will be on a normal basis—that is, all will start at 9 and close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Due to the crowded conditions, classes for the past several months have been held from 8 in the morning until 12:30 for one group and from 12:30 to 4 for the second group.

The building, which is located in Ballston, has been built on a 10-acre tract and represents an outlay of $500,000.

The first unit was erected in 1924, having 25 classrooms, gymnasium, cafeteria, auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,500 persons, library and study hall. The building now has a total of 57 classrooms, the cafeteria enlarged, another gymnasium, laboratories and shop rooms. The building is 350 feet in length, has a capacity of 1,800 students and is fireproof throughout.

The plans and specifications for the additional classrooms were prepared by State Architect Raymond V. Long, under whose supervision the work was done. The contractor was J. H. Cooleman, of Lynchburg.

Superintendent Kemp stated that the citizens of Arlington County now have a high school building that they may well be proud of and one which he hopes will meet the school needs of the county for many years to come. To be on the safe side and to avoid another crowded condition that the school board met with at the opening of school last September, there are still funds to be provided by the last bond issue for an additional ten classrooms.

"With every need now met in the building as it now stands and no cause to be concerned about the need for more rooms for some time to come, I would like to see an athletic field with a stadium that would be in keeping with all other advantages at the school," Superintendent Kemp said.

"While the school board is at this time without funds to build such a stadium as should be constructed, I am confident if the movement is properly started the business interests and citizens at large will assist the school board in seeing that this is brought about," he said.

Characterizing the Lee highway as Arlington County's race track, being made so by many motorists using it, Judge Harry R. Thomas yesterday told the county police officers that speeding must end on this highway and all offenders brought into court.

"Despite the fact that this is a State highway and speed signs saying 45 miles an hour have been erected by the State it does not mean that motorists can disregard the law through thickly settled sections, pass street crossings and school buildings, and I have warned all police officers to arrest any motorist driving at such a speed through any thickly settled section," Judge Thomas said.

"Only a few days ago two persons were killed and another seriously injured on this highway, and I propose to do all in my power to put a stop to this reckless driving," Judge Thomas said.

While Judge Thomas laid particular stress on the Lee highway, he stated that his warning applies to all highways within the confines of Arlington County.

Plans for nearby Virginia's participation in the Bicentennial celebration next year will be discussed by the special committee appointed by the Alexandria, Arlington and Fairfax Real Estate Board, of which Judge Howard W. Smith is the chairman, at a meeting to be held tonight in the George Mason Hotel, at Alexandria.

The committee, which represents the three sections of Northern Virginia, consists of Judge Smith, of Alexandria, chairman; Henry C. Morris, president of the board, vice chairman; Harry A. Fellows, president of the Arlington County Civic Federation; J. Barton Phillips, president of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce; Capt. Thurlow White, member of the board of directors of the Fairfax Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor L. P. Daniels, of Falls Church. Ashton C. Jones, of Arlington County, will act in the capacity of secretary to the committee.

While this meeting is in progress, Representative Sol Bloom, associate director of the Bicentennial Commission, will address a meeting of representatives of organizations in Arlington County, which will meet tonight in the offices of the Brumback Realty Co., under the auspices of the Arlington County Civic Federation.

This meeting has been called for the purpose of perfecting a Bicentennial Council to take care of the county's local problems in connection with its participation in the celebration.

Maj. William M. King, who is in his ninety-ninth year, returned to his home in Ballston Saturday accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Welburn, from an extended trip to Clearwater, Fla., where they visited relatives.

Maj. King, who suffered a sudden attack while in Florida, is reported to have recovered.

The Woman's Club of Lyon Village announces that it will give a card party tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. George DeVaughan, 320 Key boulevard.

The State highway department will open bids for the widening of the Lee highway from Halls Hill to the intersection at Broad street in West Falls Church, at its offices at Richmond. It is anticipated that work will be under way within the next two weeks.

A social evening and entertainment by the Girl Scouts of Ballston will feature the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Stonewall Jackson School at the schoolhouse Thursday night.

With the time rapidly drawing to a close when persons otherwise qualified to vote at the coming election in November, when all county officers excepting that of county clerk, will be chosen, will be able to pay their poll taxes, County Treasurer E. Wade Ball states the limit is May 2, at midnight.

The men of Walkers Chapel Church will give an oyster supper in the church basement this evening from 5:30 to 7 o'clock.

The Ladies' auxiliary to the Ballston Volunteer Fire Department announced they are giving a benefit supper at the Firemen's Hall Friday evening from 5 to 8 o'clock.

Herbert Lambert, of Ballston, narrowly escaped serious injury when his truck turned over on the Little River turnpike between Aldie and Fairfax after being struck by a bus coming toward Washington.

Lambert was brought to his home by his brother, Francis Lambert, where he was treated for lacerations about the head and body bruises by Dr. Richard N. Sutton. His condition is said to be not serious.

REPORT WILL FAVOR BILLS FOR BERWYN

District's Inclusion for Park and Sanitation Projects Believed Imminent.

Special to the Washington Post

Annapolis, Md., Mar. 16.—The bills to include the remainder of Berwyn district in the park and planning commission area and in the sanitary commission district will be favorably reported in the house tomorrow, according to Kent R. Mullikin, leader of the Prnce Georges delegation in the Maryland legislature.

The bill to extend the park and planning commission area will be reported out in the same form in which it was introduced. The other measure, however has been amended to exempt the affected area from the sanitary commission tax for five years.

A bill to include District Heights, Bradbury Heights, and Boulevard Heights in the sanitary commission area, reported sent to the delegation, has not been received, Mr. Mullikin said. These three towns appeared before the delegation some time ago to ask that they be included so that they might recevie water from the commissions mains, as well as in the vicinity are reported dry.

Suitland Not Included.

The bill does not include Suitland, whose citizens have registered their unwillingness to be included in the district.

In last night's brief session of the House, Delegate Oliver Metzerott introduced a bill to amend hte constitution, giving the members of the Legislature a yearly salary of $600. This bill is intended to take the place of one introduced by another delegate, which provided that pay of the legislators should be increased from $5 to $10 a day. Mr. Metzerott's bill provides that presiding officers of the two houses shall receive an additional sum of $200 a year.

The men's field house which it is proposed to construct at the University of Maryland, College Park, to provide additional facilities for athletic activities, will receive State aid to the extent of $200,000. Gov. Ritchie included that amount in a supplemental budget which he sent to the General Assembly tonight.

Will Cost $75,000.

The new building will cost about $75,000, and it is understood that the balance will be raised from outside sources. The governor also recommended an additional $1,500 for 1932 and 1933 for the bookkeeping industry at the university. Like appropriations were set out in the original budget. Appropriations of $1,500 for the bookkeeping fund of the university for the two years also are urged.

Increased appropriations also are urged for a number of hospitals and other institutions, including $1,000 for each of the fiscal years, 1932 and 1933 for the indigent sick in Montgomery and Prince Georges counties, in addition to $5,000 previously allowed, together with $5,000 for Prince Georges, and $6,000 for Montgomery County, to cover a 1932 deficit and $1,000 for each of the two years for the Montgomery County General Hospital, in addition to $6,000 for each year previously allotted.

The total of the supplemental budget for various departments of the State governments amounts to $544,873.36.

ROADS COMMISSION TO CONTROL FLOODS

Work in Prince Georges to Be Cared For Without Special Law.

Without waiting for the flood-control situation in Bladensburg to be assigned to it by specific legislation, the State Roads Commission has placed this work on its program for the next year in connection with the widening of the Baltimore boulevard from the District line to Hyattsville.

One of the first bills introduced by the Prince Georges delegation when the Legislature convened provided that the roads commission should have authority to take steps to control the periodic floods in the low area near this town. There had been some doubt that road funds could be used for construction of the right of way. Under this bill, which will not be pushed, the commission could build dykes, canals and other necessary structures.

Widening of the Bladensburg road, a link in the boulevard, will cost about $140,000, it is estimated. This project will remove some of the present congestion in Hyattsville, where the road narrows to about half its width.

The cost of dredging the Eastern Branch where it crosses Bladensburg road is not known. A survey and study of the improvement is being made, but is not yet completed. Widening of the road is regarded as "ridiculous" unless some steps are taken to prevent the flooding of the road. There is no prospect of a flood this spring, and the work will probably be completed by the end of the summer, so that Bladensburg has likely seen the last of its floods.

The commission has also made known its stand on various other road questions in Prince Georges County. The road body does not favor the proposal to apply the gas receipts of the county to retiring the unpaid bonds of the Edmonston road, holding that it is contrary to precedent.

The Edmonston road was built by a bond issue and at present residents of the section are paying off the debt. Another bill which has been introduced provides that the county will take over the bonds and pay them off out of the general county funds. This bill was not pushed until the attitude of the commission was known.

The commission holds that it has been a definitely established rule that none of the gas tax receipts should be used to pay interest charges, and that to use any of them for sinking funds would be a "dangerous precedent."

The commission also announced its decision to build a sidewalk on the narrow Barney Street Bridge, which is the main connecting link between Rhode Island avenue and the Baltimore boulevard.

Prospects for an additoinal circuit court judge for Prince Georges County seemed brighter after a hearing held before the committee on constitutional amendments in Annapolis last week. No opposition to the measure appeared at the hearing.

The bill which was introduced in the legislature was sponsored by the bar association and provides for another judge for the Prince Georges County bench. Judge Joseph C. Matingly is kept busy now by the amount of work in the county. The constitutional change will have to be approved by the people of the State through a referendum before it becomes effective.

Provision for a building code for Prince Georges County to be framed by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, is contained in a bill pending before the State Legislature.

The bill also provides for the appointment of a building inspector, whose salary will be fixed by the Commission. Funds for the salary will be derived from the fees charged for building permits.

The code would regulate the erection, alteration, or repair of all building permits must be issued for any structural change in buildings, which would give the Commission control over temporary structures such as fireworks stands and fly-by-night barbecues.

A similar law has been in effect in Montgomery County for some time. The proposed bill provides that violations of the building code would carry a fine of not more than $300.

Mrs. Wade H. Sheriff has resigned as chairman of the department of public welfare of the Prince Georges County Federation of Women's Clubs because of ill health, according to an announcement by Mrs. Rudolph S. Allen, president of the federation.

Mrs. Charles O. Appleman of the Progress Club of College Park has been appointed head of the county welfare group in her place. Mrs. Walter Brooke, of the Oxon Hill Community Club has been made chairman of the department of conservation of the Federation.

The Hyattsville Building Association has just had the best year of its career, in spite of the drought, according to the annual report of T. H. Welsh, secretary, which was made at the stockholders meeting. Assets are about $6,000,000, with a surplus of nearly $400,000.

All the funds are invested in first mortgages on Maryland real estate.

All the officers and directors of the Association were re-elected. Officers are George H. Lanhardt, president; Dr. Harry J. Patterson, vice president; T. H. Welsh, secretary; and Charles H. Welsh, treasurer.

The board of directors is composed of the officers and James H. Baden, J. Donald Clagett, Ernest F. Gasch, Alexander Gude, and B. O. L. Wells.

Firemen of the Riverdale Heights Volunteer Company will give a minstrel show in the firehouse Saturday night for the benefit of the organization. The Firemen will be assisted by other residents of the town. A three act program has been arranged.

The preparations are under the direction of the executive staff including Billy Gee, director; Dr. E. A. LeLacheur, musical director; C. S. Kernan, business manager; L. W. Nelson, stage manager; L. S. Swain, electrician; Chesley Scott, stage carpenter; W. H. McGinty, property man, and T. C. Gardner, chairman of the show committee.

Others taking part in the show are Ernest Greer, Stanley Kernan, Charles Shirley, Clinton Taylor, Stafford Howard, Charles Lamot, Wayne Morrill, Harold E. Stansfield, B. Bartoo, C. Burrichter, R. Shine, J. Thibodeau, M. McGinty, and T. Thompson.

Mrs. Mary Payne, 76, Dies at Martinsburg; Rites Set for Today.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., March 16.—Mrs. Mary Cornelia Payne, 76, died at a local hospital early this morning of injuries received Sunday night when she was hit by an automobile at a street intersection here as she was on her way to church.

The car was driven by Elbert Rodgers, this city, and with him was James Payne, grandson of the injured woman, who carried her into the hospital. Mrs. Payne came from an old and distinguished Clarke County (Virginia) family. She was Miss Shepherd before marriage. She had resided here more than 40 years. Surviving are three children, J. C. Payne, this city; R. S. Payne, Baltimore, and C. S. Payne, this county.

Burial will be conducted here tomorrow with the vestry of Trinity Episcopal Church, of which she was long a member, acting as bearers.

Pair to Serve 5 Years Each on Drug Charges

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., March 16.—Olin A. Jones, 31, and Eugene Mattox, 31, both of Roanoke, were sentenced to five years in Leavenworth (Kans.) Federal Penitentiary on narcotic charges today by Judge Henry C. McDowell in United States Court for the Western District of Virginia.

They pleaded guilty to possessing and transporting 3½ ounces of heroin. They were arrested at Winchester in January, when their automobile had defective license plates. A search of the car revealed the narcotics. Another small quantity was found in their jail cell.

Fleeing Yeggmen Drop $800 Taken From Bank

Ridgely, Md., March 16 (A.P.).—Three yeggmen, fleeing as a fire alarm was sounded following the robbery of the Bank of Ridgely here early today, dropped a coal bucket filled with $800 in silver money. The money was recovered by a group of pursuers.

Lawrence Wilson, cashier, estimated the bank's loss at $2,000 in cash and a number of securities. The fire alarm was sounded after the discovery of the robbery by a nearby resident.

Arson Charge Laid To Factory Owner

Former Chief of Police Is Held in Jail, Accused of Firing Plant.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., March 16.—Charged with arson, Ray W. Baumgardner, 50, former chief of police at Greencastle, is being held in the Franklin County (Pa.) jail. He is alleged to have attempted to fire his ice cream factory. State police arrested him.

Fire was discovered in Baumgardner's ice cream plant last Thursday night. Police say an investigation revealed a can of gasoline near a small fire, which had been started on the second floor of the building. A string tied to the can led out the window and evidently had been meant to tip the can. Its contents, however, were tipped away from the flames, and the fire was extinguished with little damage.

Baumgardner denied the charge.

Admitted Slaying Doubted by Police

Alleged Army Deserter to Be Questioned Again on Murder Story.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 6.—Ritchie County authorities today express doubt of a story told military authorities at Fort Howard, Md., by H. C. Myers, alleged Army deserter, of Cumberland, Md., that he had killed and buried a man in U. S. Route 50, in Ritchie County, February 3.

State and local police today concluded a search along the highway between Cairo and Harrisville, but failed to find any traces of a possible burial place.

Myers, now under guard at Fort Howard, may be taken to Ritchie County for a further investigation, officers stated.

Child Burns to Death.

Lynchburg, Va., March 16 (Special).—Naomi, 3, foster child of Ethel Brandon, Negress, was burned in a fire which destroyed her home this afternoon. The child was in the house alone at the time the fire was discovered.

Wealthy Reporter Weds Shop Girl

George Berry, Millionaire, Is Cub Writer on Kansas City Paper.

Kansas City, Mo., March 16 (A.P.).—George B. Berry, millionaire newspaper reporter, and Miss Gwen Liddell, employed in a fashionable women's dress shop, were married today.

Mr. Berry is a member of the staff of the Kansas City Star. He is 29 years old and the bride is 23.

Although owning valuable downtown real estate, which he inherited, and having a large income, Mr. Berry started out as a cub reporter about a year ago. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri and attended Princeton. The bride is a graduate of a girls' school at Morgantown, W. Va.

Low Bid for Raising Pedlar Dam Is $74,509

Lynchburg, Va., March 16.—L. H. Hundley, of Ashland, Ky., with a bid of $74,509, was low bidder today for the contract to raise the city water department dam on Pedlar River 7½ feet.

There were twelve other bids, the highest being $161,000. The contract will be let promptly, so that the work can be started quickly.

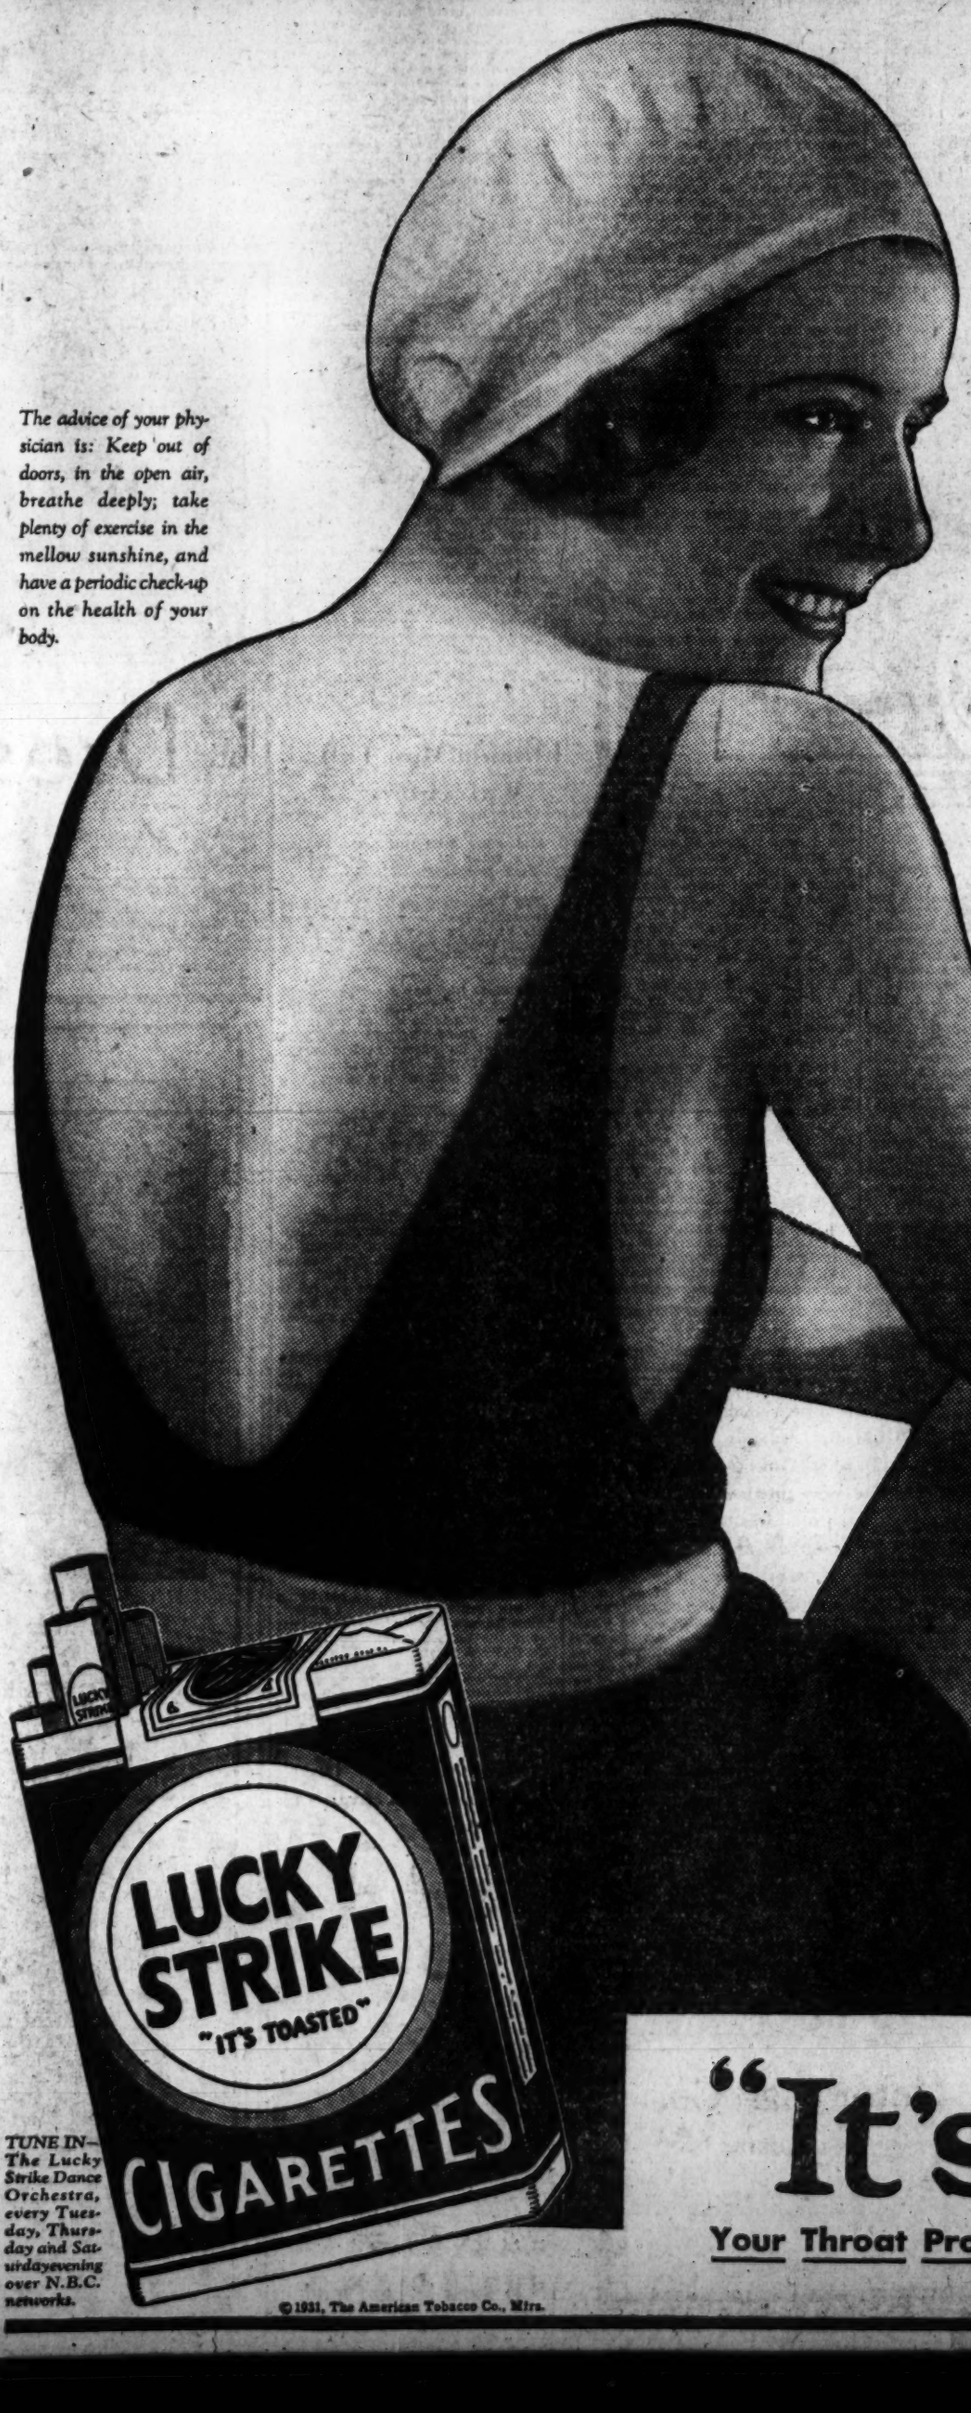
SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies



The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

ALEXANDRIA SCHOOL REPORT PUBLISHED

Critchley Survey Complete; Criticizes High Grades on Organization.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The survey of the Alexandria High School system, recently made by Dr. W. S. Y. Critchley, of Columbia University, has been submitted to the Alexandria City school board, and yesterday a 75-page digest of the report was given out. The survey treated the two high schools entirely, not mentioning graded schools.

It was stated last night by Lawrence E. Ronald, chairman of the citizens' committee on public schools, which for some time past has been engaged in an investigation of the public school system and the personnel of the schools, that the report of Dr. Critchley, which was arranged for by the school board, has nothing to do with the investigation of the citizens' committee. This committee, it is understood, will hold a meeting tomorrow night, and its final report is expected to be rendered about April 1.

At a meeting of the school board held Saturday, Dr. Critchley's report was submitted, ordered accepted and read in full. It is understood the full report will be given out later.

One of the outstanding features of the report is the recommendation that the George Mason High School, in Potomac, be closed and incorporated into the Alexandria High School. "It is extremely difficult," says the report, for any system to incorporate an outside school and expect it to function. There is always misunderstanding." The report states it is positively unfair to hold the principal of the George Mason High School to strict accountability for the educational standard of that school and that if, under any circumstances, this high school is not consolidated it will be necessary to appoint a principal whose sole duty shall be its reorganization and administration. "Upon investigation," the report continues, "there was found to be educational chaos. It should be distinctly understood that it is impossible for any one to assume the responsibility. The school came from an educational system run upon an entirely different plan than the one used by the City of Alexandria, and until the readjustment can be made chaos will continue."

It is also recommended that when this consolidation comes the faculty of the George Mason High School be considered as candidates for positions in the joint school, and that the difficulties under which they are working be not counted against them.

Severe criticism of the physical equipment of the George Mason School, and of the lack of discipline in that school, is made.

The school board at its Saturday meeting passed several resolutions, among them being one to the effect that no teacher shall be employed in the high school who has less than five years' experience in a recognized high school; that salaries be based on a ten-year tenure; that salaries be increased for three years and that no further increases be granted until research work is done, after which the salary scale shall continue for successive periods of three years, dependent upon further research work.

A supervisor to have entire charge of the grades, is to be appointed; an absolute reorganization of the faculty of the Alexandria High School, upon departmental lines, shall go into effect next year; the principal of the Alexandria High School, Henry T. Moncure, is to be granted immediate leave of absence, with pay, for the purpose of visiting high school systems for research, such research to continue during the summer months under the direction of some recognized university, a substitute for Mr. Moncure being provided.

The recommendation of Dr. Critchley relative to military science and tactics is to be put into operation immediately, and Col. Clarence Deems, professor of military science and tactics, is appointed and elected a member of the faculty of the Alexandria High School. This places Col. Deems directly under the authority of the superintendent of schools, R. C. Bowton, and the principal of the high school.

The school board stated yesterday that the "personal differences" between Col. Deems and Mr. Bowton, which received considerable airing recently, have been satisfactorily adjusted. Col. Deems was assigned to duty with the Alexandria High School by the commanding general of the Third Corps Area in Baltimore, and heretofore has been responsible only to the corps area commander.

The school board also adopted a resolution to immediately petition the city council to consider the report upon the physical condition of the schools and urge favorable action. The city council recently went on record as having no jurisdiction over school affairs other than to appropriate money as requested by the school board.

Delegates to Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival Picked by Governors.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., March 16.—Governors of 2 States east of the Mississippi River are appointing State princesses to the eighth annual Shenandoah apple blossom festival, to be held here about May 1, and they will be members of the royal court of Queen Shenandoah VIII.

Nelson P. Richards, director general, announced today that the following additional selections had been made over the week-end: Miss Harriet Holderness, Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C., by Gov. C. Max Gardner, North Carolina; Miss Mary Hayes Griffin, East Granby, by Gov. Wilbur L. Cross, Connecticut; Miss Numia Lee Foute, Boyd Hall, University of Kentucky, Lexington, by Gov. Flem D. Sampson, and Miss Louise Bryson, Columbia, S. C., by Gov. I. C. Blackwood, South Carolina.

Representative Menalcus Lankford, of the Second Congressional District of Virginia, appointed Miss Elsie Schmelz Collier, Norfolk. Appointments by other Virginia representatives include Miss Evelyn James Jordan, Danville, by Joseph Whitehead, Fifth District; Miss Margaret Randolph Keith, Fairfax, by R. Walton Moore, Eighth District, and Miss Josephine Cunningham, Buena Vista, by Henry St. George Tucker, Tenth District.

The Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester, presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, was the speaker at the meeting of Andrew Jackson Lodge, No. 120, A. F. and A. M., at the celebration of the 116th anniversary of the organization of the lodge and also the birthday of Andrew Jackson, held last night in the auditorium of the Elks Home. Riley W. Nixon, worshipful master of the lodge, presided. A musical program was given.

The annual meeting of the chamber of commerce was held last night when reports of the year's work were given by the president, John Barton Phillips, and the secretary-treasurer, James T. Preston. Formal announcement was made of the election of 7 directors, to complete the quota of 14; they are Gardner L. Boothe, Robert S. Jones, George F. Downham, Benedict Weil, C. Page Waller, A. M. Remschel and J. William May.

The funeral of Mrs. Nellie Seldon Uhler widow of George Uhler, who died on Sunday at her home 121 North Washington street, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, conducted by the rector, the Rev. Dr. William Jackson Morton, and the Rev. Dr. Berryman Green, dean of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Virginia, and a former rector of Christ Church. Burial will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

$25,000 IS SOUGHT ON BYRD'S BEHALF

Claim Filed Against Black Estate at Baltimore to Cover Trip Deficit.

Baltimore, March 16 (A.P.).—From the estate of Van Lear Black, newspaper publisher and aviation enthusiast, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, it was indicated today, is to obtain $25,000 toward the deficit from his expedition to the South Pole.

The existence of a note to Byrd from Black, written before the Byrd expedition started, promising $25,000, was revealed today with the filing of a claiming against the estate.

Jesse N. Bowen, attorney for the Black estate executor, filed the claim, and it was indicated that the heirs had agreed it should be paid.

Black's note was penned aboard his yacht, the Sabalo, from which he disappeared last August. Rear Admiral Byrd, his wife and his mother were aboard. The letter, dated September 21, 1928, said:

"Dear Dick—If upon your return from your Antarctic expedition you should be short of funds up to or any part of $25,000, I will supply that amount.

"If you do not return, I will send your wife $25,000 in full."

T. W. Rogan, who was Mr. Black's secretary, said today that the publisher did not approve of the Antarctic expedition because he thought the danger was too great, and tried in vain to dissuade Byrd from making the trip.

"He told Admiral Byrd he wouldn't give him 5 cents to help him commit suicide," Rogan recalled.

The former secretary said that last fall Byrd showed him the letter and asked what should be done.

"He expressed distaste for legal action," said Rogan. "The present suit is merely the form required by laws."

Mr. Black made aviation history with flights from northern Europe to Cape Town and to the Dutch West Indies. A few months after his return from a world trip by plane he disappeared from his yacht while en route from New York to the Chesapeake Bay.

• THE PACKARD DE LUXE EIGHT

Pre-eminent among fine cars throughout the entire world

Abroad, where motor car values are weighed more carefully and unhurriedly and where the American type of selling is almost unknown, Packard leadership and prestige are conclusively demonstrated year after year.

Of the cars sent overseas in 1930, Packard exported more than one-third of all the eighteen makes selling at the factory for $2000 or more. Packard sold abroad nearly twice as many cars as any other one make listing in its price class.

While at home—where sales competition is active and keen—Packard for the sixth consecutive year in 1930 delivered more new cars than any other manufacturer in the Packard price class.

Packard's masterpiece, of course, is the distinguished De Luxe Eight, acclaimed throughout the capitals of the world as the finest of all fine motor cars. Individual Custom models, built on the superb DeLuxe chassis, offer the very utmost in luxurious transportation—transportation of which the royalty, nobility, statesmen and men of affairs of every land are proud.

We cordially invite you to visit our show rooms and inspect at your leisure the Packard cars which are outstanding among both American and European makes in every quarter of the globe.

Florida Man Talks Way Out of Fine

Imbiber Offers to Pay Double Penalty; Court Takes His Bond.

Some of the famed Florida sunshine was exuded in Police Court when a native son of the Alligator State talked his way through a fine for intoxication yesterday in a manner that astonished the court veterans. James J. Scanlon was brought before Judge Ralph Given for having imbibed too freely.

The colloquoy went something like this: "This is a swell town, your honor. I was robbed of my clothing and the police got it back right away. This is sure a fine town. I like it."

"All right," his honor smiled. "Pay $10 and go home."

"I'll make it $20," Scanlon said, with a genuine note of friendliness.

"I'll take your personal bond," the judge retorted, and Scanlon left court quickly before any one could quite gather what it was all about.

INCOME RETURNS FOR 1929.

The income tax resume released by the Treasury deals with 1929. Taxpayers have just completed filing returns on their 1930 incomes. It would be interesting, indeed, to know what effect the depression had on incomes last year, but the public must wait patiently for another twelve months for that information. Compilation of these figures is a tremendous job. In the meantime it is interesting to take the measure of the boom year 1929.

Apparently the stock market crash in November, 1929, did not have a serious effect on incomes of that year. Both individuals and corporations had higher average incomes than in 1928. It was a prosperous year for both the millionaire and wage-earning citizen. The number of $1,000,000 incomes increased from 496 to 504. On the other hand, the total number of persons filing returns surpassed the similar figures for 1928. The number of returns filed were 2.12 per cent greater, while the total net income advanced only 0.62 per cent. This seems to indicate a general advance, instead of further concentration of wealth in the hands of a few.

It is worthy of note that 3,065,701, or 76 per cent of all the returns, were on incomes less than $5,000. The net income of this class amounted to 34 per cent of the total, but it paid only 0.45 per cent of the total tax. In sharp contrast, the 504 "supermillionaires" paid nearly 19 per cent of the tax. These figures indicate how small is the contribution of the average man to the upkeep of the Federal Government. Only about 1 in every 50 individuals pays any Federal income tax, and three-fourths of that number pay only nominal sums.

The average net income was $6,077, and the aggregate net income was $24,519,296,977. That is a stupendous sum, even in a prosperous year in America. When the $10,261,307,144 aggregate net income of corporations is added these figures make an interesting study in billions.

The Treasury estimates a reduction of about 16 per cent in the aggregate 1930 incomes, but the exact effect of the depression remains to be calculated.

RED CROSS DROUGHT RELIEF.

Nowhere in the wide world is the coming of spring and the chance for new yields from gardens and fields so eagerly desired as in the drought-stricken regions of the central United States. This area includes Arkansas and contiguous areas of Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas. Already in some of the more southerly sections planting is under way, and the Red Cross has distributed 2,000,000 packages of garden seed.

The magnitude of the work carried on by the Red Cross, beginning eight months ago, can not be appreciated by the casual reader. In February of this year the number of persons who were dependent upon the Red Cross for food and clothing reached 1,000,000, five times as many as were aided in the great floods that visited parts of the same area in 1927.

The floods submerged 170 counties, but 800 counties were baked brown and hard by the cruel fate that withheld all rain for many months. As long ago as last August the Red Cross dedicated its entire disaster reserve to drought relief, as a supplement to local funds. The President's relief committees inaugurated plans for employment, credit and reduction of freight rates. Seed for pasturage was distributed to over 58,000 families, and garden seed to 27,000, which enabled them to plant 240,000 acres.

Up to the middle of November the need of assistance from the Red Cross was confined to a comparatively small number of families, as food reserves had not been entirely exhausted and cotton picking and other labor afforded some income. With the coming of winter the situation was quickly aggravated, and by the end of December the Red Cross was called upon to feed and clothe 225,000 individuals in 328 counties.

More than 35,000 volunteers have been assisting in this work, with 8,000 in Arkansas alone. These workers gave up private affairs entirely to work without pay in the relief cause.

Reports from the field of operations state the situation is now clearly defined, and that the $15,000,000 available will be ample to carry on the work. Relief operations will be necessary until the official loan plans are working, so that agriculture can get needed credit when warm weather permits planting and early gardens are bearing, and when employment has opened up. The provisioning program doubtless will be gradually reduced during this month and next. The Red Cross, however, sets no date for ending the great work it is doing, but simply says, "As long as the needs are present the Red Cross will be on the job."

AN ATTACK ON CONSERVATION.

An explanation of its stand on the conservation of American petroleum reserves is due from the Federal Oil Conservation Board. The original purpose of this board, was to suggest means of reducing the uneconomic drainage upon oil reservoirs in the United States. Now the board is engaged in negotiations with producers in foreign countries to limit their shipments of oil to this country, so that domestic exploitation can proceed at a more rapid pace.

This sudden change of policy came about without any explanation from the board. Only last year the board investigated the potential crude oil supply in the United States and arrived at this conclusion:

> It matters not whether the oil reserves of the United States are five times a billion barrels or twenty times a billion barrels, the supply is limited and can not be increased. Even the most generous estimates place the date at which our oil reserves will be practically depleted, under present rates of consumption, in the comparatively near future. In the interests of national defense and industrial prosperity this generation should not be permitted to waste this irreplaceable natural product and thus seriously handicap future generations of Americans.

In a previous report the board called attention to the fact that the United States is producing about 68 per cent of the petroleum used throughout the world in spite of the fact that this country has only about 18 per cent of the potential world supply. Referring to this as a dangerous situation, the board suggested a remedy in the following language:

> The depletion of our own resources can be brought more into accord with that of foreign resources in only one way, by importing a greater amount of crude petroleum. * * * Cooperation in the development of foreign oil fields, through technical assistance, and the further investment of American capital, would seem to be a logical conservation measure.

How can the board reconcile its present attempt to restrain imports with the foregoing statement? Since that report was written imports of petroleum and its products have decreased, while exports have increased. The United States is selling to other countries 50 per cent more oil than it is buying. Yet the "conservation" board comes out with a plan to reduce imports. Does the board think oil producers should be given assistance in exhausting the domestic supply as soon as possible, so that American consumers will be at the mercy of foreign monopolies? This attitude becomes extraordinarily strange when the board promotes an agreement of questionable legality in order to restrain oil imports.

PROGRESSIVE REBELLION.

The recent Progressive conference was held under remarkably firm control and restraint by the promoters and managers, Senators Norris and Borah, who confined its deliberations to a carefully cut and dried program.

Since its adjournment, however, disgruntled murmurings come from many who claim they have more right to be known as Progressive leaders than the self-appointed leaders of the round tables. The general complaint by the "other" leaders of advanced thought is that the conference side-stepped vital issues and that it could hardly be considered progressive at all.

Thus the senatorial progressives are placed in reverse from the position they occupy in the upper house. Instead of being the "advanced" minority in the current Progressive movement they find themselves conservative leaders, under the necessity of restraining the demands of the extremists.

Will they take advantage of the rare opportunity of seeing themselves as others see them? The conscientious objectors to Senator Norris' conservative style of Progressive conference are annoying, for they claim to be consistent Progressives all the time—not Democrats once in four years, Republicans between elections, and Progressives two days a year during round-table week.

The insurgent idea of a party within a party and Sovieting and Democratizing on the side becomes more complicated. Senator Norris may have to apply to Senator Watson for tips as to the best means of getting along with cantankerous radicals.

FOR PROFITLESS WAR.

Promptly, and from no less an authority than the man who organized the War Industries Board during the World War, Bernard M. Baruch, comes a plan whereby the profits can be taken out of war without the necessity of a constitutional amendment.

In common with all sane citizens, Mr. Baruch holds the belief that war ought to be avoided if possible; but that, since war may come, this country should perfect a plan in advance, so that "we shall meet the enemy with our maximum effectiveness, with the least possible injury and violence to our people, and in a manner which shall avoid inflation and waste."

This report on policies to provide for industrial mobilization, elimination of profiteering and equalization of the burdens of war has been submitted to the joint Cabinet and congressional commission constituted by the last Congress.

The method and basis of price fixing is a first consideration in time of war. Some measure of price and profit must be decided upon. "The obvious norm," Mr. Baruch suggests, "is the whole price structure as it existed on some antecedent date near to the declaration of war, on which the normal operation of the natural law of supply and demand can be said to have controlled prices. That determined, we need a method of freezing the whole price structure at that level * * * by proclamation to decree that every price in the whole national pattern as of that determined date shall be the maximum that may thenceforth be charged for anything—rents, wages, interest rates, commissions, fees—in short, for every item and service in commerce. * * * In modern war administrative control must replace the law of supply and demand."

Mr. Baruch answers the charge of many failures by nations to fix prices by showing that the American war policy did succeed, even when inaugurated "after rampant inflation had run away with our economic structure."

The next heading, discussed in its many ramifications, is the "adequate supply of our fighting forces of every item in the vast congeries and astonishing volume of things required for modern armies, navies and air fleets, when they want it, where they want it, and in the quantities they want it."

The author finds, naturally, that it is impracticable to maintain in peace a central agency to control industrial mobilization. Congress has charged the Assistant Secretary of War with the duty of making plans to this end, but Mr. Baruch believes that this is an economic problem requiring the ablest leadership in industry, and entirely unsuited to military administration. Industry will provide the experienced men to handle three great questions—determination of priorities, control over commandeering, and fixing prices of basic commodities.

The control of money during the World War was intrusted to a capital issue committee, which passed upon the sale of all securities in the money market, and the War Finance Corporation was created to provide Federal financial assistance to essential enterprises. It is proposed that manpower, aside from the selective service quotas, should be controlled as during the late war, to the extent that the interdiction or curtailment of less essential enterprises and the whole priority and conservation programs affected by the supply of labor should be in the control of a central agency.

It is proposed, of course, that a War Trade Board, as in 1917-18, should have complete control of exports and imports. Other necessary war administrations would deal with food, fuel, shipping and railroads. For the organization of these and the other subdivisions under a central authority.

Mr. Baruch has made a valuable contribution toward the organization of a central control agency to come into operation at the outset of war. There will be general agreement with his conclusion:

> Considering the obvious fact that the military aspirations of this Nation will never disturb the peace of the world, the mere acceptance of (and deliberate provision for) the kind of organization here suggested would go very far toward keeping the peace of the world.

ST. PATRICK

By DONALD ATTWATER,
In the Commonweal.

For a long time now the birthplace of St. Patrick has been a matter of keen controversy, though perhaps it is known to but few Irishmen that their great apostle was certainly not of Irish birth or parentage. In his "Confession" the saint himself tells us that he was born at "Banna Venta Aber" and that his father, whose name was Calpurnius, had a villa at "Enon," whence sea raiders carried Patrick off to Ireland.

Banna Venta Aber is, as a rule, identified with Kilpatrick, near Dumbarton in Scotland; but some researchers have tried to find it in Glamorgan in Wales, others at Daventry in England, and elsewhere. Port Eynon in Gower has sometimes been fixed on as Enon, but it is very doubtful if this name is so old as the fifth century. Now Mr. Kyrle Fletcher, an Englishman, living in South Wales, has come forward with a new identification, and claims to find Banna Venta Aber at Abergavenny in Monmouthshire. Banna Venta is Welsh for "the hills of Gwent" and aber means "the junction;" for example, Abergavenny itself is "the junction of the Gavenny" (with the Usk); and the only place in Gwent that fits this description is this same Abergavenny. Moreover, in the Antonine itinerary this town is called Gobannio, and elsewhere Bannuim or Gobannuim. And Bannium in Gwent must be St. Patrick's Banna Venta.

But what about Enon, where the villa of Calpurnius was situated? This is not so apparently obvious, but Mr. Fletcher has a theory which is none the less plausible for being ingenious. In the "lives of the saint there are references to his going to a place sometimes called Arnon; sometimes Mount Arnon, an island in the Tyrrhenian Sea; sometimes Mount Hermon, in Syria. Wherever it was, this Arnon was near a "six-walled city."

Some twenty miles from Abergavenny is the small town of Caerleon, a place of great importance in Roman Britain, when it was a walled city situated on the Via Julia, and the headquarters of a legion. It was the chief city of King Arthur, and here he is said to have been crowned by the archbishop, St. Dubricius (Dyfrig). Now near to Caerleon is a village called today Llantarnam, and formerly known as Cil Sant Arnon, "the cell of St. Arnon." Mr. Fletcher identifies Llantarnam with Arnon, and assumes the Arnon and Enon of the "lives" of St. Patrick to be one and the same place. He points out that there is nothing unlikely, but rather the contrary, in the idea of Calpurnius, the decurion at Abergavenny, having a villa on the outskirts of Caerleon, the then military center of those parts; which was, moreover, readily accessible to Irish and other sea rovers raiding up the Severn estuary, of whose depredations in that neighborhood we have records.

In dealing with Celtic countries one always looks for traces of the saints in place names. Now in South Wales "Patrick" is a rare element in such names, except around what we now call St. David's, the Menapia of the Romans and Hen Meneu of the Welsh; there is no question of St. Patrick's having been born in Dyfed, and outside that district Abergavenny is one of the few places where the saint's name is found. It is in the neighboring village of Govilon, where there is a "Ffynnon Badrig," that is "Patrick's well," which until recently was the sole water supply of the place.

Should it ever be definitely established that St. Patrick was born at Abergavenny, this market town of Monmouthshire, "the gate of Wales" surrounded by its mountains, will have the distinction of being associated with the patron saints of two of the Celtic lands. For it was only eleven miles away, in the Black Mountains, that the great St. David built himself a hermitage and gave his name to the place where afterward the Canons Regular built a monastery, Llandewinanthonddhu, "the church of David on the brook Honddhu," now contracted to Llanthony.

Progresives' Idea of Progress.

POST HASTE.

Just arranging for the political and commercial future of Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, with ten whole days to do it in, will seem like a vacation to President Hoover.

Assassination of premiers and red envoys shows modern progress in Japan over the limitations of the old, remorseful hari-kari.

Senator Ham Lewis' political avocation is making suave and superficially innocuous statements—but they do stir up the animals.

Senator Norris has no plans for organizing a third party—not while he can have his little synthetic Progressive Senate and eat his Republican cake, too.

Arithmetical arguments will never cease on the part of the wets, who add the cost of enforcement to loss of revenue to match increased saving deposits and happier homes.

While in Porto Rico the President might ascertain definitely whether one Roosevelt can be absolved from Senator Norris' cryptic allusions.

An American is named secret chamberlain to the Pope. It's a good thing not to trust the Europeans.

Peewee golf courses must be a godsend to Porto Rico and the Virgins, the former being one-third the size of Maryland, while the Virgies are but twice the size of D. C.

George Washington said: "The Constitution enjoins that the will of the majority shall prevail." What senator will bring an injunction against the word "enjoin?"

We commend the President's trip around Washington before embarking for furrin' ports. See Washington First!

A tip for Peru: Bolivia has started paying officials by the day for days worked—and no bonus.

Cheer up! Henry Ford can only wear one suit of clothes and eat three meals a day, while John D. wears three suits, but can eat only once.

Andy Mellon knew last week that the Treasury was going to handle over three billion dollars yesterday, and that two-thirds of it would be coming in and only one-third going out. Nice to be able to figure out a little business like that in advance, isn't it?

Senator La Follette? Yes, he was at the Progressive conference, but too young and inexperienced to get hold of either of the spotlights. F. H.

JUST FOLKS

THE CURE.

I used to look with wistful face
Upon the druggist's candy case
Until he gave the job to me
His willing messenger to be.
And said: "Whenever I employ
A little bright-eyed errand boy
I lead him to the candy dish
And say to him: 'Eat all you wish!'

"I shall not care how much you eat
If you will keep the showcase neat.
I want you now to bear in mind
That daily must the glass be shined.
And when you've nothing else to do
I think it would be well if you
Would overlook the candy case
And see that everything's in place."

Oh, happy fortune for a boy!
Oh, task that carried so much joy!
All day it seemed from jar and tray
I carried some delight away.
All day on something sweet I munched,
At noon on nougat bars I lunched.
By night when merchants close their shops
I'd stuffed myself on chocolate drops.

But when to work I next returned
For candy I no longer yearned.
I'd shine the glass and change the trays
And rearrange the sweet displays.
In bag or box the stuff I'd sell
And even shiver at the smell.
The druggist winked and said: "It seems You've lost your taste for chocolate creams."

The Time to House Bees in a Better Hive Is While They Are Swarming.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

PRESENT-DAY America is like soft clay in the hands of a potter. At no other time within the memory of this generation has it been in a state so easily influenced by good or evil.

And this is the reason and the explanation.

All great wars, as you know, are followed by a period of moral laxity—a time of running amuck.

That is the penalty society pays for disrupting settled habits of thought and arousing passions commonly lulled to sleep.

Before the war Americans traveled in established and comfortable ruts. They were ruled by mental habits hallowed by time and custom.

Sobriety was a mental habit.

Religion was a rut.

Respect for law—especially Federal law—was a mental rut worn deep by the years.

A horror of murder was a mental habit as universal as it was natural.

Respect for women, scorn of drunkenness, belief in the power of government, contempt for thieves, faith in virtue—all these were mental ruts developed by natural evolution and therefore fixed and enduring.

The war changed everything. It blasted a civilization out of its ruts. It disrupted all established ways. It destroyed old faiths.

The reaction that followed was as inevitable as the fall of a stone thrown into the air.

As a woman guards her virtue as her most precious possession, but, having surrendered it, never thereafter is equally reluctant, so men forced to overcome their natural abhorrence of taking human life came out of the war no longer afraid to kill.

People goaded to a frenzy of patriotism, self-denial and self-restraint were like prisoners turned loose when the war ended; and the force of the reaction carried them pell-mell to the other extreme of cynicism, self-indulgence and scorn of authority.

But even more significant was the fact that docile millions, long accustomed to rut travel, were jarred to the surface and left to run and skip, crawl and grope, without a path or a guide—drunk with new freedom, running amuck for want of a settled habit to hold them in line.

The juices that boiled and bubbled in the caldron of madness haven't yet jelled.

We live in a time of intellectual, moral and spiritual chaos, when nobody seems certain about anything. It is a state that must continue until new ruts are found.

Time and natural processes will establish new mental habits suited to the new order, and it is while these habits are in the making that good or evil can influence the Nation as never before in this era.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party.

Their question to Smith whether he was for Roosevelt in 1932 was a legitimate question and Smith's reply that it was too early yet to determine on candidates was a legitimate reply—if he felt that way.

Gen. Pershing Rendering Great Service by Showing Up War Situation—Why Allies Did Not Want Separate American Army.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read your editorial about Pershing being criticised for his frank way of telling the actual relations of the allies and America in the war, and the fear expressed in some quarters that Franco-American relations will suffer in consequence. Gen Pershing should be commended instead of blamed, because he is rendering a great service to our people, if they will profit by it, which is of far more importance than maintaining any Alphonse and Gaston relations between us and the French.

It is self-evident that the allies simply wanted our boys for cannon fodder to fill their ranks. They never wanted us to have an independent army, for fear we would get some credit for the victory and be in a position to interfere with their division of the spoils.

There was a time when I felt some pride in the fact that I am of French descent, but the conduct of the French during and since the war has disgusted me and convinced me she is not the France of old. * * *

The light Pershing is throwing upon our relation with our so-called allies should be a warning to us to have as little to do with them as possible beyond the maintenance and promotion of commercial intercourse for mutual material advantage and profit.

The world court and the League of Nations are nothing but cunningly devised schemes to get us entangled in their political affairs, and for the purpose of robbing us when and as often as the opportunity presents itself. A. S. L.

Brilliant Englishwoman Suggests That America Is High-Hatting Russia.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Will you permit just a mite of family criticism from a neighbor? Haven't you noticed that Grandma, who writes your editorials on Russia, is growing just the least bit senile? Perhaps if you could keep the old lady home from a few gatherings of her beloved D. A. R. and other refuges of the elderly who have developed a tremendous feeling of inadequacy and insecurity due to their advancing years, perhaps she might become a little saner and more intelligent. And remind the old girl that we were once something of a hellion ourselves among the nations—I believe that the czar, among others, wouldn't allow his children to speak to us for some 40 years—and that, like all other flaming youth, we have gotten over it nicely as we developed responsibilities and have become properly conservative as we have acquired something to preserve. Do remind the old lady that just before the World War we had gotten into such a lather over the way that same czar was treating his children that we had broken our oldest treaty with him, and we hated him so that President Wilson had to wait till there was some change of government before he could bring us in on the side of Russia. We must make allowances, after all, for others who haven't had our advantages. And tell Grandma that when they have mixed a little more with society they will probably be more rigid than Emily Post herself on the conventions. It always happens that way when people come up in the world.

A Good Chance for Congress to Change a Bad Habit.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In your issue today our leading columnist says, "The world has to make slow progress in reversing a policy of ages," (thirteen words). In these days of enforced economy in all things, the syndicate might have saved twelve dollars if it had accepted the trite expression. "Change old habits slowly—even bad ones," (seven words).

In this connection, if Congress wants to change an old habit gradually, why not reimburse retired officers for some twelve years of deflated pay and let promotion be settled later. In another ten years or so, most of us will not need increase in pay—over there.

Gen. Pershing's Stand for Separate American Army Averted a Tragedy, Says a Reader.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Permit me to thank you for your splendid editorial, "Pershing Stood Firm," in reference to the general's great service to his country in insisting upon the use of the United States forces as a United States Army.

In reading Gen. Pershing's history of the war from day to day I have been impressed with the almost daily struggle that confronted him on account of his determination that the United States forces should be used en masse instead of as stopgaps for our allies' armies. Even with the winning of the war such a use of our forces would have been a tragedy for the United States. D. S. S.

BOTH PARTIES GET WARNING OF DANGER

Johnson Tells Republicans to Be Careful; Ayres Cautions Democrats.

was obviously a verbal crack at Senator Watson (Republican) of Indiana, and Senator Dickinson (Republican) of Iowa.

Stock-taking Advised.

"The Republicans in command of the party machinery," he said, "may jib and jeer; but let them take stock of the Republican party.

"Less than six months have passed since New York was lost to the Republicans by three-quarters of a million votes, and Illinois by a like number; since Massachusetts and Ohio, the cradle of Republican Presidents, repudiated Republicanism; since Kansas, the rock-ribbed Gibralter of the Republican party, defeated even the acknowledged spokesman of the President.

"If politics only are to be considered, let my Republican brethren reflect that something is radically wrong somewhere. Somebody should ascertain what it is.

Cause for Reflection.

"Recent events demonstrate that there is a real occasion and necessity for study, reflection and conference of those who so loudly proclaim and pretend a deep and abiding affection for the Republican party, and ample opportunity, if their prime consideration is party and principle instead of personality, for the exercise of their vaunted political talents."

Representative Ayres, in urging his party to sidestep a declaration on prohibition, was echoing the sentiment not only of the drys but quite a few wets, one of whom is the wringing wet Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois.

Mr. Ayres said that prohibition was a "sham" political issue so far as a presidential campaign is concerned.

"In the first place," he said, "the President of the United States has no more to say about what shall be the policy of the country, whether wet or dry, whether the eighteenth amendment shall be retained, modified or repealed, than any private citizen.

Course of Amendments.

"Amendments to the Constitution, whenever they are to be considered, are proposed by the Congress, and are passed upon by the States in the way provided by the Constitution. If ratified by three-fourths of the States, they become operative. The President has no veto power, no voice in the matter whatsoever." Therefore, Mr. Ayres said, the prohibition issue should be confined to States and to congressional districts.

The warning issued by Representative Ayres was aimed only at the idea of placing a prohibition declaration in the platform; it was not aimed at any wet candidate.

There are any number of Democratic drys—Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, for example—who already are ready to support Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, a wet.

Wet Plank Dangers.

Representative Ayres said that a wet plank would be repudiated by many Democrats "in such States as Kansas, Nebraska, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and many others, and it would have to be repudiated by our party's candidates for the House and Senate in those States, or their defeat would surely follow."

"On the other hand," he said, "should the platform contain a plank declaring for even more vigorous suppression of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages, it would be repudiated by Democratic candidates for the House and Senate in such States as New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey and others.

"So, on the grounds of expediency, a declaration on the prohibition question in any particular would be fatal to the party's prospects next year and, in all probability, would create such a breach that it would require many years to heal.

"However, my opposition to such a plank is based on a higher ground than mere expediency, and that is that prohibition should not be considered a political but a moral and social problem that will be solved not only more quickly, but more satisfactorily, by keeping it out of a national campaign, where there is always a great intensity of feeling."

Inauguration of the signal lights will not be possible, however, until an appropriation has been provided, and this will not be forthcoming until the next annual District appropriation bill is considered in the December session of the new Congress.

Cost of the supplementary light system has not been worked out in detail, Maj. Pratt said, and whether the requisite money will be provided will depend on many things, including the District Commissioners, the Budget Bureau and Congress.

WIDOW MAY SURVIVE SUICIDE MATE'S SHOT

believed he may have obtained during one of his Western trips in line of duty.

Mrs. Von Bayer, still conscious, staggered from her apartment to the apartment of a neighbor, Mrs. Mildred E. Bruner, across the hall, and screamed that she had been shot. She then tottered back to the living room where her husband lay, and flung herself across his body.

A few minutes later, when Policeman J. Mills, of the Fourteenth Precinct, entered the apartment, having been summoned by the janitor, Emmett Crawford, who had heard the shots, he found Mrs. Von Bayer moaning in a pool of blood. A trail of blood led from the living room to the apartment across the hall, mute testimony of Mrs. Von Bayer's effort to summon aid.

At Emergency Hospital, where she was taken, Mrs. Von Bayer told police that her husband had determined to kill himself because of ill health and, that after she had failed to dissuade him, she had begged him to end her life as well.

So far as police can surmise, Mr. Von Bayer acceded to his wife's request without much argument. The suicide and attempted murder climaxed a morning of planning, judging from the general appearance of the artistically furnished apartment.

Laid out on a grand piano were a number of checks apparently made out in payment for bills. Mr. Von Bayer was garbed in pajamas and a green dressing gown. Mrs. Von Bayer was in negligee.

Mr. Von Bayer's ill health dates back to 1924 when he suffered a nervous breakdown and was given sick leave of about a year, it was learned from members of the Indian Service. He returned to work and occasionally had a slight recurrence of his illness, it was said. One of these relapses occurred about a month ago. He was granted leave which expired this week.

The Von Bayer's returned from a health resort at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., on Sunday and Sunday night Mrs. von Bayer told J. P. Kinney, chief of the Forestry Division, in a telephonic conversation, that her husband would return to work this week, it was learned.

Friends and office associates of Mr. von Bayer had been perturbed over his condition for some time, and, knowing that he kept an old service revolver in his apartment, had endeavored to persuade him to get rid of the weapon, it was revealed.

Mr. von Bayer was born in Washington, went to local public schools and then to Cornell and Yale Universities. He served five years in the Forestry Division of the Agriculture Department and then, in 1910, entered the Indian Bureau of the Department of the Interior.

He met Mrs. Von Bayer while studying in Germany. She was Miss Grete Lorieberg. A talented musician, she gave piano lessons, and a number of pupils came to the apartment for instruction. A brother, Richard Lorieberg, of 1741 Q street northwest, is a cellist in a local orchestra. He arrived at the apartment shortly after the tragedy.

Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt issued a certificate of suicidal death in the demise of Mr. von Bayer. Funeral services will be announced later.

Vice President Guest of Mills At Big Dinner

Farewell Luncheon for Envoy Amaral at Chilean Embassy.

BLUE Monday, with its darkened skies, mounted to a day of "hail and farewell" in the world of society yesterday when embassies on Sixteenth street and Massachusetts avenue vied with each other in the assemblage of distinguished dinner and luncheon guests and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills on Eighteenth street was the scene of a brilliant fete in honor of the Vice President. With Mr. Curtis just returned from a holiday in Florida and with every one regretfully counting the days here of the Brazilian Ambassador, who will retire from his post to take up new duties at Tokyo, society is crowding the so-called dull days of Lent straight up to the "little season."

The Brazilian Ambassador was the guest in whose honor the Chilean Ambassador and Mme. Davila gave a luncheon and at night Senhor S. Gurgel do Amaral was among the guests of the Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Padilla at a small dinner at the embassy.

The Undersecretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Mills had as their guests to greet Mr. Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, the Ambassador of Poland and Mme. Fillipowicz, the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Gen. John J. Pershing, Representative and Mrs. James S. Parker, the newly appointed Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Arthur A. Ballantine, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury Blair, Mr. and Mrs. George B. McClellan, Miss Mabel Boardman, Mrs. Truxtun Beale, Mrs. Bryce Allen, Mr. Leland Harrison and Mr. R. Frank Kent.

The Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Padilla entertained at dinner with the Mexican Ambassador and Senora de Tellez as ranking guests. The others were the Brazilian Ambassador, Senhor S. Gurgal do Amaral; the Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Debuchi, the Minister of Nicaragua and Senora de Sacasa, Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, Brig. Gen. Charles MacCawley, Senora de Riano, wife of the former Spanish Ambassador; Mrs. Eldridge Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. John Philip Hill, Mrs. C. C. Glover, jr.; the Second Secretary of the British Embassy and Mrs. Michael Hurley; the First Secretary of the British Embassy, M. Jules Henry; Mr. and Mrs. McClure Kelley, Miss Elizabeth Roberts, the Military Attache of the Spanish Embassy and Senora de Planell, the First Secretary of the Embassy, Senor Don Jose Ricardo Gomez Aceba, and the Second Secretary of the Embassy, Senor Don Ramon Padilla y Satrustegui.

The Ambassador and Senora de Padilla had as their guest over the week-end Senor Heraclio Alfaro, who has returned to Philadelphia, where he is one of the executives of the autogyro corporation.

The Spanish Consul General in New York, Senor Emilio Zapico y Zarraluqui, passed yesterday in Washington at the embassy.

Cuba also came into the limelight with the Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara, the honor guests of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim, who entertained at their home in Bethesda. Their guests were the Czechoslovakian Minister and Mme. Veverka; Baron Eugen Hauenschield, Counselor of the Austrian Legation, and Baroness Hauenschield; the Solicitor General and Mrs. Thomas D. Thacher, and Maj. and Mrs. John B. Anderson, U. S. A.

Mrs. Clarence M. Stone, who has been spending several months in Washington at the Brighton, has left for Quincy, Mass., where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Commander and Mrs. F. G. Crist.

Mrs. Stone will sail for Europe April 17, for an indefinite visit.

Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Lewis P. Clephane will leave Washington by motor Thursday morning for St. Petersburg and other points in Florida. En route they will visit in Atlanta several days, and on their return will stop in Charleston.

MISS BETTY DENHAM

is spending some time in Washington as the guest of Miss Elvira Johnson, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Alfred W. Johnson. Miss Denham is the daughter of Lieut. James L. Denham and Mrs. Denham, who are at their post in Nicaagua.

O'Connors Sail From Florida To New York

Shipping Board Chairman Expected Here This Week.

Mr. T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, and Mrs. O'Connor will arrive in Washington early this week after a winter holiday in Miami Beach, Fla. They sailed for New York on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor plan to spend Easter at their home in Buffalo.

During their stay in the South Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor went on a long fishing cruise in the Everglade region. Recently they were guests at a dinner given by Mr. Albert D. Lasker, former chairman of the United States Shipping Board, and Mrs. Lasker in honor of the Vice President, Mr. Charles Curtis.

The Chilean Ambassador and Mme. Davila gave a luncheon yesterday in honor of the Brazilian Ambassador, Senor S. Gurgel do Amaral, who will not leave Washington until the end of this month, when he will go to New York for several days before sailing on April 9 via the Panama Canal for the Orient. The new Ambassador and Senhora Lima e Silva will leave Mexico City, March 31, and will arrive in Washington April 4.

The Ambassador and Mme. Davila had as their other guests the Ambassador of Japan and Mme. Debuchi, the Argentine Ambassador and Mme. Malbran, the Minister of Uruguay and Mme. Vareia, the Charge d'Affaires of the Egyptian Legation and Mme. Aly Ismail Bey, the First Secretary of the Chilean Embassy, Senor Don Oscar Blanco Viel; the Director General of the Pan-American Union, Dr. Leo S. Rowe; the Second Secretary of the Brazilian Embassy, Senhor Mauro de Freitas; the Secretary and Mme. Chermont, also of the Brazilian Embassy; the Second Secretary of the Argentine Embassy, Senor Eduardo Vivot; Mr. and Mrs. Spruille Braden, of New York, who are guests at the Chilean Embassy; Mr. and Mrs. George Abell, and Senor Acario Cotapos, Chilean composer.

Senor Cotapos came from Paris especially to hear Stokowski play his Fourth Prelude during the March concert of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. Later he will go to Spain to hear the Polish conductor play his opus there.

Representative and Mrs. Charles B. Timberlake entertained a small company at dinner last evening at the Shoreham Hotel.

Maj. and Mrs. Allen M. Burdett entertained at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel last evening. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. W. Bateson and Mr. and Mrs. James Murdock.

Country Club Entertains for Dr. Bloodgood

Distinguished People at Luncheon Lecture to Women Members.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman entertained at luncheon yesterday at the National Woman's Country Club in honor of Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodwood, of Baltimore. Other guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman were Rear Admiral William Ledyard Rodgers, the Counselor of the Austrian Legation, and Mme. Hauenschield, the President of George Washington University and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Judge and Mrs. J. Harry Covington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denby, Col. and Mrs. Alexander Gregor, Mr. and Mrs. Maxim Karolik, Mr. and Mrs. George Chandler, of Philadelphia; Mrs. McCormick-Goodhart, Mrs. Robert Giles, Mrs. Hamilton Fish and her house guest, Miss Jessie Thompson; Mrs. Rushmore Patterson, Miss Janet Fish, Miss Eleanor Tucker, Miss Anne Tucker, Dr. Stewart and Mr. Keohan, both of Baltimore.

Mrs. Bloodgood was the guest of honor of Mrs. George F. Becker, who entertained also in her luncheon party Mrs. Harlan F. Stone, Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, Mrs. Charles P. George, Mrs. John B. Kendrick, Mrs. Karl Klemm, Miss Bessie Kibbey, Mrs. George C. Thorpe, Mrs. John Lord O'Brian, Miss Cushing, Mrs. Lindsay Russell, Mrs. Lewis Stewart, Mrs. John C. Fremont, Mrs. Carroll Mercer, Mrs. William Compton, Dr. Grace Purse, Mrs. Faison and Mrs. Norman Underwood.

Many other luncheon parties also were arranged for this event, which included following luncheon, a talk by Dr. Bloodgood on the subject of cancer.

Mrs. Cooley to Give Luncheon Tomorrow.

Mrs. H. M. Cooley, wife of Commander Cooley, will be hostess to a party of twenty at luncheon tomorrow at the Shoreham Hotel.

Brig. Gen. Henry C. Whitehead has as his guest at Wardman Park Hotel his daughter, Miss Louis Whitehead, who will be with him for several days.

A farewell supper was given in honor of Mr. Phillips H. Lord, known as Seth Parker, in the Fairfax room of the Willard last night.

The engagement of Mrs. Isabella Childs Mahan, of New York and Los Angeles, to Mr. Fabius Busby Pendleton, of Warrenton, N. C. is announced.

Mrs. Mahan is the daughter of the late Daniel Brewer Childs, New York attorney. She is a graduate of Miss Spence's school and Stanford University. Mr. Pendleton attended Episcopal High School and Georgia School of Technology. The wedding will take place in the spring, although no definite date has been chosen.

Mrs. John E. McClure will entertain in the Crystal room of the Willard on Friday, preceding the Friday evening dancing class.

Andrews Nursery Card Party Tomorrow.

The annual card party of the Mira McCoy Andrews Day Nursery will be held at the Willard Hotel, tomorrow, at 2 o'clock. The card party is being sponsored by Mrs. Charles L. Henry, president; Mrs. Charles C. Davis, vice president, and chairman of the card party; Mrs. Phillip G. Affleck, Mrs. Thomas B. Gardner, Mrs. Colin Livingston, Mrs. Sarah E. Deeds, Mrs. Elmer Goss, Mrs. David S. Snyder, Mrs. Walter Jett, and Mrs. LeRoy Palmer. Mrs. Archie D. Engel, assisted by Mrs. Goss, will be in charge of the candy table.

Miss Rebecca Worthington entertained informally at luncheon yesterday at the Shoreham Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Max George Dennison Prentice were hosts to a party of twelve at bridge and supper on Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar P. Allen. Among the guests were Capt. and Mrs. William P. Bullis, Mr. and Mrs. Ceren R. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. William Kerlin and Dr. and Mrs. Arnold McNitt.

Winships Back In City From Copenhagen

Werlich Is Coming Here From Warsaw to Go to Costa Rica.

The United States Consul General to Copenhagen, Denmark, Mr. Norris Winship, and Mrs. Winship have returned to Washington for a vacation and will go shortly to their home in Macon, Ga.

Other news of our foreign service officials is that Mr. Percival McCeney Werlich, Third Secretary of the Embassy in Warsaw, has been transferred as Third Secretary of the United States Legation in San Jose, Costa Rica. Mr. Werlich will not leave Warsaw for several weeks, and on his arrival in this country will come to Washington to join Mrs. Werlich, who has been here for several months visiting her mother, Mrs. Robert Hinckley. After a period of leave Mr. and Mrs. Werlich will go to their new post in the charming city of San Jose, where Mr. Werlich will be secretary at the legation, and with the minister, Mr. Charles C. Eberhardt, will complete the staff.

Maj. William E. Shipp, former assistant military attache in Rome, has returned to Washington and is passing a few weeks' leave here before going to Fort Riley, Kans., where he has been detailed to duty.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wolflin are at the Martinique, having come by motor from their home in Los Angeles. They plan to remain for several months while Mr. Wolflin is on tempororay duty in the Department of Commerce, Bureau of Mines.

The Mothers' Club of St. James' Catholic Church, Mount Rainier, Md., will give its annual St. Patrick's card party in the auditorium, Thirty-seventh street and Rhode Island avenue today at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Rose Magruder and Mrs. Regina Moran will be hostesses assisted by Mrs. H. L. Landolt, Mrs. Stephen Latchford, Mrs. C. F. Horan, Mrs. Elizabeth Longcor, Mrs. Mary Bailey and Mrs. John F. White.

Senora de Riano, wife of the former Ambassador of Spain, who has been the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Anderson, will leave today for her home in Newport, after spending two weeks in Washington.

Easter Week To Be Marked By Weddings

Brides Will Include Two Diplomatic Daughters and Miss Adams.

Saturday, April 11, bids fair to be a gala day, for two "diplomatic daughters" have chosen it for their wedding day. The Military Attache of the Cuban Embassy and Senora de Prieto have issued invitations for the marriage of the latter's daughter, Senorita Lucia Esperanza Tesada-Guzman, to Mr. James Foster Willett, April 11, at 4 o'clock in St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

The other wedding will be that of Countess Alice Szechenyi, daughter of the Hungarian Minister and Countess Szechenyi who has chosen the day for her marriage, but as yet has made no further plans.

Another wedding to take place Easter week, will be that of Miss Nancy James Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Graves Adams, to Mr. Walter Scott Watson. The ceremony will be performed in St. Alban's Church on Wednesday afternoon, April 8, after which there will be a small reception at the Washington Club.

Miss Adams will have as her maid of honor, Miss Susan Kintner, daughter of Capt. Edwin Kintner, U. S. N., and Mrs. Kintner, who was a sister debutante of Miss Adams. The bridesmaids will be Miss Elizabeth Dunlop, Miss Starr Eaton, Miss Mary Martha Wren, Miss Janet Murray, Miss Katherine Yates, and Miss Katherine Stringer.

Mr. Watson will have his brother, Mr. Kenneth Watson, for his best man, and his ushers will be Mr. Jack Hayes, Mr. Daniel Thew Wright 3d, Mr. Woodruff Post, Dr. Edward O'Brien, Mr. John Mustard, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Fred James Meade, of Danville, Va., a cousin of Miss Adams.

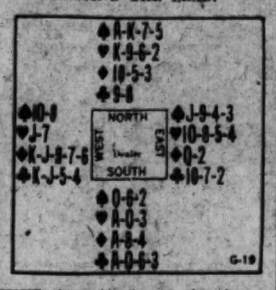
WORK ON BRIDGE

PLACING THE LEAD.



THE above hand was played in a Contract Bridge game with South bidding two No Trumps and North three. If the game had been Auction, South's one No Trump would have been the only bid.

In the play West opened by leading the Seven of Diamonds, and South, with Ace and two others, held up his Ace until the third round. Declarer now could count, in addition to the Diamond trick already won, three Hearts, three Spades and one Club; if either the Spades or Hearts were divided evenly, each adversary having three, game would be easy. Declarer first tried to make up dummy's fourth Heart and then dummy's fourth Spade. Being foiled in both efforts, there was nothing to do but try the Club finesse. When that lost (although West had discarded two Clubs), West made his two established Diamonds and consequently saved game. Declarer then claimed that he had the champion hard-luck hand because three breaks had gone against him in quick succession.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

Declarer need not have trusted to luck if he had used skill on the second trick when East returned the Deuce of Diamonds. That lead marked East with no more Diamonds and consequently there was no use in holding up the Ace any longer. Trick 2 should have been won and three rounds of Spades and Hearts led in an effort to establish an extra trick in one of those suits; when that effort failed, West being out of Spades and Hearts, North should have put West in with a Diamond and compelled him to lead a Club at trick 12 up to South's remaining Ace-Queen after West cashed his Diamonds. In that way East-West would have been held to four tricks and Declarer would have made game.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, PH. D.

THE family name "Mulford" is of English origin. It means "the mule ford"—that is, the ford used by mules—and indicates that the persons who were first so called had their dwellings near such places. The Hundred Rolls mentions a certain Edmund de Muleford and a Gilbert de Muleford. There is evidence that in some cases this name has become confused with "Milford" and "Mudford."

The family name "Milford" has been very common in England since early days. It means "the ford near the mill." Since it is quite natural that such places should attract people to make their homes near them, there are many towns and villages named Milford in England. Most of the families which bear the name have received it because of a former residence in one of those towns or villages. Various forms of this name occur in the Hundred Rolls. Three of the persons mentioned in that important document are John de Milforde, William de Meiford and Hugh de Meleford.

The family name "Mudford" is of English origin. It means "the muddy ford" and indicates an original place of residence near such a place. Many families which bear the name have received it because of a former residence in the village of Mudford in County Somerset. As one might suppose, this place-name has the same origin and meaning as the family name.

The family name "Gruver" (also spelled "Groover") is a modern variation of "Gruber." "Gruber" is of German origin and generally means "the miner." There is evidence that in a few cases it originally indicated a former residence near a mine, pit or quarry.

Watch this column every day. Your name will appear here.

Jane Interprets the Mode

A walking dress of green and gray mixture light-weight woolen, with a removable jackette-cape. (A Dah-ray design.)

Paris, March 16.

YOUTH versus Age! How about it, young woman? It isn't always the old woman who is afraid of youth, you know * * * and you do know * * * if you are a sophisticated young lady!

For the older woman who has kept her figure, enhanced her charm, learned to wear clothes no matter how her intelligence rebels at this frivolous necessity of civilization, who has learned how to minimize her faults and emphasize her good points, is a formidable rival.

The old, or young woman either, who is a frump, isn't worth considering. But the older woman who isn't—well, you had better consider her!

They call her the "femme fatale" in French. And to prove to you the French viewpoint on this matter, their innocent acceptance of the fact that by the time a woman is old enough to be a mother she has become an interesting, fascinating "femme fatale," there was the delightful marriage scene at the recent Bal de la Couture, in which a bride was naively followed by what was intended to be her mother or maid of honor—who was from head to foot dressed as a ravishing "vamp," nothing less! The whole opera house rocked with laughter at the significance of this gesture. Yet I found out later from the couturier who staged the little scene that she hadn't intended it that way at all.

The only thing that an older woman has to remember is that she has no need to mimic youth in any aspect and that she need not feel down-hearted if younger people do not appreciate her * * * for those who don't, are really not worth worrying over. Other than this, she has so much that youth has not, that youth had better watch its step now I warn you!

* * * *

Every Parisian couturier has an idea for a different kind of a "lingerie touch," meaning an unusual collar, or strangely worked cuffs which are a part of the sleeve and commence at the elbows, or a cuff, actually, at the edge of a blouse or under a belt!

* * * *

Whether you want to make new collars and cuffs for your spring and summer outfit or not you really should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet so that you will know just what the latest collar and cuff ideas of the Paris couturiers are. And then, of course, if you once see the leaflet you'll find a dozen ideas in it for renewing this or that dress, suit or even evening gown in your own wardrobe, as well as the directions for making them.

* * * *

How do you like the morning dress I designed for you today which should be made of one of the new fantasy tweeds or lightweight wool? Personally, I think it's swell, no less. And particularly so for the type of woman (not necessarily young) that I illustrated wearing it.

That cape-jacket effect is all one piece and there is nothing tricky about the way it's made at all. It slips on and off just like any other well-behaved jacket. Underneath it the dress, which actually is not supposed to be worn without the jacket, has just a simple round neck to finish it.

* * * *

Did a sophisticated Hawaii inspire the Paris modiste to make the hat I have illustrated for you today? It was all in solid flat flowers, and one garland fell off along one side to show the hair. And then one is supposed to wear a necklace of these same flowers!

Do look for Dare's weekly fashion letter in the big Washington Post every Sunday. We know you'll enjoy it.

Au revoir.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"PISCES."

IF March 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:45 a. m. and from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Astrological influences on March 17 will not be forceful and much will be left to the free will of the individual. Decisions made will prove vitally important, and the "pros" and "cons" of a question should be carefully considered. Physical and mental energy will be above normal.

The child born on this March 17 will have a mind which is mathematically inclined, and it will show an eye for business at an early age. It will be warm-hearted, very affectionate, sympathetic and charitable. It will not lack "nerve," and will always be willing to display its talents.

You are the victim of too much nervous energy and are nerve-racked. You never rest, are always on the go, doing everything and achieving little. Your hours of leisure are not made pleasurable by the mental relaxation which good books afford, but you seek constant change, and perpetual activity. You try to maintain good spirits through outside stimulation or artificial means, and you transgress the simplest rules of health. You steer a dangerous course and do not try to prevent catastrophe, but are quick to seek remedies, when aid is needed. You are a "live" companion, but you wear out, both yourself and others, by your restlessness.

Your eyes are open to opportunities, but you do not know how to make the most of them. You are too impatient to wait for developments, and you often meet with defeat because you strike before the iron is hot. You tire of things as soon as the newness begins to wear off, and you refuse to be bored for long at a time. With people, you are guided by appearances, which are always the worst guides to personality—unless your "nous" is highly trained and much practiced. You are generous even to extravagance, and are likely to be fooled into giving undeserved charities. You are inclined to see things only as you desire them to be and have a tendency to self-imposition. You often change your views and opinions, but are very sure of your beliefs as long as they last.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Here Comes the Bride.

PATTY is weeping all over the place. And all because she has become convinced that she has married the wrong boy. Something to weep about if true. But the evidence seems insufficient. As a matter of fact, from Patty's own account of the situation, we would say that the usual awakening to everyday facts was all that was happening to Patty. It does seem so incomprehensible that despite the frankness and sophistication of the age, girls still go on marrying expecting some sort of entirely different sort of existence after the marriage ceremony. Why should existence be in any way different? We eat the same food, need the same food, are just the same people on Tuesday as on Monday—even if Monday happened to be our wedding day. Will girls ever accept this perfectly evident truth?

Read poor Patty's sad, sad little plaint. We sympathize with this extremely tearful and disgusted little bride, but would the "other boy" be one bit different if he instead of Patty's present choice were the new husband? Is there, after all, much difference in men anyway?

Dear Frances McDonald: I have done the worst thing a girl can do. I have married the wrong man when the right one begged me right up to the last moment to see sense and change my mind. I did not listen and now it is too late—or is it? That is what I want you to tell me. I am crying so I can not see to write. Here are the facts: Two boys loved me. One had money and family; the other had nothing. All my friends told me I would be crazy to take the poor one—but I did. He said he would be everything a lover should.

We married two months ago. I never washed a dish in my life and I started in to learn. The very first time I asked him to help me he said, "How do you get that way?"— and picked up the sporting page. It started me to thinking. One of the things I did not like in the other boy was that he always thought of himself and not of me. Now, here was my perfect lover settled in his chair while I scrubbed greasy pans.

About a week later he began taking off his collar as soon as he came in. I told him to keep his clothes on if he wanted me to live with him. He said, "Oh, yeah?" and kept on removing his collar. I will not sit at table with a man without his collar, so I eat before he comes in and just stick his plate in front of him and turn on the radio. If he wants more coffee he can get it himself. He just laughs and says, "When you get tired of this act you are putting on and come down to earth, let me know."

I am in despair. Dad and mother will not let him come to their house, so I have to go alone. I can scarcely go now for I can hardly speak without crying. Mother keeps saying how dad will soon come around. And I want to just yell that dad was right and every one else who told me I was just throwing myself away on a common nobody. I see everything now. But before I only saw that he was different, and did not get drunk like the boys in our crowd. And he made love to me like mad. Now he never says a word of love and has not kissed me in weeks. When he kisses me I forget everything. What can I do? If I hate him in two months what will it be like in a year? Help me. PATTY.

And the hard part is that Patty herself does not seem quite sure as to whether what she wants is divorce or kisses. From her own statement it would seem that if the kisses were forthcoming the collar could take care of itself. Yet it is hard to expect a very young husband to persist in kissing a bride who "just sticks a plate in front of him." Patty is right about the collar, but her technique is terrible. And would divorce help a bride who really wants a kiss?

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how to prune my rambler roses in the spring.

MRS. RACHEL H. Y.

Rambler roses require no pruning in the spring beyond the cutting out of very old or dead wood and shortening of the lateral and long canes to make the growth conform to the space to be covered, but they must have a severe pruning immediately after they have finished flowering in July. If you cut away all old growth at that time it will encourage a wealth of new, very vigorous growth which should bloom beautifully next year.

Please give me a list of perhaps a half-dozen perennials, which are suitable for planting in the back of the border. I have had no experience in gardening and I am anxious to see what I can do with a rather long border about the plot at the side of my new home. I mean to do this work myself. MRS. WILLIAM G. L.

Plant hollyhocks, hardy asters, boconias, helianthus, boltonias in the back, graduating the shorter growing sorts toward the front and finishing the border with an edging of phlox subiata, arabis, plumbago or larpentae. These, with the judicious use of annuals, should make a beautiful border. Before purchasing seed better make a plan of your border on paper. Then study the catalogues. Also study the heights and colors of the specimens you admire. When your plan is completed show it to your seedman and ask him if it is practical as you have it. He may offer suggestions that will prevent mistakes and which may lessen the expense of the border.

Please tell me the names of three hardy ferns I can plant in a dark corner of my yard. NANCY H. T.

Onoclea struthiopteris (ostrich fern), osmunda cinnamonea (cinnamon fern) and aspidium acrostichoides (Christmas fern).

Have the Japanese iris any particular likes and dislikes that must be considered? I am anxious to have a few of this sort.

MISS HELEN T. P.

Japanese iris (iris kaempferi) should now become more popular, for the Japanese names have been translated and you can be sure of the kind you are buying. They delight in water while in bloom, but not at other times of the year. They succeed in almost any soil.

Are coral bells suitable for rock-garden planting? If so, is there anything an amateur, who will be growing them for the first time, should know about them?

MRS. FRANKLIN G. T.

Heuchera (coral bells) like a moist, rich loam. They are well suited for planting in a rock garden. About every two or three years it is well to transplant them, moving them to a new place. They refuse to thrive in a stiff, clayey soil.

I have a window box of primulas which have done remarkably well this winter. Now I want to fill the box with pansies, as the primulas have gone to seed. My box is about six feet long and ten inches wide. How many plants will I require to fill the box?

MRS. ALBERT K.

I should suggest using ten, or at the most, twelve plants.

Please tell me how often to spray the foliage of an ivy plant which has recently begun to show signs of rust. MARGARET T. P.

Would suggest daily sprayings with cold water. Use as forceful a stream as possible and see that it reaches both sides of the leaves.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sercombe

A Far Cry

IT WAS A SCOTTISH CUSTOM TO SEND CRIERS THROUGH THE HILLS TO SUMMON WARRIORS OF A CLAN. THE OLD SCOTCH PROVERB "IT'S A FAR CRY TO LOCH AWE" (THE STRONGHOLD OF THE CAMPBELLS) AND OUR PRESENT EXPRESSION BOTH CAME FROM THIS PRACTICE.

Silver Bullets

SILVER WAS THOUGHT BY ANCIENTS TO POSSESS THE MYSTIC ATTRIBUTES OF THE MOON-GODDESS WHICH IT SYMBOLIZED. WITCHES ACCORDING TO OUR ANCESTORS MUST BE SHOT WITH SILVER BULLETS TO DIRECT A SPIRITUAL AS WELL AS PHYSICAL FORCE AGAINST THEM. THAT'S WHY THE FAIRY STORIES ALWAYS "SHOOT WITCHES WITH SILVER BULLETS."

Rats Desert A Sinking Ship

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

DIET FOR THE TEETH.

"In any case it seems possible to predict that we are within reasonable distance of getting complete control of dental cares by diet alone, both by producing perfect teeth and, even when the teeth are badly formed, by inhibiting the destructive action of bacteria on the teeth." This statement was made by Dr. Edward Mellanby, of the University of Sheffield, England, in an address given before the eighty-first annual session of the American Medical Association. It was based on comprehensive investigation on adults and on children, running for several years.

The work has been done by Dr. Mellanby and various physicians and dentists associated with him. The diets they use supply plenty of vitamin D. Among the foods and medicines which occupy a prominent place in their diets are meat, eggs, and cod liver oil. In their opinion decay of a tooth is dependent more on the poor quality of the tooth substance than it is on the action of bacteria and decomposing food. A good diet has some power to change a tooth of poor structure into one of better quality.

Dr. Mellanby also spoke of diet for pellagra. He said there are two kinds of this disorder, though the two may be combined in the same patient. One kind is characterized by skin trouble; the other by cord and nerve trouble. The kind that affects the skin is cured and prevented by foods containing yeast, wheat germ, eggs and milk, and other foods rich in vitamin Pp. The other kind is cured and prevented by canned salmon, good meats, carrots, spinach and other foods rich in vitamin A. If the two kinds of pellagra are combined in the same person the curative diet should combine the two groups of foods.

Dr. Mellanby offered another suggestion, but said he was not able to prove his point. It was that diets rich in vitamin A be fed to people whose resistance to bacterial infection was low. His especial recommendation was that such diets be used with women who had puerperal septicemia, or childbed fever. Possibly it may prove of service in other forms of streptococcus infection. The foods rich in vitamin A are carrots and vegetables containing other pigments, meats, milk and butter.

CLIMATE FOR ECEMA.

P. L. B. writes: I have had eczema for the last six weeks and it keeps getting worse every day. The itch is almost unendurable. I have tried various salves, but to no avail. The eczema does not spread to the face, but touches every other part of the body. Can you suggest something to do away with the itch? Has diet anything to do with it? Doctors diagnose my case as winter eczema.

REPLY.

If the diagnosis is correct, you should live in cooler, moister air. If you were to spend your winters out of doors in the moist air of the South your trouble would end. Working in a greenhouse or laundry should cure it.

Humidifying the air of your office and home and keeping it cooler will help. Using ointments may help a little.

Pat Rooney Gets Unmerited Blame

Associated Press Clears Noted Comedian of Other Rooney's Offense.

Los Angeles, March 16 (A.P.).—Pat Rooney, famous on stage and screen for a quarter of a century as a comedian, is not serving a jail term in Los Angeles for reckless driving and has not been here for the past two years. Mr. Rooney is in New York, where he has lived since the completion of a series of short comedies at a Hollywood motion picture studio.

A Pat Rooney who gave his occupation to police as an "actor," and said he was 40 years of age, was arrested here and sentenced to a thirteen-day term in the county jail for reckless driving. He is one of four men known by that name on stage and screen.

The similarity in names has caused embarrassment to Pat Rooney in New York, and the Associated Press is glad to clear up the identity of the man arrested in Los Angeles in fairness to the famous comedian.

SERVICE PLANNED FOR TAKOMA PARK

Improvements to Car Lines Approved by Public Utilities Board.

Plans to improve the street car service to and from Takoma Park by the installation of an additional track on Third street, between Peabody and Kennedy streets, were approved yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission upon application of the Capital Traction Co.

The changes, which are designed to make the service faster and more regular, carry with them the removal of the power poles from the center of Third street to the sides. The new track is to extend approximately 50 feet on Kennedy street to the west to permit installation of a switch between single and double tracks before entering the curve at Third and Kennedy streets.

This additional track will form an extension of the existing double track on Third street between Peabody and Sheridan streets. Abandonment of one siding, the installation of another and the shift of a third will also be effected.

The commission also approved plans of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. to rehabilitate its tracks on Butternut street, from Georgia avenue to Piney Branch road, and on Rhode Island avenue, from the Baltimore & Ohio viaduct eastward to Twelfth street.

A hearing is scheduled March 25 on the application of the Capital Traction Co. to abandon its F and G street service, west of Seventeenth street, and to substitute bus service.

Student Tour Groups Can Pay 3-Cent Fares

The 3-cent school fare can be utilized by groups of pupils on educational tours, the Public Utilities Commission ruled yesterday in answer to a query.

The original order, it was explained, limited the use of the fare to certain hours that would not permit such excursions, which are a part of the regular school curriculum.

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

Mrs. James M. Beck, wife of Representative Beck, will entertain at luncheon on Friday in honor of Mrs. S. Pinkney Tuck, who is her house guest. Miss Elizabeth P. Patterson will entertain at luncheon tomorrow in her apartment at Stoneleigh Court in honor of Mrs. Tuck.

Representative and Mrs. Beck entertained a company of sixteen at dinner last evening in honor of Mrs. Tuck and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. Pinkney Tuck, jr.

Mrs. Wilbur Recalls Friday Invitations.

On account of absence from the city, Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur has been obliged to recall her invitations for tea on Friday at the Mayflower.

Senator and Mrs. Tasker Oddie left last evening for California, from which they will sail on April 24 for a trip to the Orient. They will not return to Washington until the fall, but will stop at their home in Reno, Nev., on their return to this country before coming East for the opening of Congress in December.

The Missouri Society will give a buffet supper and dance at the Hotel Washington Saturday evening. Dancing will precede the supper.

Mrs. L. C. Dyer, wife of the president of the society, and Mrs. Edward D. Hays, chairman of the reception committee, will be assisted by the following hostesses: Mrs. John J. Cochran, Mrs. Hugh C. Smith, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. Paul Bestor, Mrs. H. Frank Hoffman, Mrs. William C. Stierlin, Mrs. Charles Alger, Misss Tillie Steiner and Miss Marie Steiner.

Mr. Stanley Ridings, chairman of the floor committee, will be assisted by Mr. Craig L. Reddish, Mr. W. B. Fry, Mr. Floyd F. Hanly, Mr. Ernest E. Hall, Mr. E. H. Meador and Mr. Arthur W. Brown will be in charge at the door.

Miss Audrey Barrett, who made her debut in New York this season and at the Bachelors' Cotillion in Baltimore and was a frequent visitor in Washington through the winter, will be presented at the Court of St. James in June. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barrett, she will sail for England within a short time. While abroad Mrs. Barrett and her daughter will visit the former's brother-in-law and sister, Signora Cesare Salviatti, of Paris.

Fetes Planned In Visit Here Of Lady Hosie

English Speaking Union to Give Luncheon for Geographer.

Arriving in Washington on Thursday or Friday Lady Dorothea Hosie, of London, who is lecturing in this country, will be the guest of honor at several fetes. She will be here for a week, staying at the Burlington.

The English-Speaking Union will entertain in her honor at luncheon on Friday and that evening she will lecture at the Y. W. C. A. On Saturday Lady Dorothea will be entertained at tea by Mrs. William Chapin Huntington, when she will meet members of the Society of Women Geographers.

She has lived for many years in China, and is best known in this country for her books, "Portrait of a Chinese Lady" and "Two Gentlemen of China."

Nor is the talent in the family limited to Lady Dorothea. Her mother, at the age of 73 years, has just written her first book, "A Passport to China," which is now in the hands of the publishers in England. Her father, the late Rev. W. E. Swothill, was professor of Chinese at Oxford University.

Born in China, Lady Dorothea learned to speak Chinese and English at the same time. She has a fund of knowledge of that nation, upon which much of her interest is now centered. She is the widow of Sir Alexandria Hosie, who was a member of the British Consular Service in addition to being a famous explorer.

Dr. and Mrs. William Beverly Mason have opened their home in Biltmore Forest, Asheville, N. C., for the spring season.

Mrs. Donald MacDonald, sr., and Miss Louise MacDonald are now living at 1834 Belmont road. Mr. Donald MacDonald 3d will leave in a day or two for a trip of several months to Chicago and the West Coast.

Mrs. Anne Archbold and her daughter, Miss Moira Archbold, will return to Washington next month from Central America, where they have spent several months.

Mrs. Archbold's sons, Mr. Armar Archbold and Mr. John Archbold, who have been in New York, spent the week-end in Washington at their mother's home on Reservoir road.

Keans Have Returned To Washington.

Senator and Mrs. Hamilton F. Kean, who have been spending a few days in Charleston, S. C., have returned to the Carlton, where they will remain for several days.

Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin will spend April and May in Washington. She will have as her guests Princess Alexandra Victoria von Schleswig-Holstein and her husband, Capt. Arnold Reumann.

Mrs. Junkin, who has been spending several weeks in Palm Beach, will leave shortly for Charleston, S. C., to join the princess and her husband.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Harold W. Churchill, of Aberdeen, Md., of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Janet Woodbridge, and Lieut. Bream Patrick, U. S. A., son of the former chief of the United States Air Service, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, retired, and Mrs. Patrick, of Washington.

Miss Woodridge is a daughter of Capt. Woodrow W. Woodbridge, U. S. A.

Lieut. Patrick is a graduate of the West Point Military Academy, class of 1930, and is stationed at present at Fort Hoyle, Md.

Maj. Gen. Patrick is chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia.

Sibley Woman's Guild To Meet in Rust Hall

The March meeting of the Woman's Guild of Sibley Memorial Hospital will be held Thursday in Rust Hall, adjoining the hospital. This meeting is to plan the linen shower on April 10.

Dr. B. W. Meeks, District superintendent, will lead the devotional exercises. Mrs. O. D. Swett will be the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Dufour Brown.

WOMAN MISSING; POLICE SEEK MEN

Brevard, N. C., March 16 (A.P.).—While a seemingly blood-stained sack found in her looted home was being examined by chemists, officers today sought Mrs. Norma Shipman, 40-year-old widow, mysteriously missing here, and two youths who left Brevard after she disappeared.

Sheriff Ed Patton was awaiting the chemists' report on whether the stains are blood. The men sought are Joe Bradley, 21, who lived at Mrs. Shipman's home, and "Happy" Brown, 20.

Neighbors of the wealthy widow said she had not been seen here since March 1, when she went to Seneca, S. C., with Bradley and Brown. They quoted the youths as saying upon their return without Mrs. Shipman that she had gone to St. Petersburg, Fla., to visit a brother, C. B. Glassner. The brother reported today that she had not been there since last month.

A week after the trip to South Carolina Bradley and Brown left Brevard in two of Mrs. Shipman's automobiles.

When her friends here became suspicious of her long absence Patton went to the home and made an investigation. He said silverware and other valuables had been removed from it and that a stained sack was in the cellar. The officer related that Mrs. Shipman was believed to keep large sums of money in her home and was reported to have had $7,000 hidden there before she disappeared.

Bradley looked after some of Mrs. Shipman's business affairs. A restaurant she owned closed here when he left town. He apparently took the keys to it with him.

Mrs. Shipman's husband, Sheriff W. G. Shipman, killed himself here last August.

Wife Sues for Divorce.

Fred L. Peeples, taxicab driver, was yesterday sued for an absolute divorce by his wife, Mary B. Peeples, of Eighth street, near M street northwest. The wife named a corespondent and asked for maintenance of two children.

Taxi Driver Is Robbed Of $10 by Two Bandits

Two taxi bandits yesterday held up William R. Lee, of 340 Forty-eighth street northeast, and robbed him of $10.60 at the south end of the Highway Bridge.

Lee said that the men hired him at Seventh and T streets northwest and ordered him to drive to Fairfax County, Va. At the south end of Highway Bridge they took the money from him and made him drive them to Fort Myer, where they left the cab and disappeared.

DENTISTS VOTE OLD GOLD FIRST FOR THROAT-EASE

Ripley creator of "Believe it or Not," gives each dentist 4 masked cigarettes, says, "Tell me which is smoothest, most appealing smoke." Now go on with the story.

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT, this jury of dentists decided that OLD GOLD'S filling was perfect! They examined, smelled and smoked O. Gs.' better and smoother tobaccos. And the three rival cigarette brands limped home a poor second, third and fourth. Dentists see a lot of throats. Know what harsh tobacco does to teeth and gums. Know honey-smoothness when they meet it. Know clean, sun-ripened, queen-leaf tobacco when they taste it . . . masked or unmasked. Ask your dentist about OLD GOLD for throat-ease."

Snow Won't Affect Cherry Blossoms

Light Flurry, Mild Cold, Authority Says, Do Little Damage.

With the last flurries of snow which began falling yesterday, and which lasted most of the day, many who were anticipating the "gala" opening of the cherry blossoms in Potomac Park began to speculate on the situation. Would this cold spell keep the trees from bursting into radiance about Easter Sunday, April 5, or would the opening be later?

A call to the Department of Agriculture brought an assurance from J. W. Byrnes, in charge of the department's greenhouses, and an authority on cherry trees, that in all probability the snow and the cold would not affect the early blooming which had been forecast.

"Unless we should have an unusual cold spell," Mr. Byrnes said yesterday, "the snow will not affect the buds at all, although they are beginning to peep from their brown cases. If we continue to have sunshine after this little bit of snow the opening date will be the same as the office of public buildings and parks has announced as likely, about April 5.

Old Erin to Be Dry Today As Dail Forgets Bar Bill

No Shamrocks Will Be Drowned Because Lawmakers Neglect to Act on Measure for Saloons to Function.

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 16 (A.P.).—There will be no (legal) drowning of the Shamrock in good Irish whisky in the Free State on St. Patrick's Day, for the Dail "forgot" to act on a measure permitting saloons to function tomorrow.

Drowning of the Shamrock is an old Irish custom which means pretty much what it says. In the old days it was a St. Patrick's rite, but in 1924 the dry leaders in Southern Ireland pushed through a law closing public houses on March 17 in loyalty to the patron saint.

Time after time the other side has tried to modify it, always unsuccessfully, and this evening the Dail was to consider the problem again. By some mischance the bill was omitted from the day's program and now it can not be reached until next Wednesday.

For all the good it will do Ireland's thirsty patriots it might be 100 years from next Wednesday, but in the North, where the Irish have held out against prohibition in any form, closing regulations never have been in effect and the "drowning" ceremony lives untrammeled.

Special excursion trains are running tomorrow from Dublin to Belfast, ostensibly in connection with sporting events, but a lot of Free Staters remember that Belfast is in Ulster and that Ulster will be the only oasis in a dry island.

Prince of Georgia To Marry Singer

Serge Mdivani Will Take Mary McCormick as Bride in West.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 16 (A.P.).—The Evening Express says Serge Mdivani, Prince of Georgia, has declared his intention of wedding Mary McCormick, opera singer, this week in Southern California.

A Beverly Hills estate is being made ready for their home. Miss McCormick will leave Chicago today or tomorrow, he said, and the ceremony will be as quiet and secret as possible. It will be followed by a motor tour of California and a trip to Japan. Prince David Mdivani, husband of Mae Murray, motion picture actress, will be the best man.

Miss McCormick will give up her operatic career, said the prince, whose previous venture into matrimony was with Pola Negri.

Spanish Princess Out of Hospital.

Madrid, March 16 (A.P.).—The Princess Cristina, after some weeks as a patient at the Red Cross Sanitorium, returned today to the palace.

Altitude Record Sought by Woman

30-Year-Old Flier, Frankie Renner, Seeks to Attain 8-Mile Mark.

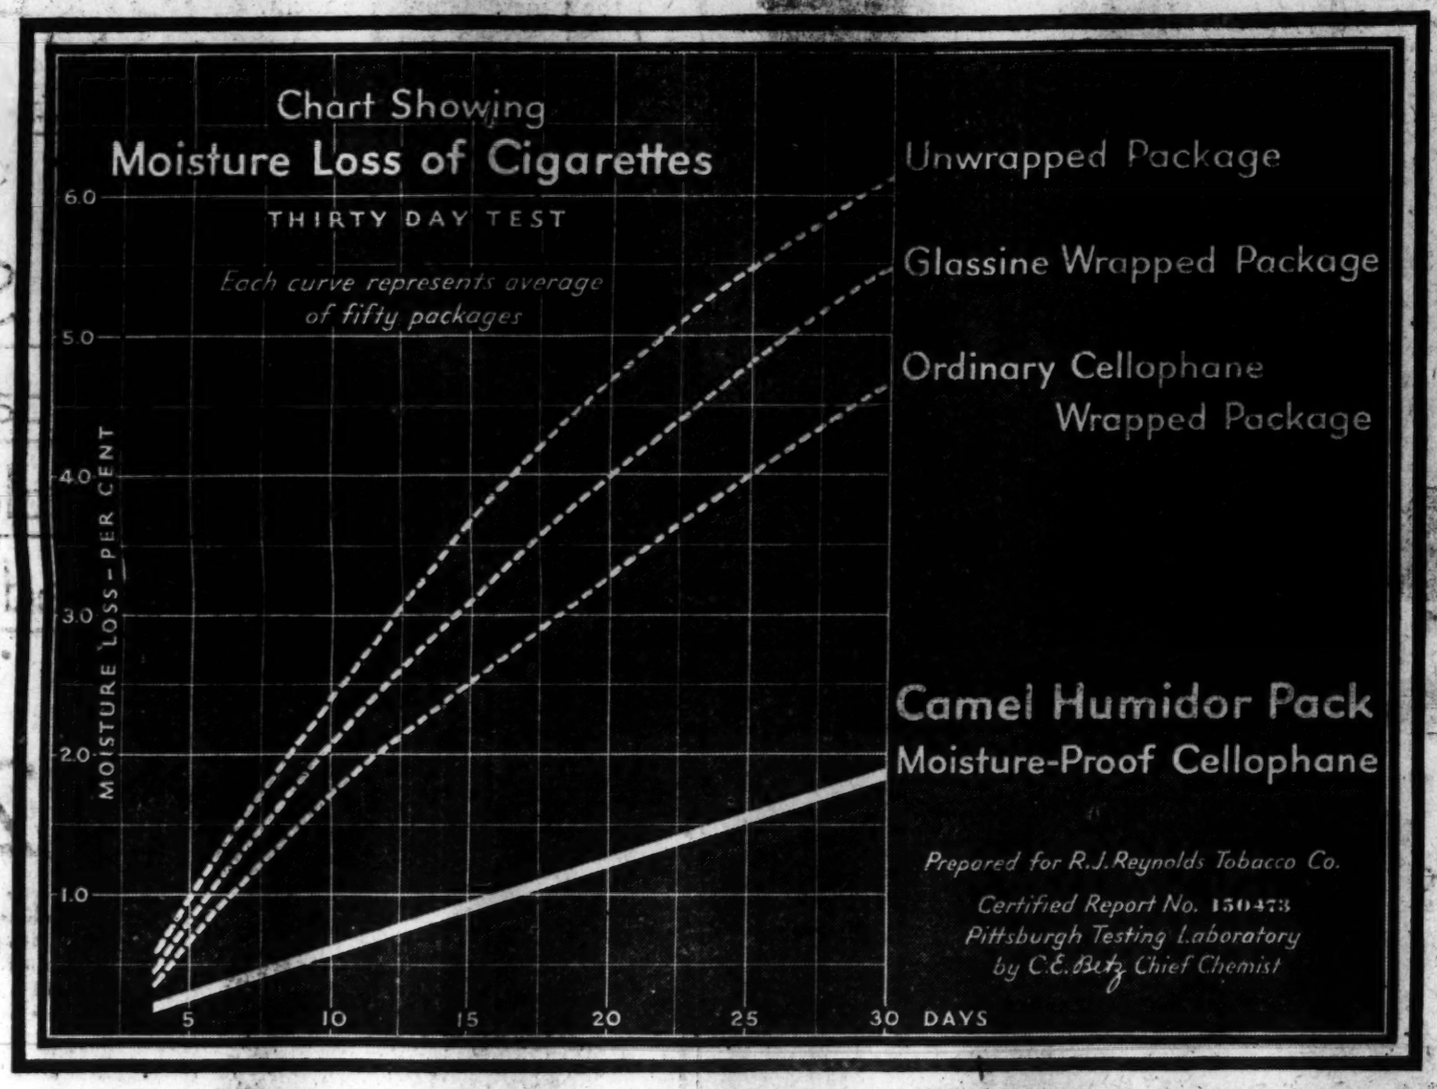
Akron, Ohio, March 16 (A.P.).—Determination to slide 8 miles of space between her Waco biplane and the earth was expressed today by Miss Frankie Renner, 30, Akron airplane saleswoman, who claims a new feminine altitude record.

In a flight at Akron last Friday she pushed the plane to what, she says, was 33,000 feet above the earth. This height is not far enough above that set by Miss Ruth Nichols, of New York, to satisfy Miss Renner.

Eight miles from the earth will be a world's record, for man or woman, since the present world's record for men is 43,166 feet, set by Lieut. Apollo Soucek, of the United States Navy. It makes no difference to Miss Renner if that height was set by a man. She can handle a plane as well as a man can, according to Hugh C. Robbins.

Robbins, who taught her to fly, said she has never had a serious accident in her 200 flying hours.

Smoke a FRESH Cigarette!



Cigarettes in prime condition have a moisture content of about 10%. It will be seen by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory Chart that cigarettes in the ordinary wrapped package lose more than half of their total moisture in thirty days and that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

THE whole country is talking about the throat-easy mildness and the prime freshness of Camel Cigarettes in the new Humidor Pack.

The above chart prepared by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory tells you why.

Please examine it carefully. It is an unfailing guide to cigarette selection and enjoyment.

As you can quickly see by the three upper curves on this interesting chart, cigarettes that lack the protection of the Humidor Pack lose their moisture rapidly from the day they are manufactured.

And day by day as this moisture disappears, the smoke from these cigarettes becomes harsher, hotter, more unkind to the smoker's throat.

Not so with Camels!

The Humidor Pack is moisture proof and sealed air-tight at every point. It protects the rich, flavorful aroma of the choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.

Make these tests yourself

It is so easy to tell the difference between parched dry cigarettes and fresh prime Camels that it is no wonder everybody is reaching for a fresh cigarette today.

Your fingers identify stale, dried-out tobaccos at once. While a Camel is flexible and pliant.

Your ears can tell the difference too. For a dust-dry cigarette crackles under pressure.

But the real test is taste and there is simply no comparison between the rich mildness of a Camel and the hot, brackish smoke from a stale, dry cigarette.

Switch to Camels just for today then leave them tomorrow if you can.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

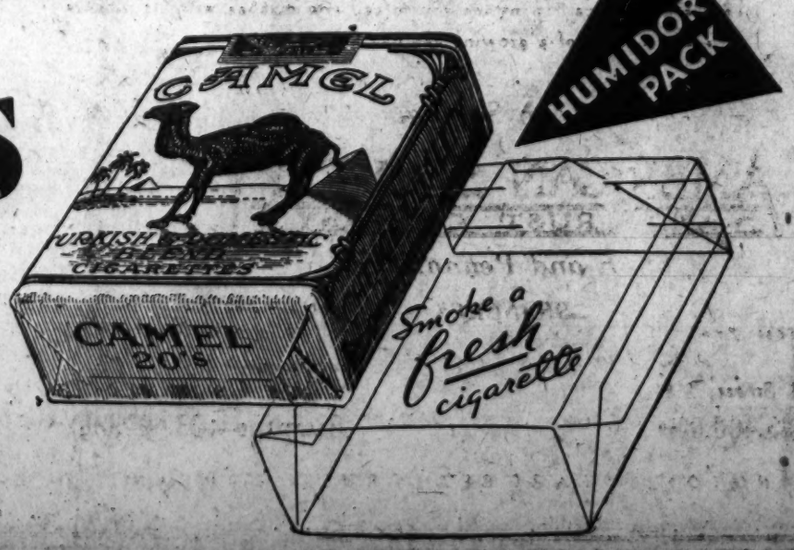
CAMELS



Artificial heat in houses and apartments soon dries the moisture out of cigarettes wrapped the old fashioned way. It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.
Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.
Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

BEAUTY'S LAWYERS SPUR BAIL EFFORTS

Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger Faces Prospect of Jail During Stifling Summer.

Nice, France, March 16 (A.P.).—Efforts to have Mrs. Charlotte Nash Nixon-Nirdlinger freed on bail while officials decide whether charges shall be brought against her for the killing of her husband, Philadelphia theater owner, were accelerated today.

It was reported that Attorney Pascalis, dean of the Nice bar, had added his plea to those of the two attorneys engaged to defend the 26-year-old American beauty, who has said she acted to protect her own life when she shot and killed Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger late last Wednesday night after a quarrel in their Riviera apartment.

If bail is refused by Magistrate Vachier, as is often the custom in France in such cases, it will mean the young wife who was a stellar beauty in Atlantic City's "Miss America" pageant in 1923, will have to spend in a squat, sun-baked prison on the outskirts of Nice the five hottest months of the year.

The task of obtaining bail was difficult because there was no witness to the quarrel who could support the wife's plea of self-defense and because she had not explained satisfactorily to the police why she pursued her husband about the bedroom after having shot him. Officials say they have evidence that she did follow him about the room after one of the bullets she fired had struck her husband.

Neither have the police any evidence except that of the Swedish maid, they said today, which blames Nixon-Nirdlinger specifically for the quarrel.

Fireman's Wife Sues To Get Maintenance

Mrs. Margaret M. Wernig, wife of Anthony J. Wernig, a District fireman, yesterday sued him for maintenance in the District Supreme Court. The couple, who were married in 1918, have one child, the wife told the court.

Mrs. Wernig recently attempted a reconciliation with her husband, she asserted, only to have him show her letters to his friends. Mrs. Wernig gave her address as the Melwood Apartment house.

The Washington Kiwanis Club will hold an interclub meeting at Fredericksburg, Va., this evening at 6:30 o'clock. Plans are being worked up under the direction of Merritt O. Chance, president; Edwin F. Hill, second vice president, and Claude W. Owen, chairman, interclub relations committee. A feature of the program will be singing by Felix A. McNally.

About 25 members of the Washington club have signified their intention of attending this meeting, which is made on the invitation of Hugh D. Scott, president of the Fredericksburg club.

Electric Line Is Sued For Death of Woman

A suit for $10,000 against the Washington Railway & Electric Co. was filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Sarah Burns, 300 Florida avenue northwest, administratix for the estate of Susie Price.

The suit declared that Susie Price died July 18 of injuries suffered on May 12, when she was thrown to the floor of a street car on Fourteenth street near G street northwest. A claim was made that the car was operated negligently.

Behind the Screens

—With NELSON B. BELL—

PURSUANT to a considerable managerial reorganization that has been going on for some weeks in one of the foremost national chain theater circuits, definite announcement will soon be made of important changes in personnel of primary interest to F street.

From sources usually authentic, it is intimated that the readjustment, vitally affecting more than one theater of the first rank in the East, in all probability will return to the Capital a well-known theater executive who already has done one brief tour of duty in this city.

Although this shake-up has been simmering for some time, final orders were not issued by the high command until last Saturday midnight, the changes to be effective with close of business this Thursday, March 19.

In the "Bits of Wit" stage revue at the Palace this week there is one of the most novel chorus numbers seen on a local stage in many a long day—the "Kitten on the Keys" routine of the Chester Hale Girls, in which they simulate the black and white notes on the keyboard of a giant piano.

There is one mildly baffling aspect of this skillfully executed innovation that probably never will cease to puzzle a great many of us who are not numbered among the sophisticates. That is, why does the a—er—ahem—limb of a pulchritudinous coryphee encased in the white leg of a pair of black and white tights seem to be a bit more plump—shall we say?—than the one clothed in black?

Or is it the other way round?

In case it has worried you, the small boy whose older brother has just committed suicide in the early sequences of "Scandal Sheet," on the screen, is master Jackie Searle, the precocious kid who scored such a hit in the role of Tom's younger brother, Sid, in Paramount's dialogue version of "Tom Sawyer," presented locally Christmas week.

Speaking as we just were, by implication, of the Fox, if you have seen "Three Rogues", the current attraction, you no doubt have identified it as the articulate approximation of Fox's earlier production of "Three Bad Men," a silent adaptation of the same novel, "Over the Border," by Herman Whitaker.

Instead of being popped off one at a time covering the gal's getaway through the canyon, the three rogues, in the new version, make a monkey of the sheriff and thus end the film happily—goody, goody!

So many of them have appeared in pictures, from time to time, that it may be wholly legitimate to remark here that Eddie Dowling and his Famous Artists of the Air bid fair to afford the members of the National Press Club and their guests the most eleborate St. Patrick's Day celebration in the history of the club tonight.

Among Mr. Dowling's two carloads of radio artists, Mr. Dowling himself, the Yacht Club Boys, Hal Skelly, the Trado Twins, Tom Patricola and Gus Edwards at least, are equally known to patrons of the cinema.

Those two lads you just passed in the hall were C. Harry Schreiber and M. H. McIntyre, manager and publicity director respectively, of the RKO-Keith Theater, who dropped in to apprise this column that the practice of opening the new bills at the 2 o'clock performance on Thursday night of each week has been abandoned, effective, as Maurice Chevalier would say, right now.

Beginning this week, new programs at RKO-Keith's will be inaugurated on Friday mornings. This sounds the death knell in the Capital of the two-features-for-the-price-of-one innovation that was begun 'way back yonder before the run of "Cimarron," and recently revived—for no good of sufficient reason that this department was ever able to discern.

Not since the days when Kitty Doner was a decoration of the varieties has there been so deft an impersonator of the jingled male as Evelyn Wilson, currently prevalent at the Palace. I'd even rather hear her sing "Happy Days Are Here Again," or "Good-Bye, Broadway, Hello Montreal," than I would Jack Benny "To Whom It May Concern."

Mrs. Benny, however, is something else again!

Leave it to that wily old fox, Grantland Rice, to dig up the new ones. In his latest Sportlight, "Under Cover," he discloses the form of play pursued in a net game called "Badminton," a pastime of which many of us had never even heard.

The game is named after the castle home of the foreign gentleman who perfected it, and is played after the manner of tennis on a court half the size of a tennis court, with a net 2 feet higher and a feathered shuttlecock and squash rackets, instead of balls and the regulation racket. It seems to be exclusively a volleying game, there being no bounce to the "bird."

Yes, sir; learn one thing each day!

Keep on shoveling, boys, we'll cut through those drifts yet!

Hard-Hitting Ballon Wins Catching Berth With Nats; Shows Vast Improvement

Will Be Retained for Regular Duty and Pinch Batting.

Fischer, Griffith and Tauscher to Face Orioles Again.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent)

BILOXI, Miss., March 16.— Catcher Cliff Bolton has finally made the grade and landed himself a berth with the Washington Club. Although Manager Walter Johnson did not come out with a flat-footed announcement to this effect in discussing Bolton's progress tonight, he was so enthusiastic over what the High Point youngster has shown that it is a 10-to-1 bet that, in Johnson's mind at least, Cliff has outstepped all competition.

It also might be added that Bolton was measured for a uniform this morning by a representative of the dealer who is outfitting the Nationals for the coming season, and it is a certainty that the Washington Club is not buying a whole lot of surplus livery.

Judging from the manner in which the Nat leader talked, he is counting on using Bolton behind the bat, too, and not merely to keep him around for bull-pen work and occasional pinch hitting.

Overcoming Weakness on Foul Pops.

"Bolton is improving faster than I thought he would," said Johnson, "and I believe that he has the making of a good catcher. Coach Gharrity has been working with him regularly and he caught a good game against Baltimore Sunday. Fouls have been Cliff's greatest weakness, but he fast is overcoming this, while you will see him pegging better to the bases before long. His arm is good enough, but he frequently has his feet tangled up and so is not in a natural throwing position. That's the next course of training for him.

"Cliff is quite fast on his feet and a mighty sweet hitter, who never worries whether he is facing a right-hander or a left-hander. I believe that the kid will prove to be quite a player with a year or more experience behind him."

A foul from Charley Montague's bat partially tore the nail off the index finger of Bolton's right hand in this morning's drill, but the youngster refused to quit and after a painful session, with Trainer Mike Martin wielding his operating knife, was back at work again. He will be ready to play against the Orioles at Gulfport Wednesday, sore finger or not, he avers.

Pitchers Named for Game Tomorrow.

For this coming contest with the International Leaguers, which will open the season at Gulfport, Manager Johnson will use the same three pitchers who performed in the opener here—Carl Fischer, Lynn Griffith and Wally Tauscher. This trio pitched well enough to win, but one charged error and another that was uncharged let the Orioles win out with a five-run rally in the eighth.

The Washington athletes worked so hard in practice this morning that they were "all in" when time came for the infield drill, and so it was dispensed with. Johnson surely has every man here on his toes.

A fishing party was arranged for this afternoon, but some of the plans went awry and the boat which was to take the gang failed to show up. Skipper Johnson, Joe Judge, Fred Marberry, Lloyd Brown, Trainer Martin, and Assistant Trainer P. Riley Baxter were the disappointed ones, but they have been invited to go again tomorrow and this time they were given a written guarantee that there will be no slip-up in plans.

Outfielder Sammy West, who was sent home in the waning days of last season because of having injured his throwing arm, proved to everyone's satisfaction in yesterday's game that he can peg as well as ever. Sam had confidence that this would be the case but had never given his wing a real test until during yesterday's game, when he was called upon to make two return throws from the outfield. The first was a comparatively short one and when the fly hawk saw that this did not hurt him any, he did not hesitate to cut loose at full speed three innings later.

This morning, when he found that he was suffering from no after effects, Sammy was as happy as a kiddie on Christmas.

ALLEGHANY HIGH WINS GAME

Hyattsville Five Bows in State Tourney Final, 31-23.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 16.— Alleghany High School of Cumberland gained the Public Athletic League basket ball championship for the Western Shore here tonight by defeating the plucky Hyattsville High School by the score of 31 to 23. The game was played on the local high school floor.

The victory entitled Alleghany to play Crisfield High, champs of the Eastern Shore for the State title at Cumberland this Saturday.

Hyattsville flashed poor passwork, while height and ability to work the ball well under the baskets gave the Up-staters the edge. Hyattsville stage a belated rally in the last few minutes of play, but Cumberland soon checked that rally by sending in fresh men.

White Sox Release Catcher, Infielder

San Antonio, Tex., March 16 (A.P.). Two more players, Infielder John "Blondy" Ryan and Catcher Victor Siegel, were released by the White Sox today. Ryan, formerly Holy Cross College star, was sent to Atlanta on option, while Siegel was shipped home. He probably will be placed with some Three Eye League club.

San Diego, Calif., March 16 (A.P.). Jack Sherlock, Philadelphia Nationals' infielder, was purchased today by the Hollywood Club of the Pacific Coast League, in spring training here.

Pensacola, Fla., March 16 (A.P.).— Charley Cronin and Sumner Collingwood, semipro pitching candidates taken South with the Boston Red Sox, were turned over to the Nashville Club, of the Southern Association, today by Manager Collins.

Tigers Beaten, 8-6 by Missions.

San Francisco, Calif., March 16 (A.P.).—Detroit Tigers outhit the Missions in an exhibition game here today, but took an 8-to-6 trimming because the Coast team bunched most of their nine hits in one inning for six runs. Cantrell held the Missions to two hits in the five innings he was on the mound, but in the next inning the home boys pounded Marrow, recruit hurler, for six runs and added one each in the next two ninnings.

Cards Clinch Series With Mackmen

Hallahan and Dean Star on Mound in 7-4 Victory.

Ruth, Lazzeri Lead in Yanks' 8-6 Win Over Braves.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 16 (A.P.).—Brilliant pitching by "Wild Bill" Hallahan and "Dizzy" Dean featured the St. Louis Cardinals' 7-4 victory over the world champion Philadelphia Atheletics this afternoon.

This was the Cardinals' third victory in the four-game spring "world series." Dean's pitching was more sensational than that of Hallahan, who like Dean, shut out Connie Mack's men in his three innings on the mound. The Cardinals made fourteen hits off Rommell, Walberg and McDonald, a rookie.

Ruth Doubles, 3 on, as Yanks Win.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 16 (A.P.).—With Babe Ruth and Tony Lazzeri setting the pace, the New York Yankees walloped the Boston Braves, 8 to 6, today for their fourth victory in five starts against the National Leaguers.

The Babe connected only once in five times at the plate, but the hit was a double and was delivered with the bases loaded. The blow was actually of home run proportions, but the Babe merely trotted around to second. Lazzeri helped the cause of the Yanks with three doubles.

Home runs by Red Worthington and Wes Schulmerich were among the eleven hits made by the Braves off Ed Wells and Roy Sherid. Ed Brandt, who started for Boston, was pounded hard, but Fred Frankhouse held the Yankees to two hits and no runs in the last four innings.

Giants Beat Chisox by Rally in Tenth.

San Antonio, Tex., March 16 (A.P.). After seeing an early lead fade, the New York Giants came back in the tenth inning to score three runs and defeat the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 6, today.

The Giants counted six runs in the first eight innings, while Clarence Mitchell, the spitball southpaw, and Morrell held the Sox scoreless for six frames. In the seventh inning the American Leaguers started, however, and before Bill Walker stemmed the attack they had crossed the plate six times and tied the score. John Berly, up from Rochester, was the victim of the Sox's attack.

In the tenth Lindstrom, Jackson and Ott bunched their hits for what proved the winning runs and thus evened the series.

Columbus Victim, as Reds Win First.

Lakeland, Fla., March 16 (U.P.).—Playing with a patched-up line-up because of injuries to Heath, Cuccinello and Cullop, the Cincinnati Reds today defeated Columbus, 12 to 11. The Reds counted the winning run in the ninth after the minor leaguers had hit Strelecki for five runs to tie the score in the eight. It was Cincinnati's first victory in five games this season. Robins Break Camp for 5-Day Trip.

Clearwater, Fla., March 16 (U.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins closed their Clearwater camp tonight and prepared to depart on an extended exhibition tour featured by a five-day visit to Havana. They will open the tour tomorrow at Bradenton against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Robins have trained here since 1928, but are not expected to return next spring. It is believed that San Diego, Calif., will be selected as Brooklyn's future training site.

Browns Idle; Trio Suffer Injuries.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 16 (U.P.).—Rain kept the St. Louis Browns indoors today and caused them to miss their first day's practice this season. The Philadelphia Nationals were to have played here today, but Manager Killefer phoned them to stay in Winter Haven. Eddie Grimes, Larry Bettencourt and Ralph Kress, ailing with sore arms and shoulders, were sent over to Lake Worth today to consult an osteopath regarding their ailments.

Red Sox Release 2 to Nashville.

Pensacola, Fla., March 16 (U.P.).—Rookie Pitchers Charlie Cronin and Sumner Collingwood were released by the Boston Red Sox to the Nashville Southern Association Club following their appearance in today's practice game, in which the regulars defeated the Yannigans, 12 to 9. Youngsters did the pitching for both sides, and the game was featured by heavy hitting.

Hurst's Nose Broken by Batted Ball.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 16 (A.P.). Old Man Casualty sideswiped the Phillies today. Don Hurst, clouting first baseman, was standing near the batting cage when Whitney fouled off a pitch that caught Hurst flush on the nose. Dr. W. T. Simpson, who set the nose and placed a cast on it, said the player would be out of the game only a few days.

The Phillies were to play the St. Louis Browns at West Palm Beach today, but rain caused cnacellation of the game.

"PROFESSOR" PAUL OWENS finds no difficulty in digesting razor blades, electric light bulbs, or whathaveyou. He places a razor blade on his tongue, pulverizes it, and washes it down with a swallow of water. In a recent exhibition in Baltimore he was given 20 blades and needed a shave, but he ate them all. Owens estimates that he has gulped down 340,000 razor blades, and there are witnesses to back his story.

In addition, he has swallowed enough light bulbs to make a Broadway sign.

Strange as it seems, there are 645 hairs in every square inch of beard. At this rate a sizeable mug would have over 25,000 hairs. Giving each hair an average length of 3 feet, a 6-foot beard would contain more than 14 miles of hair.

"State Range Misses" is an anagram of "Strange as it Seems." The letter was mailed in Omaha, Nebr., by Pvt. Orville W. Fanand.

Any reader wanting further proof of anything depicted here should address the author, care of The Washington Post, and incibse a stamped and self-addressed envelope for reply.

5 INFIELDERS STAND OUT IN SOUTH

Clubs in American League Name Best Newcomers.

By DIXON STEWART.

NEW YORK, March 16 (U.P.).—Infielders predominate in the American League's nominations for the outstanding newcomer of the 1931 season. Five of the prize recruits, selected by United Press representatives at the various training camps, are candidates for infield positions, with two pitchers and a lone outfielder completing the list.

Nominations from each club for consideration as the league's best recruit follow:

Player and team.	Pos.	Age.
Hank MacDonald, Athletics.	p.	19
Lynn Griffith, Nationals.	p.	23
Joe Sewell, Yankees.	3b.	32
Joe Voismik, Indians.	lf.	20
Marvin Owen, Tigers.	ss.	22
Jack Burns, Browns.	1b.	23
Luke Appling, White Sox.	ss.	22
Ollie Marquard, Red Sox.	2b.	26

Joe Sewell, prize Yankee recruit, is a veteran of eleven seasons with Cleveland. With his eleven-year batting average of .320 and an all-time major-league record of only four strike-outs during 154 games in 1925,

Better Start for Nats in 1931 Seen

"I DON'T see why the Nats won't cop the pennant. We have Manush and Crowder to start the season with, and Harry Rice and Harris are a big improvement over Barnes, whom we had to rely on during the first part of last season," says Arthur S. Harvey, of the Union Trust Co., in a letter to the Baseball Editor of The Post.

Thus Mr. Harvey has chalked up his entry in The Post's Box Seat Contest, which sees six of the choice opening day pasteboards given to the fan who writes the best letter of 250 words on the Nats' 1931 prospects and the probable line-up of the team.

Joe Cronin is an individual satellite who is going to account for as many games won as Lefty Grove, despite the difference in their position, Mr. Harvey believes. The Nats do not have one outstanding pitcher, such as Grove, but doubtless has the best pitching staff in the league in Hadley, Marberry, Crowder, Liaka, Brown, Jones and Burke, he says.

Has Much Faith in Cronin

Mr. Harvey states that the batting order lineup will read Myer, second base; Sam Rice, right field; Manush, left field; Cronin, shortstop; Judge, first base; West, center field; Bluege, third base; Spencer, catcher, and the pitcher.

"Earl Clarke Day" Listed At Griffith Stadium April 8

Capital Fans to Honor Local Youth Playing for Braves.

THE exhibition game between the Washington Baseball Club and the Boston Braves, to be played at Griffith Park April 8, has been set aside as "Earl Clark Day," it was announced last night by the committee in charge of the proposed celebration.

Clark Griffith, president of the Senators, yesterday wired his willingness to cooperate in the honors to be bestowed by his friends on the local boy who made good in the majors.

Earl Clark was born and attended school in Washington. He gained fame not only as a sandlot baseball player with the Northerns and the Knickerbockers, but as a soccer player of the first rank. He served his baseball apprenticeship with the Richmond Club, of the Virginia League, and went to the Braves in 1927. He is 23 years old.

The committee selected for the April 8 festivities include Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby, Judges John P. McMahon and Robert E. Mattingly, Dick Tennyson, Kirk Miller, Fred Feinman, Dick Wingate, and Joseph D. DiLeo. Mr. Wingate, 203 Varnum street northwest, is in charge of contributions.

CRAM UPSET IN INDOOR TENNIS

Bows to Burns, N. Y.; Other Stars Pass Second Round.

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

NEW YORK, March 16 (U.P.).—All the seeded players save one moved calmly through the second round of play in the national men's indoor tennis singles championships today.

The lone seeded player to fall was Donald Cram, No. 7, of Nashville, Tenn., who was defeated by Edward Burns, New York, 6—4, 6—2.

The group of five expected to produce a winner—Jean Borotra, Christian Boussus and Pierre Landry, of France, and Frank Shields and Clifford Sutter, No. 2 and No. 5, in American ranking, respectively, came through with ridiculous ease.

Borotra, bounding with all his usual vigor, sank the Navy in the person of Lieut. R. N. Watt, U. S. N., 6—2, 6—2. It was no contest throughout and might just as well have been an all-love affair. Boussus manhandled Ernest Kuhn, of New York, 6—3, 6—3, while Landry whitewashed William Thompson, another New Yorker, 6—0, 6—0.

Shields, playing a soft game instead of in his usual bang-bang style, defeated Irving Raymond, of New York, 6—1, 6—0. Shields did not remove his sweater while chasing Raymond from pillar to post.

Sutter Drops a Set in Victory.

Sutter's 7—5, 6—8, 6—0 victory over 18-year-old Ramey Donovan, of Fordham, provided the best match of the day. Donovan played beautifully to win the second set, passing the intercollegiate champion from New Orleans at the net time and time again. The youngster tired badly in the final set, however, and Sutter had little trouble in moving on to a win.

Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Tex., No. 11 in national rankings, eliminated Walter Swaybill, New York University, 6—4, 6—2. After his match Bell joined Borotra in a practice game and gave the Frenchman the first opposition he has had since landing.

Other second round results follow: Perrine Rockafellow, New York, defeated W. D. Cunningham, New York, 6—3, 6—2; Ed C. Jenkins, jr., defeated Mark Hecht, New York, 6—3, 6—3; Mitchell M. Rosenbaum, New York, defeated Kimbark Petersen, Nashville, Tenn., 7—9, 6—4, 6—3; William Aydelotte, New York, defeated Merritt Cutler, New York, 6—3, 8—7, 6—4.

Lyon Park Juniors Gather.

The Lyon Park Junior Baseball Team will hold its first meeting tomorrow night at the Lyon Park Community Store, starting at 8 o'clock. Players asked to report are McKinley, McNeely, Taylor, Stump, Yeatman, J. Clements, W. Clements, Powell, Van Riswick, McPherson, Moore, Preston and Hurst.

Eastern High Stars Meet Soldiers in Feature Tonight.

Palace - St. Stephen Also Clash; Shipley Team in Action.

EASTERN high school stars, who with Delmar Cosgrove, Gallaudet ace, are entered in the District A. A. U. tournament as the Potomac Boat Club Scholastics, will make their debut tonight in the competition which The Post is sponsoring at the Tech High gymnasium, Second and T streets, northeast.

The Scholastics, led by Dallas Shirley, all-high guard during the past campaign, will meet the Company A, 13th Engineers five, from Fort Humphreys. The soldiers have campaigned successfully against Washington and Virginia teams.

Sectional Rivals Due to Clash.

The second unlimited class battle on the six-game progarm may steal the show. The old football rivalry which has always existed between Foggy Bottom and Southwest is due to flare again, this time in basket ball, on the Tech court tonight. The occasion will be the clash of the Palace-D. G. S. and St. Stephen's Club fives.

Palace displayed good form in its first tourney appearance, defeating Mercury, 28-10, in the preliminary round.

The Hyattsville teams will see action. The Shipley club, named for Coach Burt Shipley, of the Southern Conference champions — Maryland University—will met the St. Martin's teams in the 130-pound class. The Shipleys, composed of Hyattsville High boys, include in their line-up Clifton Byrd, son of Curley Bydr, coach of the Maryland football team.

The Hyattsville High girls are booked to meet the Cloverettes on the north court. Both teams have competed before in A. A. U. tournaments.

Alexandrians Engage Calvary, Jrs.

In the two other contests, the Sacred Heart and Nye House meet and the Calvary Juniors face the Whitestones, of Alexandria.

Tomorrow night the Jewish Community Center Big Five meets the Red Stars, who defeated the De Molay team, 40 to 24, in the preliminary round. The program also includes a clash of the Capital Awning Aces, led by Everet Russell, Tech star, and the Pontiacs, as well as a battle between the Warrenton and Eagles girls' teams.

Hornsby Regaining Form of 2 Years Ago

Los Angeles, Calif., March 16 (A.P.) The actions of Rogers Hornsby are becoming more and more reminiscent of the Rajah of 1929, when his .370 batting average helped bring the Cubs the National League championship.

His legs have not bothered him in practice games; he has covered as much territory as he did two years ago, his batting punch apparently has not been impaired, and he is out to play 154 games and show the world Hornsby is far from through.

Governor of Indiana To Drill With Browns

Atlanta, March 16 (A.P.).—Gov. Harry G. Leslie of Indiana passed through Atlanta en route to Florida today to spend part of his vacation working out with the Indianapolis Baseball Club at Sarasota, with the hope that some of the old ability which made him a college star remains.

A delegation of Atlanta Shriners met him at the railway station and he told them of his plans to play on the diamond again.

He recalled the St. Louis Browns once offered him a contract many years ago.

THE victory of the Bliss Electrical College Team over Central High School featured last night's program in the District of Columbia A. A. U. basket ball championships last night.

The defeat of the schoolboys was in the nature of an upset, inasmuch as they had been reckoned as a likely finalist in their bracket.

Accompanying Bliss into the second round of the unlimited class was the Griffith-Consumer quintet, which gained the decision over the Virginia A. C., Alexandria's entry in that division.

Bliss Beats Schoolboys in Hectic Fray.

Bliss Electrical School's tossers provided the major upset of the tournament when they eliminated the Central High School Team to the tune of 32 to 28. It was a game that brought the large gallery of fans to the edge of their benches as they watched the favorite go down to defeat in the stretch before the clever play of th Electricians.

The recapitulation tells the hectic manner in which the game was won. Central led by the score 6 to 4 at the end of ten minutes of play, and by the score 17 to 10 at the half. The Central machine was working smoothly, its guarding being especially acute and its sturdy forward, Burke, and guard, DeLisio, finding the cords to good effect.

Central maintained a lead, 21 to 9, after ten minutes of the final half had disappeared, and then Bliss forged past the Blue and White by the margin of 33 to 22. Until the end of the game play was of the wildest sort as the Centralites sought to stem the irresistible march of the Silver Spring players. However, baskets from the hands of Zirkle and Rovegno, and two fouls by Peterson, put Bliss out of reach. Zirkle's all-around play was the feature of the game.

Griffiths Double Score on Virginia A. C.

The Griffith Consumers, champions of the Prince Georges County League, justified the expectations of their host of rooters by advancing into the second round at the expense of the Virginia Athletic Club tossers, 38 to 19, in the unlimited division.

It was pretty must Griffith all the way, the eventual winners holding an 18-to-9 lead at the half and following it up to good effect in the second period of play.

John Sherman kept his club in the lead, scoring 16 points as his individual offering, while the excellent all-court play of Lyles and the guarding of Zahn, Elliott and Dix kept the losers always in the wake.

Hamilton, of the losers, gave a good account of himself on the floor, but could do little to stop the flow of baskets which came from the winners' hands.

Burns 115-Pounders Rally for Victory.

The Burns contingent of tossers scored a notable 26-22 victory over the Nativity A. C. in the opening game of the night. It was one of the closest games the tournament has produced, with the lead changing four times before resting on the shoulders of the victors.

The 115-pound rivals battled to an 11-9 count in favor of the eventual winners at the half. Play was furious in the second half, with the lead changing thrice. Burns went out to a five-point lead, with but two minutes to play, but was forced to stand by and see their lead diminish to one point before again pulling away.

Dinwall and J. Rhodes were the individual stars for the winners, while the losers' outstanding players were Tydings and Stretmater.

EQUIPOISE RETURNING TO BOWIE FOR SPRING MEET

Derby Choice Groomed at Benning

Two Whitney Strings to Converge on Md. Tracks.

Workman Ready to Accept Mounts, He Telegraphs.

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT WHITNEY, of New York, and his good colt Equipoise, who monopolized the limelight in Maryland last year, are coming back for the eleven-day meeting of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, beginning March 31, at Bowie, which also marks the opening of 1931 racing along the Atlantic Seaboard.

Whitney thoroughbreds won $114,010 in purses on Maryland tracks last year. The popular New Yorker is out to duplicate that feat, for he is sending 26 thoroughbreds in charge of Freddie Hopkins.

The dapper Hopkins prepped the Whitney racers at historic old Benning. Equipoise, Whitney's Preakness and Kentucky Derby candidate, has been working in such a manner at Benning that Trainer Hopkins plans to give him a race early in the meeting.

Best of Whitney's String at Bowie.

It is more than likely that the Whitney string will include the best of his racers who showed their wares the past winter in Florida and New Orleans.

The main division of the Whitney Stable, which is now at Red Bank, N. J., will be moved from there to Havre de Grace, Md., within the next two weeks and made ready for racing in Harford County.

Equipoise won $156,835 in purses a year ago, making him the largest money-winning thoroughbred of his age. Of that sum $7,960 was won in Maryland.

Workman to Ride After March 31.

Jockey Sonny Workman, contract rider for Owner Whitney, wired several days ago to Jesse Bennet, custodian of the jockey's room, that he was certain to accept mounts soon after the start of racing on March 31. The Whitney rider is the most popular lad ever to throw a leg across a saddle at Bowie, and every one is glad to learn that his accident in Florida, when he suffered a broken leg, will not keep him out of action at the forthcoming session.

So many applicants for stalls are arriving daily that Track Superintendent Dick Pending may have to turn down many stables. Although the figures are not available it is known that more than 1,700 requests have been received to date.

Equipoise Held at 5-1 In Latest Derby Odds

New York, March 16 (U.P.).—Cornelius V. Whitney's Equipoise continues to enjoy favoritism in the future-book speculation on the Kentucky Derby at odds of 5 to 1, according to the latest quotations of Tom Kearney, of St. Louis, released today.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand is quoted at 7 to 1 and is second choice, with third honors falling to A. C. Bostwick's Mate, which can be had at 10 to 1.

The Tennessee Stable's unbeaten Vanderpool, Griffin Watkins' Insco and the Nevada Stock Farm's Siskin are next in line, with Kearney laying them each at 20 to 1.

Spanish Play continues at 40 to 1, despite his brilliant showing during the winter season. Happy Scot, Don Leon, Sweep All and Oswego are also obtainable at the latter figure.

Tom Shaw, from his winter vacation quarters in Florida, is far less generous than the Midwestern commissioner in his odds. The New Yorker quotes Equipoise at 4 to 1, and gives his figure on Twenty Grand as 6 to 1, while he considers Mate an 8-to-1 chance.

The remainder of the 130 nominees are grouped at much longer odds, ranging from 50 up to 400 to 1, with little activity on the lightly regarded ones.

—St. John's Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

ST. PATRICK'S DAY HANDICAP features the holiday card at St. John's Park today, over the 6-furlong route, and for 3-year-olds and upward. J. E. Ellis' filly, ELLICE, coupled with Honey Locust, is selected to win, with 118 pounds up. She is selected to beat PROMETHEUS, with 122 pounds, and will be assisted materially in what appears to be a hard undertaking by her running mate. The best placing for LITTLE AMERICA is third. PROMETHEUS beat Mud Saturday in a fast dash in 1:08 for five furlongs, but if at her best ELLICE can beat that. Indications are for a fast track.

FIRST RACE—Three-year-olds are to go 5 furlongs in this race. BOUNDER is a sleeper, and is picked to win. He was out of the money in his last start, but should snap out of his long slumber and win a race. UNCLE HERMAN, which won in his last outing, is regarded a dangerous contender. SHUFFLE AGAIN, after a rest up, should get in the money. COURONNE may turn in another good effort.

SECOND RACE—DONAU, second to Sun Meddler last week, and closing very fast, looks best. SUN RANGER, better than he has shown, is easily the contender. BRUNO, which won his last race some weeks ago, is tabbed for third money.

THIRD RACE—WANDERING GOLD is in best form, winning his last race from Woolorac, and should take the measure of his field. AMSTERDAM has been running far below expectations and on the supposition that he will come to life some time is rated the contender. JAMES M. won his last and will figure in this race.

FIFTH RACE—PERKINS, much improved this winter and credited with several victories, winning his last start at this track, is picked to win. But he will have to hustle along to catch FEDERAL RESERVE, which also scored over Valley in his last start. PERKINS beat MINERALOGIST in his most recent effort, and MINERALOGIST should be in the money in this race. BELMONA is expected to improve.

SIXTH RACE—DEE JOHN, which was outclassed in his outing Saturday, may come back to score in the sixth, for 3-year-olds at a mile, his best distance. BRANDON DARE should run well again. MADELON has an outside chance.

SEVENTH RACE—Only six 3-year-olds have accepted the issue in the seventh race, and OUTBURST is selected to win. BLUE LAW may get the place. BALTHASAR is rated third, as COCK ROBIN, best of the others, won a hard race yesterday.

AGUA CALIENTE, Baja California, Mexico, March 16.—Sandy Ford, invading thoroughbred from Miami, has arrived at Agua Caliente to make final preparations for the $140,000 Agua Caliente Handicap, March 22.

Willie Shea, of New York, trainer of the "Cyclops" of the equine world, brought him out here in state. Sandy Ford occupied, with one companion, Gold Star, a full express car. Attached behind this car was a private Pullman, in which rode Shea and a party of friends, including John McKenna, former pugilist and foreman of the Shea stable.

The advent of a Miami antagonist for Sun Beau and Mike Hall lends additional interest to the running of the Caliente. In Sandy Ford the Florida turf sends its foremost representative, Sandy Ford having proved his fitness in recent contests by being a three-time winner at Miami. In his final he packed 123 pounds and ran a mile in 1:38 3-5.

Dixie Handicap Proved Ability.

Sandy Ford thundered through the portals of fame last April when he proved the 30 to 1 victor of the Dixie Handicap, Maryland's great early classic for all aged horses, at a mile and three-sixteenths. He mastered a field of fourteen, including Toro, Inception, Dr. Freeland, Hot Toddy, Sir Harry and others of worth. When he won the Seagram Cup at Woodbine and was second in six other stakes in 1930, including the Prince George, at Bowie; the Excelsior at Jamaica, and the Scaradale at Empire City. Late in the fall he finished second to Sun Beau at Toronto.

The one-eyed wonder is a son of Sand Mole, a stallion by Rock Sand and out of Merry Token. His dam, Inquiry, is by Ampelion, out of Scrutiny, the latter by Ballot. He was bred by the Keene's at Keenland Stud in Kentucky, later going to New York where he was obtained by Shea.

Intersectional Flavor Given by Sandy Ford.

In bringing the Dixie winner to Agua Caliente, Shea injects into the fray an intersectional flavor. Miami patrons are prepared to back their satellite against the best the West can muster. One party headed by William Danforth, wealthy New York sportsman, and King Brady, the golf professional, are coming out by air.

Sandy Ford's complete 1930 record is as follows: Starts, 21; first, 6; second, 7; third, 2; total winnings, $37,900.

GUARDSMEN TO TRAVEL.

The 260th Coast Artillery quintet will play the Charlottesville Business big five at Charlottesville Friday night. Players making the trip are Rutz, Monroe, Tegeler, Beckey, Livermore, Gheen, Miller, Koontz, Harvey, Healy, LeMot and Daniels. For games with the Guardsmen call Lieut. Rutz at National 3835.

REFEREES BANQUET.

The 23 members of the District of Columbia Approved Basket Ball Officials Association will hold their annual banquet Monday, April 6, at the Occidental Hotel, starting at 6:30 p. m.

MIAMI HORSE ON SCENE OF BIG RACE

Sandy Ford's Arrival Stirs Interest at Agua Caliente.

AGUA CALIENTE, Baja California, Mexico, March 16.—Sandy Ford, invading thoroughbred from Miami, has arrived at Agua Caliente to make final preparations for the $140,000 Agua Caliente Handicap, March 22.

Willie Shea, of New York, trainer of the "Cyclops" of the equine world, brought him out here in state. Sandy Ford occupied, with one companion, Gold Star, a full express car. Attached behind this car was a private Pullman, in which rode Shea and a party of friends, including John McKenna, former pugilist and foreman of the Shea stable.

The advent of a Miami antagonist for Sun Beau and Mike Hall lends additional interest to the running of the Caliente. In Sandy Ford the Florida turf sends its foremost representative, Sandy Ford having proved his fitness in recent contests by being a three-time winner at Miami. In his final he packed 123 pounds and ran a mile in 1:38 3-5.

STRONG TONE RULES STOCK MART PRICES

Utilities Set New High for 1931 as Rising Trend Predominates.

New York, March 16 (A.P.).—Although the turnover in stocks today was the smallest since early in February—only 2,100,000 shares—the tone was distinctly encouraging to those who had regarded the market as entering a critical stage.

The trend was upheld all day. There were a few interruptions and false starts, especially in the forenoon, when rails looked rather heavy, but the utilities eventually provided decisive leadership and net gains averaged a couple of points. The most active period was the last hour, and final prices, generally speaking, were the day's best.

Off the stock exchange, the most important development was the strength of silver bullion, which advanced 1⅛ cents, to 31⅜ cents an ounce. It was exactly a month ago that the all-time low of 25¾ was reached. The metal has since been climbing almost steadily. With this important commodity on the mend, there are those who hope that the firmer tendencies noted in other staples over the last fortnight will harden into a definite turn, for it is recalled that the first break in silver considerably more than a year ago preceded the weakening of other commodity prices.

Funds Are Abundant.

The $3,000,000,000 turnover in funds attendant upon the Government's quarterly financial operations caused not a ripple. Extensive preparations had been made for today's happenings, and the money markets went placidly about their business, with call funds in abundant supply at the unofficial rate of 1 per cent, despite some withdrawals by banks participating in the overdraft.

Weekly economic reviews appearing over the week-end, although emphasizing the probable irregularity of the business recovery, were in virtual agreement that the bottom of the depression pit had been crossed. An advisory service, which had been bearish for a year and a half, expressed the opinion that the decline had ended and denied others in announcing that the next important move would be upward.

Half a dozen prominent utility stocks made new highs for the year, notably Consolidated Gas, United Corp. United Gas Improvement, Brooklyn Union Gas and Public Service of New Jersey. Gains in the group ran up to 3 points. American Telephone was dull.

Food Shares Strong.

U. S. Steel, American Can, Bethlehem, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Anaconda, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Johns-Manville, General Electric, Westinghouse and National Biscuit closed a point or two higher. Food shares were particularly strong. Ingersoll Rand, Industrial Rayon and Eastman Kodak advanced 4 to 5. International Business Machines and International Match Preferred 3 each and Auburn Auto 9 3-4. St. Louis Southwestern Preferred, an inactive, broke 21 points from the last previous sale, made before the last break in the rails.

Cotton was strong, following the Foreign markets, and closed $1 to $1.20 a bale net higher, wheat was firm, unchanged to half a cent higher at the end of the trading day. Corn advanced a cent.

Exchange rates fluctuated narrowly. The French franc eased to a new 1931 low and the Spanish peseta sagged. Sterling was steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 16 (A.P.).—Grains tightened up today after wheat had again outdone the season's bottom-price record. An early downward swing of wheat and corn was associated with increasing stocks of wheat at Liverpool, on ocean passage and in the United States visible supply. Unfavorable conditions in the Chicago wheat market became apparent, however, and corn displayed independent strength, smaller shipments of corn to Chicago from other terminals being expected.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to ⅝ cents higher, corn ⅛@1½ cents advanced, oats unchanged to ¼ cent up and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20 cents.

Heavy selling put wheat under decided downward pressure early, and much notice was taken of Liverpool advices telling of cheaper Canadian and Argentine offerings. For the first time in a considerable period, Liverpool stocks showed an increase. World shipments were larger than expected, the nearest of wheat afloat for Europe being 56,040,000 bushels against 38,496,000 a year ago. North America, though, furnished less than during the week previous or at this time last year. Furthermore, Kansas City stocks of grain were the largest ever known and elevator space at Duluth was beginning to clog.

Notwithstanding that the United States wheat visible supply showed 1,836,000 bushels increase for the week and totaled almost 200,000,000 bushels against 153,561,000 a year ago, buying for houses that have been conspicuous on the bear side led to price rallies just before the market closed. The visible supply figures had evidently been discounted in advance. Subsequent upturns were in the face of unofficial estimates that United States Government-sponsored agencies had succeeded in disposing of but 460,000 bushels of wheat abroad since February 21, when an export campaign was begun.

Some of the strength displayed by corn was due to persistent buying of corn against sales of wheat. These transactions were ascribed to a leading speculator. Oats sympathized with the corn bulge.

In provisions, scarcity of offerings lifted the market despite setbacks in hog values.

BONDS RISE IN QUIET SESSION ON MARKET

Prices Move Ahead Widely as Foreigns Maintain Advance Leads.

New York, March 16 (A.P.).—Led by foreign issues the bond market moved ahead today although trading was quiet. Sales totaled $8,300,000.

Much of the strength was ascribed to buying by investment trusts. As these organizations are not restricted by law as to the character of their investments, a buying movement by them might have a more general effect than large purchases by savings banks whose investments are regulated strictly. Of course a fundamental bullish influence of the bond market had existed for some months in easy money rates, but advancing tendencies since the crash of 1929 have been interrupted by various unfavorable factors.

Net fractional gains among foreign obligations were common and a few members of this group rose as much as 2 points. Both issues of Brazil 8s, both issues of Australian 8s, Argentine series B 6s, Province of Buenos Aires 6s, and Colombia 6s, of January and of October 1961, on an active demand.

The rise in domestic issues was less apparent than among foreign obligations. International Match 5s closed at a new 1931 high at 98 after heavy trading. The rise in these bonds followed strength in the company's stock. Alleghany 5s, Loews 6s and General Theaters 6s, were other convertible bonds to appreciate.

Railroad obligations reversed their trend of last week. St. Louis, San Francisco 4½s, one of the most vulnerable bonds a few days ago, reflected steady buying. Erie & Jersey 6s, Denver & Rio Grande Consolidated 4s, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy 5s, of 1971, and Chicago & Northwestern series A 4½s, made good gains.

New issues appearing tomorrow include an $8,000,000 flock of Alabama Power Company First Mortgage 4½s, due December 1, 1967, at 98½.

NEW HOME OPENED BY BUILDING GROUP

American Association Holds Formal House Warming in Southeast Area.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The handsome new home of the American Building Association at 300 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, was formally opened for public inspection yesterday. All day officers of the association received congratulations from many visitors in the flower-banked lobby of this two-story stone building, design of which was approved by the Commission of Fine Arts. A picture of President Whithaft, the association's original chief executive, was hung in a conspicuous place. The building will also be open for inspection today.

Fifty-seven years old, the association was organized August 6, 1874, at Whithaft's Hall, not far from its new building. Several substantial, German-American citizens founded the association, and its early home was a one-story brick building at Third and B streets southeast. In 1909 the association expanded into a three-story brick building at 300 B street southeast, from which it will move tomorrow into the new structure, construction of which was begun in 1929.

The association, under supervision of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, is the second largest in the city. Its membership and assets have grown from 25 and $10,000, respectively, to 8,000 and $8,164,000.

Western Electric Co.

Sales of the Western Electric Co. for 1930 were $361,478,000, according to the company's annual report to stockholders. This was 12 per cent less than the record figure of 1929, but considerably greater than 1928 or any previous year in the company's history.

As the result of the change from an expanding to a contracting volume of business, earnings declined from $31,556,000 in 1929 to $20,298,000, and this amount fell short of meeting interest payments and dividends by $7,625,000. The company, whose principal customers are the telephone companies of the Bell System, made its sales at the lowest rate of net profit in more than ten years. This rate was 3.4 per cent on sales.

This company, which has a warehouse and repair shop at 1111 North Capitol street and 200 local employes, manufactures supplies for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. and other Bell System companies.

Address on Insurance.

Leon Gilbert Simon, agent of the Equitable Life of New York and president of the New York City Life Underwriters Association, will address the March meeting of the District of Columbia Life Underwriters Association Thursday at a luncheon meeting at Hay-Adams House. The subject of Mr. Simon, who is author of "Business Insurance" and "Inheritance Taxation," will be "Life Insurance as It Relates to Business."

E. A. Pierce & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, announce the opening of a woman's board room in their office in the Transportation Building. This added service for customers of the Pierce firm will be under the direction of Mrs. Ambler H. Cardwell, widow of Capt. Samuel Creed Cardwell. Mrs. Cardwell has had wide experience in the local brokerage and investment field. She is well known in Army and Navy circles, having served as postmaster at Fort Monroe during the World War.

An interesting article on the new form veterans' note, written by E. E. Mountjoy, of this city, deputy manager, national bank division, American Bankers Association, appears in the March number of the association's journal.

A. Preston Osteen has been appointed representative in Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia of Ross Beason & Co., Inc., Eastern wholesale syndicate managers for Corporate Trust Shares.

Gas Concern Tests Many House Jets

Firm Makes 2,306 Calls With 572 Special Visits During Week.

Some observations of the work of the Washington Gas Light Co., in adjusting gas appliances while making a house-to-house canvass were transmitted to Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, yesterday by Edwin A. Potter, chemical engineer of the commission's staff.

Declaring that he noted adjustments in the area of Newton and Monroe streets, Park road and Sixteenth and Eighteenth streets, he said that all burners in water heaters had been found using too much gas. The excess varied, he said, as high as 78 per cent from the rated capacity.

The company made 2,306 regular service and 572 special calls during the week ending February 13, he reported, in the area between Sixteenth street and Rock Creek Park. Checks on the pressure in this district revealed no instances in excess of the 8-inch maximum permitted by the commission.

Six American States Favored by Russians

New York, March 16 (A.P.).—The bulk of the $150,000,000 worth of goods the Soviet government purchased in the United States in the fiscal year of 1930 was obtained in six States, the Amtorg Trading Corporation revealed today.

Illinois led the list with $38,000,000 distributed among approximately 150 firms, Amtorg said. Others in order were: Michigan, $14,000,000; New York, $13,100; Ohio, $10,500,000; Wisconsin, $9,000,000, and California, $8,100,000. The purchases cover the fiscal year ended September 30, 1930.

Autopsy Will Be Held For Man Found Dead

An autopsy will be conducted to determine the cause of the death of Jerome F. Davis, 67, of 3007 Cambridge place northwest, who was found dead yesterday morning in a garage at Twenty-ninth street and the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt announced last night.

Davis, it was learned from his son, Walter E. Davis, a policeman at the Traffic Bureau, was taken suddenly ill in a lunchroom on M street northwest Sunday evening and was placed in the garage for comfort. He was found there dead yesterday morning by L. E. Torryson, who has a blacksmith business near the garage.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE, BEING A TWO-STORY STONE AND STUCCO DWELLING, CONTAINING EIGHT ROOMS, BATH AND LAVATORY KNOWN AS 1808 IRVING STREET NORTHWEST.

By virtue of a certain deed of trust recorded in Liber No. 5149, folio 335, of the Land Records of the District of Columbia, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned will sell at public auction, in front of the premises, on THURSDAY, THE NINETEENTH DAY OF MARCH, 1931, AT THREE-THIRTY O'CLOCK P. M., the following described land and premises situate in the District of Columbia, and being lot numbered forty-two (42) in Jacob B. Shapiro's subdivision in square numbered twenty-five hundred eighty-eight (2588), as per plat recorded in the Office of the Surveyor for the District of Columbia in Liber 86, at folio 37, upon the following terms:

TERMS OF SALE: Said property is subject to a deed of trust securing an indebtedness of $8,750.00 and said property will be sold subject to said deed of trust indebtedness. All cash over and above said deed of trust. Interest and taxes to be paid or adjusted to date of sale. A deposit of $250.00 will be required at the time of sale. All conveyancing, recording, &c., at the cost of purchaser. Good title or no sale. Terms of sale to be complied with within fifteen (15) days from date of sale, otherwise deposit will be forfeited and property resold at risk and cost of defaulting purchaser after five (5) days advertisement of such resale in some newspaper published in Washington, D. C.

"LET'S FIRE SOME CUSTOMERS"

The sales manager jumped to his feet.

"Wait a minute, gentlemen. I have a better recommendation than that. LET'S FIRE SOME CUSTOMERS. And let's tell our prospective customers that we don't want their business—"

"Do what?" interrupted the chairman. "Why, what do you mean?"

"That's just what we are doing," was the answer, "WHEN WE DECREASE OR CUT OUR ADVERTISING. We fire our greatest asset: our customers. When we quit telling them about the goods we have to sell, they'll go elsewhere to buy products that they read about. Every year our business has grown, because our number of customers has increased.

"Instead of being in favor of fewer customers, I want to see more. I move the original full amount recommended by the advertising manager be approved."

Startled at the realization of what they might have done, the group, without further discussion, passed the motion.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Can any business grow and prosper without customers? Without, in fact, a constantly growing number of customers?

Obviously, no!

Certainly this is no time to discharge customers, to send them to buy the goods of your competitor. Instead, isn't it a period when you must hold all your regular customers, and invite and attract new ones?

FORTUNATE, indeed, are merchants and manufacturers selling in the Washington Market Area. Here is a major metropolitan market that has known no appreciable "depression." A greater number of potential customers than ever before. With the aggregate buying power, if anything, on the ascent.

The WASHINGTON POST can cite any number of its advertisers who are showing material increases in the number of customers for their goods . . . with decided increases, too, in sales volumes. They are merchants and manufacturers who realize that success lies in "hiring" and not in "firing" customers. And the POST, so experience has taught them, reaches just the type of reader-customers these advertisers are anxious to put on their patron payrolls.
